Plans For Economic Relief Snagging Budget Approval

CHARLESTON (AP) — The biggest differences to be ironed out between Senate and House versions of the state budget for the next fiscal year are in proposed spending for economic relief.

The Senate would spend $4,350,000 for this purpose, while the House bill calls for $4,575,000. More troublesome than the $225,000 difference in the totals for economic relief is the considerable variance between the two bills as to how the money would be spent.

The House had its budget bill, amounting to $119,023,000 over-all, at amendment stage today along with the $118,163,000 measure which the Senate passed yesterday, 30-0.

Today the House was expected to substitute its own bill for the Senate version, then pass the amended bill and send it back to the Senate. When each chamber has refused to yield to the other's position, the disagreement will be put in the hands of a joint conference committee.

It will try to work out a compromise in time for approval on the Senate and House floors before midnight Thursday, constitutional deadline for adjournment of the 30-day legislative session.

Within the House bill's $4,575,000 total for economic relief, the largest item is $2,000,000 to provide food, clothing and medicine for some of the state's most needy unemployed. It would go to jobless persons who are classed as employable and are therefore not eligible for grants under the state's regular public assistance program. There is nothing in the Senate bill for this purpose.

The House bill would make available $1,750,000, compared with $3,400,000 in the Senate version, for public works projects in state parks and forests to provide $1-an-hour temporary jobs for the unemployed.

While the House bill would permit use of the money for new construction, the larger Senate total would be restricted to repairs and improvements to existing park and forest facilities.

Area vocational education programs to retrain the unemployed for new jobs would get $400,000 under the House bill and $500,000 under the Senate measure.

Under the Senate bill, $300,000 would go to the Agriculture Department for development of farm markets and oak wilt control work on which the jobless could be employed. The House bill earmarks $275,000 for these programs and for possible development of a home gardening program for the unemployed.

Remaining economic relief items in the two bills are the same — $50,000 for watershed improvement work and $100,000 to cover added administrative costs which the Department of Public Assistance would incur under the relief program.

In other major respects, the two budget bills are very similar. Each would raise the outlay for West Virginia University and the 10 state colleges by about $2,100,000 above the current year's appropriations. This would provide 10-per-cent salary increases for teaching and administrative personnel and higher budgets for current expenses and repairs.

A bill to repeal the soft drinks tax from some — but by no means all — of the home-mix products to which it was extended two years ago was passed 31-0 by the Senate yesterday and sent to Gov. Underwood. It had been passed by the House earlier.

Underwood Extends Legislature Session

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Underwood issued today a routine proclamation extending the current legislative session for as long as Feb. 15 to permit consideration of the budget bill.

The extension is required by the state constitution if the budget bill has not been passed finally three days before the scheduled end of a session.

Election Year Challenge

Ike Asks New Farm Plan To Solve Wheat Surplus

Suggests 3 Guidelines In Program

Says He'd Go Along With Anything He Thinks Constructive

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower presented the Democratic-controlled Congress today with an election year challenge to come up with something better than his plan to lower price supports and relax controls to solve the wheat surplus problem.

In a special message, he renewed his arguments for the administration formula.

But he said he will go along with anything constructive which Congress works out if it falls within three guidelines.

This was a break with the administration's past position. It has insisted that the wheat surplus problem be met by lowering price supports and eliminating controls. This approach is designed to discourage high-cost producers and to encourage greater use of the grain as a livestock feed.

This change in tone came after Republican leaders in Congress—presumably including Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the potential Republican presidential nominee—had urged that the administration back up from its insistence upon lower supports.

The three guidelines for meeting the wheat situation—which the President described as particularly acute—include:

1. That price-support levels be realistically related to whatever policy Congress chooses in respect to production control. Eisenhower said it must be recognized that the higher the support the more the farmer must be regimented.

2. That price support levels not be so high as to stimulate still more excessive production, reduce domestic markets, and increase the subsidies required to hold world markets.

3. That direct subsidy programs for crops in surplus be avoided; likewise that the chosen programs not invite harmful counter measures by friends or badly hurt other farmers in seeking to aid one group.

"Within these three guidelines, I am constantly ready to approve any one or a combination of any constructive proposals," Eisenhower said. "I will approve legislation which will eliminate production controls, or make them really effective, or allow the farmers themselves to choose between realistic alternatives.

"I am willing to give supports to market prices of previous years, or to establish supports in accordance with general rather than specific provisions of law, or to relate price supports to parity."

AS FLOOD HIT CALIFORNIA. Ed Schultz of Kentfield, Calif., waded to his mail box and found the water cold and muddy as torrential rains caused waters to rise over five feet Monday. 'Giant' Ballot Problem Bars Early Printing

Secretary Of State To Change Format Of Democrat Ticket

Because present specifications call for a May 3 Democratic ballot 35 inches long — far larger than the standard newspaper page—and Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is working on a revision of the format to a size more suitable for a job printer's presses, the Columbiana County Election Board decided Monday night to delay scheduled action on awarding a printing contract.

The board will meet again Friday night at its office in East Liverpool, expecting by that time Brown may have shortened the length of the unwieldy Democratic ballot by adding a column to its width.

As it stands, the Democratic ticket would be about 14 inches longer than a standard newspaper page, a job few printers could turn out, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, explained.

Two bids were received on the ballot printing job, but the board left both unopened pending its meeting Friday. The offers were submitted by the Wilson Printing House of Market St. and the Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem.

The large number of candidates for delegates and alternates to the Democratic National Convention accounts for the unusual size of the party ticket, O'Hanlon said. The party will elect 36 delegates and 36 alternates on a statewide

Deacon Jailed After Plot To Kill Minister

ATLANTA (AP) — A Baptist deacon who planted a bomb in his minister's car says he did so because he and the preacher's wife were lovers. They sometimes used a church annex for their trysts, he said.

Events leading up to the bombing attempt—the dynamite never exploded—were unfolded by William Columbus Johnson, 33, in a written statement released by police Monday.

Johnson is a deacon in the Rev. J. T. Robinson's church in the little industrial town of Milstead, near Atlanta.

"Velma Robinson stated the world was getting more complicated every day, that the wrong people were married to each other," the Johnson's statement said. "She led me to believe that if her husband was out of the way, she would marry me."

Subpoenas were issued ordering the Robinsons to appear before a grand jury to tell their stories. Both are about 36.

Johnson, charged with attempted murder, is in jail under $5,000 bond.

Robinson discovered the bomb in his car a week ago after leaving a church meeting in Atlanta.

Johnson is married and has a 13-year-old son. The Robinsons have three children.

Corak's Post Up In Air As Session Ends

The Pennsylvania State Senate at Harrisburg Monday failed to act on the appointment of Burgess Eli G. Corak of Midland as a referee of the Pennsylvania State Workmen's Compensation.

The Senate also failed to act on several other appointments and no further action is contemplated until June when the legislators reconvene.

Since Corak has not been confirmed, the work will be done by others in the office or left to pile up, according to Beaver County officials.

Corak was named to the $7,500-a-year post by Gov. David L. Lawrence last week. The appointment was announced by George Werner, former Beaver County commissioner and Democratic county chairman.

In the job, Corak was to have worked under the supervision of the Department of Labor and Industry and hear cases of injured workmen who claim compensation from state insurance funds.

Corak, Democratic party chairman of Midland, said at the time of his appointment he would quit his job with the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. but planned to remain as burgess.

He was to have filled the vacancy created by the election of James Ross to county commissioner.

Youth Admits Tavern Entry

Monaca Defendant Held To Grand Jury

A 20-year-old Monaca man was bound to the Beaver County Grand Jury on charges of burglarizing and breaking and entering a tavern near Ohio View at a preliminary hearing Monday night before a Beaver County squire.

Leslie Ralph Turner pleaded guilty and is being held today at the Beaver County Jail.

Turner is accused of burglarizing Mickey's Tavern Sunday night about 9. Chief John Hineman of Industry Township said he received a call shortly before 9 that a car was illegally parked at the tavern.

When he went to investigate, he discovered that a window had been broken. Turner still was inside at the time and jumped through a rear window and escaped, Hineman said.

He said a check was then made of the car and Turner was traced through the registration. He was picked up at his home Monday morning.

Hineman said Turner was taken to Beaver County Jail, where he was questioned all day. He finally admitted the burglary late last night.

Hineman said Turner revealed he had hidden the loot in a leather glove beneath a trash incinerator at the rear of his home. The glove contained $19.51 in change which was taken from a pinball machine, cigarette machine and juke box at the tavern.

Turner, who has been married just two months, has a previous record, police said.

India Leaders Await Arrival Of Red Chief

Think He's The One To Sway Red China In Border Dispute

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian officials eagerly await the arrival Thursday of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. They consider him the only person who might induce Red China to retreat in the bitter dispute over the border between India and Tibet.

India's leaders attach about the same importance to Khrushchev's four-day visit as that given to President Eisenhower's visit last December.

Eisenhower's coming was regarded by many as a veiled warning to Peiping against using force to seize 50,000 square miles of border territory claimed by both India and Communist China. The President did not disappoint his Indian listeners when he told parliament that the United States is ready to come to the aid of its friends in the event of aggression.

Khrushchev is viewed more as an "honest broker" — one who might use his top Communist position to persuade Red China to ease its claims.

Indian leaders, from Prime Minister Nehru down, have been encouraged by Khrushchev's refusal to take sides in the dispute. But there has been concern over the Communist chief's description of the dispute as a misunderstanding.

"Misunderstanding is precisely what it is not," declared the influential Hindustan Times in a recent editorial.

The newspaper pointed out that India has explained its position in scores of notes and letters over the past five years—that the disputed territory is India's legally and historically.

Khrushchev Again Urges German Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev brushed aside protocol at an Italian diplomatic reception Monday night to make another public demand for a peace treaty with Germany and an end to the occupation of West Berlin.

Visiting Italian leaders, drawn into an impromptu debate with the unpredictable Khrushchev, reiterated the Western position that Soviet terms are unacceptable.

Irregularities Hinted In U.S. Road Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hints of far-reaching irregularities today preceded opening of a House investigation of spending and planning on the multibillion-dollar 41,000-mile interstate highway system.

A House Public Works subcommittee summoned defense and public roads officials for the lead-off phase of the inquiry dealing with inadequacies in defense aspects of the superhighway network.

The hints of irregularities came from Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex), a committee member.

West Point Classes Halted By Pump Break

Some 135 students of the West Point School were excused from classes today while repairs are being made to a pump at the school.

Trouble developed in the supply from the newer of the two wells at the school, and school officials were unwilling to utilize the water from the older well because it has not been tested recently.

George VanHorne, executive head, said tests of the water are being taken today by a chemist, and if the water proves safe, classes will resume Wednesday.

The Horton Pump Co. of Columbiana is taking the pump from the other well, which may have a partial cave-in, VanHorne said.

Beaver Registration Slash Leaves 82,489

The Beaver County Board of Elections Monday announced that the annual revision of the rolls has been completed and that the new registration figure is 82,489. This is a decline of 4,930 from the September registration of 87,419.

The board withdrew all names of those who have died or failed to vote in the past two years. The new total includes 43,656 Democrats, 38,175 Republicans and 658 other parties.

Steel Union Rejects Timken's New Offer

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union has rejected a new contract proposal from the Timken Roller Bearing Co. The company said the plan would increase wage and other benefits an average of 40 cents an hour for 9,500 production and maintenance workers.

3 Lose Lives As Storm Hits In California

Winds, Rain, Snow Bring Flood, Force 1,000 From Homes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Howling winds slammed sheets of rain and snow across Northern California Monday, killing at least three persons and forcing 1,000 others from their homes.

Another storm was reported on the way.

In the Sierra Nevada, a storm disrupted preparations for the Winter Olympics at Squaw Valley, 200 miles east of here.

The storm flooded highways, knocked over power lines, ripped trees from the ground, closed rural schools, and left six to seven feet of water in small Eel River Canyon lumber towns.

The Eel River Canyon, near Eureka and 350 miles north of San Francisco, was hardest hit by the storms. More than 750 residents left the tiny lumber and resort communities of Weott, Pepperwood and Myers Flat and fled to higher ground.

Stormy weather, with snow and strong winds, also hit other parts of the West.

Snow, with gusty northerly winds, was general in the northern and central Rockies and in parts of the plateau region.

Winds up to 69 miles an hour lashed Evanston and Rawlins, Wyo.

More than a foot of snow fell in Hailey, in south - central Idaho, while falls measured a half foot in the mountains near Salt Lake City. Winds up to 50 miles an hour swept the Salt Lake City area.

Heaviest snow amounts during the night were in Wyoming. The snow belt extended eastward into South Dakota, with snow flurries from the northern and eastern Great Lakes region into the central and northern Appalachians.

It was below zero in sections of North Dakota as the arctic air mass moved across the North Dakota-Minnesota borders.

On Berlin Showdown

Herter Appears Less Optimistic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter apparently is less optimistic than he was a few months ago about avoiding a new showdown with the Soviet Union over Berlin.

But he doubts that Premier Nikita Khrushchev will confront the Western powers with an ultimatum in this dispute in the summit conference in Paris in May.

He foresaw the need for further negotiations and perhaps a second summit conference to settle the dispute.

Herter's views of the critical Berlin dispute came out Monday in a news conference at which he also:

1. Discussed the possibility that Khrushchev may be building a tougher, more aggressive foreign policy on the Soviet Union's growing power in nuclear missiles.

2. Conceded that Soviet achievements in space have made a greater impact on world opinion than those of the United States, increasing Soviet prestige as a scientific and military power.

Herter was reminded at his news conference that last November he had said that the Soviets had come a very long way on the Berlin issue since November 1958. At that time they threatened to try to squeeze the Western powers out of the city unless West Berlin was made a free city in six months.

He was asked whether he felt that recent statements by Khrushchev on the Berlin issue meant that his position had become tougher since his September talks with President Eisenhower at Camp David.

"Yes," Herter replied, "I think that is the only way one can interpret the statements that have been made since that time."

Herter cited specifically a Soviet bloc declaration last week that unless the Western powers agreed to a German peace treaty the Communist countries would make a separate peace treaty with East Germany, covering the Berlin problem. Khrushchev had made similar statements recently.

However, Herter said that as far as the United States knows Khrushchev is still standing by the letter of his agreement at Camp David not to impose a deadline on negotations with the West over Berlin.

Took Money As Consultants

2 Former Cleveland 'DJs' Called In Payola Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators summoned two Cleveland ex-disc jockeys and Boston orchestra leader Lester Lanin today in a search for evidence of under-the-table payola.

Both of the former disc jockeys —Joseph Finan and Wesley Hopkins—already have told reporters they were unjustly fired by radio-television station KYW in Cleveland.

They accepted money, they said, but only as consultants to record firms—never to play specific records for fees, the definition of payola in the trade.

The House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee also plans to question Charles Young, former record librarian at KYW, and Bill Gibbons, who had the same job with radio-television station WBZ in Boston.

Monday's testimony was confined to the activities of David Maynard and Alan Dary, WBZ disc jockeys.

Both of them still work there, having convinced their employers the cash and gifts they accepted were not payola.

Maynard conceded that record distributors had given him $6,817.16 in cash and automobile payments in the last two years.

Dary smilingly testified that a sponsor and record firms had given him $400 to $500, one and $650 worth of carpeting for his master bedroom.

Both said these gifts were not payola, and that they never accepted anything to play particular records on the air.

Parking Plan Will Resume At Salineville

Council Takes Step To Ease Congestion On W. Main Section

SALINEVILLE — One-side parking in the W. Main St. business section — tried briefly about two years ago — was resumed today as a result of action at a meeting of Council Monday night.

In a move to reduce traffic congestion in the area betwen Line St. and the High Bridge, Council authorized parking on the north side of the area, placing a ban on parking on the south side.

Signs were to be erected today, reminding motorists of the ban. Council also ordered enforcement of a two-hour parking restriction along the street in the business area, including the new banned district, as a result of complaints from merchants and shoppers.

In other action, Council turned down a previous request for a pay increase from village employes because of financial limitations. The Board of Public Affairs, meeting last night, took no action on the pay request, and the Woodland Cemetery Trustees said a pay hike could not be granted.

Council reduced the work schedule of street employes from 44 hours to 40 hours a week in an economy move.

In other action, Council requested its health committee to plan a program to obtain an additional physician for the town. At present the community has Dr. J. M. Nedelkoff along with Dr. C. A. McCullough, who winters in Florida.

Council formally asked the Board of Public Affairs to investigate the costs of installing and maintaining water softener equipment.

The possibility of extending the village limits to nearby residential areas was discussed briefly.

Council ordered prepared for the next meeting an ordinance establishing the post of deputy marshal. Also slated for the next meeting Feb. 29 is discussion of establishing a village dog license program to defray costs of a part-time warden and pound.

Council approved an amendment to the building code placing movable structures and trailers under the jurisdiction of the building committee.

Plans For Economic Relief Snagging Budget Approval

CHARLESTON (AP) — The biggest differences to be ironed out between Senate and House versions of the state budget for the next fiscal year are in proposed spending for economic relief.

The Senate would spend $4,350,000 for this purpose, while the House bill calls for $4,575,000. More troublesome than the $225,000 difference in the totals for economic relief is the considerable variance between the two bills as to how the money would be spent.

The House had its budget bill, amounting to $119,023,000 over-all, at amendment stage today along with the $118,163,000 measure which the Senate passed yesterday, 30-0.

Today the House was expected to substitute its own bill for the Senate version, then pass the amended bill and send it back to the Senate. When each chamber has refused to yield to the other's position, the disagreement will be put in the hands of a joint conference committee.

It will try to work out a compromise in time for approval on the Senate and House floors before midnight Thursday, constitutional deadline for adjournment of the 30-day legislative session.

Within the House bill's $4,575,000 total for economic relief, the largest item is $2,000,000 to provide food, clothing and medicine for some of the state's most needy unemployed. It would go to jobless persons who are classed as employable and are therefore not eligible for grants under the state's regular public assistance program. The House bill would make available $1,750,000, compared with $3,400,000 in the Senate version, for public works projects in state parks and forests to provide $1-an-hour temporary jobs for the unemployed.

While the House bill would permit use of the money for new construction, the larger Senate total would be restricted to repairs and improvements to existing park and forest facilities.

Area vocational education programs to retrain the unemployed for new jobs would get $400,000 under the House bill and $500,000 under the Senate measure.

Under the Senate bill, $300,000 would go to the Agriculture Department for development of farm markets and oak wilt control work on which the jobless could be employed. The House bill earmarks $275,000 for these programs and for possible development of a home gardening program for the unemployed.

Remaining economic relief items in the two bills are the same — $50,000 for watershed improvement work and $100,000 to cover added administrative costs which the Department of Public Assistance would incur under the relief program.

In other major respects, the two budget bills are very similar. Each would raise the outlay for West Virginia University and the 10 state colleges by about $2,100,000 above the current year's appropriations. This would provide 10-per-cent salary increases for teaching and administrative personnel and higher budgets for current expenses and repairs.

A bill to repeal the soft drinks tax from some — but by no means all — of the home-mix products to which it was extended two years ago was passed 31-0 by the Senate yesterday and sent to Gov. Underwood. It had been passed by the House earlier.

Underwood Extends Legislature Session

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. Underwood issued today a routine proclamation extending the current legislative session for as long as Feb. 15 to permit consideration of the budget bill.

The extension is required by the state constitution if the budget bill has not been passed finally three days before the scheduled end of a session.

Deacon Jailed After Plot To Kill Minister

ATLANTA (AP) — A Baptist deacon who planted a bomb in his minister's car says he did so because he and the preacher's wife were lovers. They sometimes used a church annex for their trysts, he said.

Events leading up to the bombing attempt—the dynamite never exploded—were unfolded by William Columbus Johnson, 33, in a written statement released by police Monday.

Johnson is a deacon in the Rev. J. T. Robinson's church in the little industrial town of Milstead, near Atlanta.

"Velma Robinson stated the world was getting more complicated every day, that the wrong people were married to each other," the Johnson's statement said. "She led me to believe that if her husband was out of the way, she would marry me."

Subpoenas were issued ordering the Robinsons to appear before a grand jury to tell their stories. Both are about 36.

Johnson, charged with attempted murder, is in jail under $5,000 bond.

Robinson discovered the bomb in his car a week ago after leaving a church meeting in Atlanta.

Johnson is married and has a 13-year-old son. The Robinsons have three children.

Corak's Post Up In Air As Session Ends

The Pennsylvania State Senate at Harrisburg Monday failed to act on the appointment of Burgess Eli G. Corak of Midland as a referee of the Pennsylvania State Workmen's Compensation.

The Senate also failed to act on several other appointments and no further action is contemplated until June when the legislators reconvene.

Since Corak has not been confirmed, the work will be done by others in the office or left to pile up, according to Beaver County officials.

Corak was named to the $7,500-a-year post by Gov. David L. Lawrence last week. The appointment was announced by George Werner, former Beaver County commissioner and Democratic county chairman.

In the job, Corak was to have worked under the supervision of the Department of Labor and Industry and hear cases of injured workmen who claim compensation from state insurance funds.

Corak, Democratic party chairman of Midland, said at the time of his appointment he would quit his job with the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. but planned to remain as burgess.

He was to have filled the vacancy created by the election of James Ross to county commissioner.

Monaca Defendant Held To Grand Jury

A 20-year-old Monaca man was bound to the Beaver County Grand Jury on charges of burglarizing and breaking and entering a tavern near Ohio View at a preliminary hearing Monday night before a Beaver County squire.

Leslie Ralph Turner pleaded guilty and is being held today at the Beaver County Jail.

Turner is accused of burglarizing Mickey's Tavern Sunday night about 9. Chief John Hineman of Industry Township said he received a call shortly before 9 that a car was illegally parked at the tavern.

When he went to investigate, he discovered that a window had been broken. Turner still was inside at the time and jumped through a rear window and escaped, Hineman said.

He said a check was then made of the car and Turner was traced through the registration. He was picked up at his home Monday morning.

Hineman said Turner was taken to Beaver County Jail, where he was questioned all day. He finally admitted the burglary late last night.

Hineman said Turner revealed he had hidden the loot in a leather glove beneath a trash incinerator at the rear of his home. The glove contained $19.51 in change which was taken from a pinball machine, cigarette machine and juke box at the tavern.

Turner, who has been married just two months, has a previous record, police said.

India Leaders Await Arrival Of Red Chief

Think He's The One To Sway Red China In Border Dispute

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Indian officials eagerly await the arrival Thursday of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. They consider him the only person who might induce Red China to retreat in the bitter dispute over the border between India and Tibet.

India's leaders attach about the same importance to Khrushchev's four-day visit as that given to President Eisenhower's visit last December.

Eisenhower's coming was regarded by many as a veiled warning to Peiping against using force to seize 50,000 square miles of border territory claimed by both India and Communist China. The President did not disappoint his Indian listeners when he told parliament that the United States is ready to come to the aid of its friends in the event of aggression.

Khrushchev is viewed more as an "honest broker" — one who might use his top Communist position to persuade Red China to ease its claims.

Indian leaders, from Prime Minister Nehru down, have been encouraged by Khrushchev's refusal to take sides in the dispute. But there has been concern over the Communist chief's description of the dispute as a misunderstanding.

"Misunderstanding is precisely what it is not," declared the influential Hindustan Times in a recent editorial.

The newspaper pointed out that India has explained its position in scores of notes and letters over the past five years—that the disputed territory is India's legally and historically.

Khrushchev Again Urges German Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev brushed aside protocol at an Italian diplomatic reception Monday night to make another public demand for a peace treaty with Germany and an end to the occupation of West Berlin.

Visiting Italian leaders, drawn into an impromptu debate with the unpredictable Khrushchev, reiterated the Western position that Soviet terms are unacceptable.

Irregularities Hinted In U.S. Road Planning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hints of far-reaching irregularities today preceded opening of a House investigation of spending and planning on the multibillion-dollar 41,000-mile interstate highway system.

A House Public Works subcommittee summoned defense and public roads officials for the lead-off phase of the inquiry dealing with inadequacies in defense aspects of the superhighway network.

The hints of irregularities came from Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex), a committee member.

West Point Classes Halted By Pump Break

Some 135 students of the West Point School were excused from classes today while repairs are being made to a pump at the school.

Trouble developed in the supply from the newer of the two wells at the school, and school officials were unwilling to utilize the water from the older well because it has not been tested recently.

George VanHorne, executive head, said tests of the water are being taken today by a chemist, and if the water proves safe, classes will resume Wednesday.

The Horton Pump Co. of Columbiana is taking the pump from the other well, which may have a partial cave-in, VanHorne said.

Beaver Registration Slash Leaves 82,489

The Beaver County Board of Elections Monday announced that the annual revision of the rolls has been completed and that the new registration figure is 82,489. This is a decline of 4,930 from the September registration of 87,419.

The board withdrew all names of those who have died or failed to vote in the past two years. The new total includes 43,656 Democrats, 38,175 Republicans and 658 other parties.

Steel Union Rejects Timken's New Offer

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union has rejected a new contract proposal from the Timken Roller Bearing Co. The company said the plan would increase wage and other benefits an average of 40 cents an hour for 9,500 production and maintenance workers.

Took Money As Consultants

2 Former Cleveland 'DJs' Called In Payola Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators summoned two Cleveland ex-disc jockeys and Boston orchestra leader Lester Lanin today in a search for evidence of under-the-table payola.

Both of the former disc jockeys —Joseph Finan and Wesley Hopkins—already have told reporters they were unjustly fired by radio-television station KYW in Cleveland.

They accepted money, they said, but only as consultants to record firms—never to play specific records for fees, the definition of payola in the trade.

The House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee also plans to question Charles Young, former record librarian at KYW, and Bill Gibbons, who had the same job with radio-television station WBZ in Boston.

Monday's testimony was confined to the activities of David Maynard and Alan Dary, WBZ disc jockeys.

Both of them still work there, having convinced their employers the cash and gifts they accepted were not payola.

Maynard conceded that record distributors had given him $6,817.16 in cash and automobile payments in the last two years.

Dary smilingly testified that a sponsor and record firms had given him $400 to $500, [illegible]e and $650 worth of carpeting for his master bedroom.

Both said these gifts were not payola, and that they never accepted anything to play particular records on the air.

At Meeting Of Wellsville Board

Stadium Dressing Room Needs Receive Attention

Following a lengthy discussion, the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night decided to have Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, present sketches and cost estimates on new dressing rooms at Nicholson Stadium.

The present facilities are located under the center section of the stadium, which leaks water and has been closed off to crowds because of the deteriorated condition.

THE TWO center sections were closed two years ago after testing engineers refused to give written reports that the sections would support the weight of a crowd. When it rains, water leaks through the concrete and into the dressing rooms. In the past other schools have complained of the condition that exists, board members pointed out.

Earl Bake, president, reported he had met with the representative of a Chicago firm which suggested sealing the section with two inches of asphaltic concrete. Russell Dysert, member, pointed out the Pittsburgh Testing Co. was concerned about whether the section would support any added weight and that applying a seal would be doing just that.

Bake said it would have to be supported from underneath. Various other methods of making repairs were discussed. Raymond Rolley, clerk, pointed out that only $20,000 had been appropriated for such projects this year and that $10,500 already has been spent, with an estimated $4,500 more figured for a new furnace at Garfield School.

Dave Brookman, another board member, said he objected to putting thousands of dollars into the section for six home games a year. Dysert commented that he feels the board should consider repairs to the basketball floor at Beacom Memorial gym.

BROOKMAN suggested that the center section of the stadium be supported so that it is safe and that the dressing rooms then be moved to either end of the stadium. "If we try to seal the section and support it, we still have as much money in it and might have to do the job again in three or four years," he said.

The board then informally agreed to obtain estimates for moving the dressing rooms.

Supt. S. E. Daw reported he plans to start evening classes for adults early next month. He said he will set up a schedule.

Daw was granted a leave of absence to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention at Atlantic City. It will run Thursday through Feb. 18, but Daw only will attend from Saturday through Feb. 17. He will travel by plane from Pittsburgh.

Edward J. Prucknic of Wimber, Pa., was hired as a high school commercial instructor. He replaces William Bartley, who has entered the Army. Prucknic is a graduate of Indiana (Pa.) State, with a bachelor's degree.

The board voted to purchase a snare drum for the high school orchestra. It will cost about $60.

The board received a letter from Mrs. Margaret Robinette, sixth-grade instructor, at Garfield, thanking members for having new lights installed in the classrooms. She said "the students have shown a marked improvement in reading and writing since they were put in."

Rolley was authorized to borrow $35,000 to pay bills and meet the payroll until the state foundation check is received.

Board Clears Weirton Band Trip For Fete

The Weir High School Band of Weirton was granted permission to attend the Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival in April when the Hancock County Board of Education met Monday night in New Cumberland.

The request for the band to participate in the Winchester (Va.) fete April 28-29 was one of 10 requests approved by the board.

Appearance of the Weir band at the West Virginia Secondary School Activities Commission Area Musical Festival May 6-7 in Clarksburg also was approved.

On a request by Principal R. M. McFarland, John Clovis, band director of Chester High School, was given permission to attend a conference of the West Virginia Music Association Feb. 18-20 in Morgantown. Miss Helen Stobinsky, band director of New Cumberland High, also was granted permission to attend the conference.

The board approved a request by McFarland for Dom Amedeo and Max Tuttle, coaches, to attend the state basketball tournament and a coaches' meeting March 18-19 at Morgantown.

About 36 students were given permission to be absent from classes March 15 to participate in a 4-H clothing school in the Weirton Community Center. The request was made by Miss Helen Petrakis, county 4-H Club agent.

Use of the auditorium in New Cumberland High was granted the Young Women's Club for a minstrel show April 28-29.

Mrs. John Clovis was granted use of the Chester High School auditorium March 14-15 for a piano recital by students.

Miss June Zakutansky of Weir High was given permission to attend an American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation convention in Myler Beach, Fla., April 25-29.

Mrs. Audrey Littman, elementary supervisor, and one other teacher were given permission to attend a national supervisors meeting March 6-10 in Washington.

The board voted for Supt. Robert H. Hall and board members to attend the American Association of School Administrators meeting Saturday through Feb. 18 in Atlantic City. The group will leave Greater Pittsburgh Airport for Philadelphia and go on to Atlantic City by car. The trip is made yearly.

Leo J. Litman of New Cumberland was employed as a second grade teacher.

The next meeting is Feb. 22. Dr. W. Dale Williams, president, presided.

Allotments Approved

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Monday approved the Whittacre Allotments in Perry Township, according to Frank Wilson, chairman.

Judge Grants 1st Jury Trial

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff will preside over his first jury trial March 8 at 9:30 a. m.—the case of a Wellsville man accused of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Judge Chertoff granted the jury trial for Thomas Hyatt Lewis, 36, of 438 Main St. on a motion filed this morning by the defendant's counsel, Atty. George A. Aronson.

Lewis was taken into custody at 2:35 a. m. Sunday on outer Dresden Ave. after he lost control of his car, which spun out of control on slippery pavement and came to a halt on the bank of Carpenters Run, police said.

Lewis pleaded not guilty at arraignment Monday afternoon and was released on $1,000 bond.

Names of prospective jurors will be drawn later and summonses will be served upon them by Bailiff Wilbert Taylor.

Methodist Men Give $100 To Help Church

The Methodist Men donated $100 to the Central Methodist Church at a meeting Monday night. The money will be for the building fund and general expenditures.

Jay Dysert screened films on the Arctic regions and Canada. Sixteen were present.

The charter was renewed for another year. Harold Driggs conducted devotions and Earl Speerhas, president, presided.

3 Drivers Report Vandalism, Thefts

Three cases of thievery and vandalism affecting parked cars were reported to police Monday and early today.

Harry Martin, 612 College St., told police thieves smashed the windshield of his 1959 auto and then stole a flashlight, a pair of sunglasses and two screw drivers while the car was parked on College St. between 9:30 p. m. Monday and 3:10 this morning.

Elden Calhoun, 741 Sophia St., said a radio antenna was broken from his 1959 car while it was parked on St. Clair Ave. near the Diamond between 7 and 9 p. m. Monday.

Two hubcaps were stolen from each of two autos at the Central Service Co. agency on W. 7th St. between Saturday and Monday, the company reported to police.

Member Canvass Set By Methodist Church

EAST PALESTINE — Plans for an every-member canvass in May were made at a meeting of the Methodist Church Official Board Monday night.

Harold Brittain was named general chairman of the drive, which will be a one-day campaign as part of a statewide effort of the church. A series of training meetings will be held.

Discussion was held about the church parsonage needs, and plans were made for a series of question-and-answer meetings of the congregation concerning a parsonage.

City Driver Fined $25 After St. Clair Mishap

Ralph L. Moore, 27, of 365 Armstrong Ln. was fined $25 and costs Monday afternoon in Municipal Court on a reckless driving charge as the aftermath of a traffic mishap at 12:10 p. m. yesterday on St. Clair Ave. 200 feet north of Park Blvd.

Police said Moore's 1952 sedan was involved in a collision with a 1955 two-door sedan operated by Eleanor Conway Quear, 43, of 553 6th St., Newell. The crash damaged the right front of Moore's auto and the left front of the woman's car, police said.

Both autos were northbound and Moore began to pass as the woman driver started a left turn, police said.

Theater Manager Cited For 'Obscene' Film

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Allen S. Warth, manager of The Art Theatre here, has been given a 30-day workhouse term and fined $1,000 for exhibiting the French film, "The Lovers." A Municipal Court jury, in convicting Warth last Wednesday, found the film "obscene."

Judge Emmett J. Jackson suspended the workhouse term and half the fine on condition Warth exhibits no more "indecent" movies.

Trustee Resigns Newell Fire Post

The resignation of Edward Cronin as vice president and trustee was accepted when Newell volunteer firemen met Monday night in the fire station.

In other business, firemen set the dates for an annual carnival and parade to be held this summer and named a three-member committee to be contacted by donors of clothing and furniture for a family whose home was damaged by fire Sunday.

Firemen set the week of July 18 for an annual carnival at Clark Field. A "kiddies parade" will be held July 18 and a fireman's parade July 22. Charles Lee, chief, will be chairman.

A committee, J. Carl Durham, Mike Gibas and Edward Mercer, was named to receive donations of clothing, furniture or other household items for Mr. and Mrs. Roy Heffner, whose home near Lenneyville was damaged by fire over the weekend.

Donors may contact any of the three for arrangements.

At Meeting Of Wellsville Board

Stadium Dressing Room Needs Receive Attention

Following a lengthy discussion, the Wellsville Board of Education Monday night decided to have Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect, present sketches and cost estimates on new dressing rooms at Nicholson Stadium.

The present facilities are located under the center section of the stadium, which leaks water and has been closed off to crowds because of the deteriorated condition.

THE TWO center sections were closed two years ago after testing engineers refused to give written reports that the sections would support the weight of a crowd. When it rains, water leaks through the concrete and into the dressing rooms. In the past other schools have complained of the condition that exists, board members pointed out.

Earl Bake, president, reported he had met with the representative of a Chicago firm which suggested sealing the section with two inches of asphaltic concrete. Russell Dysert, member, pointed out the Pittsburgh Testing Co. was concerned about whether the section would support any added weight and that applying a seal would be doing just that.

Bake said it would have to be supported from underneath. Various other methods of making repairs were discussed. Raymond Rolley, clerk, pointed out that only $20,000 had been appropriated for such projects this year and that $10,500 already has been spent, with an estimated $4,500 more figured for a new furnace at Garfield School.

Dave Brookman, another board member, said he objected to putting thousands of dollars into the section for six home games a year. Dysert commented that he feels the board should consider repairs to the basketball floor at Beacom Memorial gym.

BROOKMAN suggested that the center section of the stadium be supported so that it is safe and that the dressing rooms then be moved to either end of the stadium. "If we try to seal the section and support it, we still have as much money in it and might have to do the job again in three or four years," he said.

The board then informally agreed to obtain estimates for moving the dressing rooms.

Supt. S. E. Daw reported he plans to start evening classes for adults early next month. He said he will set up a schedule.

Daw was granted a leave of absence to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention at Atlantic City. It will run Thursday through Feb. 18, but Daw only will attend from Saturday through Feb. 17. He will travel by plane from Pittsburgh.

Edward J. Prucknic of Wimber, Pa., was hired as a high school commercial instructor. He replaces William Bartley, who has entered the Army. Prucknic is a graduate of Indiana (Pa.) State, with a bachelor's degree.

The board voted to purchase a snare drum for the high school orchestra. It will cost about $60.

The board received a letter from Mrs. Margaret Robinette, sixth-grade instructor, at Garfield, thanking members for having new lights installed in the classrooms. She said "the students have shown a marked improvement in reading and writing since they were put in."

The Unofficial 'Great Debate'

According to a report in the New York Times, the "great debate" in casual conversational circles in Washington these days concerns the portion of the national wealth that is spent on public services.

Some consider it a disgraceful waste that so much of America's money is devoted to private consumption as against public use. They state the issue by saying that something must be wrong with a society that has the biggest automobile tailfins in the world but rates second-best in defense and space and has a deplorable blot of slums, polluted rivers, insufficient health care and inadequate financing of education.

They advocate higher taxes to siphon off more of the private wealth to pay for public spending in these areas.

ARRANGED AGAINST them are two schools of thought.

One, represented by President Eisenhower, sees no great discrepancy in the present ratio of public vs private spending but does see a serious threat to the national economy, based on free enterprise, in increased taxes and expanding governmental spending with its inevitable expansion of governmental controls.

The second agrees that more public spending is necessary in some areas, but believes it could be accomplished by cutting down on wasteful spending in other areas, thus bringing no change or even a slight decline in public spending with much more effective results in terms of the national welfare.

This kind of debate is natural in free societies. It is also healthy, because it helps to keep the nation's attention focused on the needs and wants of society and how they can be satisfied. It represents the very basic concern of the nation as a whole with its economic and social health, and as long as it rages the nation need not worry that its health will decline without its knowing about it.

This is the most significant answer to those who merely propose more public spending. A free society shirks its responsibility only when it ignores the problems it has or acts as if it has none.

THERE ARE FEW people in America today who are guilty of that. Concern is expressed on every hand about all the problems stated in the issue above.

The U.S. status in defense and space is the subject of the "great debate" in official and political circles these days. Many public and private organizations and individuals likewise are engaged in constant effort to solve the problems of slums, health, water resources and education.

The slow pace at which things sometimes appear to be accomplished in these fields is not so much an indication of indifference or selfish disdain as an indication of an effort to act cautiously and therefore more wisely.

AS GOVERNMENT has become bigger and taxes have risen higher, it has become increasingly clear that spending alone will not solve our major problems. If it would, there probably would not be a soul in the country who would be against it.

If spending alone could solve the farm problem, it would be nonexistent today instead of approaching a more critical stage than ever before. If spending alone could solve the problems of education, we would not be doing the soul-searching on the subject that we are. If spending alone could bring us peace, we would have reached the millenium.

Any rich man can tell you that being able to spend does not bring happiness. Spending with wisdom can.

Loopholes In The Payola Penalties

The stiff penalties proposed by the special House subcommittee investigating deceitful practices on television and radio demand close scrutiny before Congress proceeds to act on them.

They are symptoms of justified concern over flagrant violations of ethical practice in a field where the public trust is involved. But there is serious doubt they will provide a cure. There is a real danger the treatment might kill the patient.

This can be seen in some loopholes in the reasoning set forth in the subcommittee's interim report.

One concerns the "public interest." Penalties are aimed at those agencies or persons who do not conduct television or radio programs consistent with the "public interest."

BUT WHO determines the public interest? There are probably almost as many concepts of what the public interest is as there are citizens in the republic. Endless litigation has been presented to the courts of America in the last 170 years to determine which concept is correct. No final decision has ever been reached, and none ever will be.

On the other hand, if the lawmakers were to attempt to prevent abuses in the name of this broad term by limiting it to a specific definition set forth in a specific law on television and radio, they only would compound their troubles. Just as no rigid court definition is possible, so no rigid statutory definition is possible that would be fair to all.

Another loophole in the subcommittee's reasoning lies in the admission that the Federal Trade Commission and the Federal Communications Commission already have adequate authority to control the deceitful practices evidenced in the investigations. They have not, according to the report, used them aggressively enough.

WHAT, THEN, is the wisdom of passing some laws to accomplish what could be done with existing laws if they were used? If the FCC and the FTC are to blame, the solution would seem to be to staff them with people who will use the present laws. If there are valid reasons for those agencies' reluctance to take action, it would seem wiser to consider those reasons than to go off half-cocked with a whole new set of stringent laws that easily could do more harm to innocent people than to guilty ones.

That amounts only to piling edict upon edict and government bureau on government bureau without ever solving the problem.

We hope the subcommittee is sincere in billing the proposals as an "interim" report. With the investigation into payola continuing, there is time for careful thought on the whole subject of legislative action.

Are You Eligible?

Regardless of efforts to make voter registration as painless as possible, those not qualified still seem determined to stay away from the polls in droves.

A new state law which permits re-registration by mail resulted in 691 postcards being sent out here to those whose names had been removed from the voting lists. Only 74 took the time to return the cards and regain a precious privilege—that of casting a ballot.

The figures speak for themselves in a disgusting and disappointing manner.

On another page of Monday's Review was a story which pointed out that 67 candidates are seeking county and district offices in the May primary. That is reason enough to register. When 67 seek various offices which help control your life and mine it stands to reason that the wisest possible choices must be made by the electorate. If you aren't eligible to vote, the choices aren't yours.

Though the deadline for postcard registration has passed, those still not eligible may correct the situation by dropping off at the County Election Board office on W. 6th St. This applies to those desiring to register for the first time or wanting to reinstate their registration.

If you reside in East Liverpool, you have until March 23 to act in order to be allowed to go the polls May 3.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will appear as guest on Frank Sinatra's airwave show. This adds to the claim there is nothing Sinatra can't do. He personally phoned the invitation and got acceptance. Possible recording:

Frankie: Hello. This is Frankie Sinatra.

Mrs. R: That this should happen to me of all the girls! How thrilling!

Frankie: I want you on my TV show.

Mrs. R: But can I afford to pay you?

Frankie: I appreciate the flattery, but I pay you.

Mrs. R: I don't sing or dance.

Frankie: Don't be sure. On my show anything can happen.

Mrs. R: I suppose that since Harry Truman appeared with Jack Benny, my appearance with you would further clinch the Democratic Party's record for being nonconservative. I thought Truman helped violin players and vice versa. If I could only play the piano!

Frankie: You won't need to and you won't be asked to swing Indian clubs or give imitations. Your personality is sufficient. A terrific audience is certain because every Republican will tune in hoping for the worst.

Mrs. R: But suppose Dick Nixon shows up as a TV critic? He goes everywhere. And how about Gina Lollobrigida?

Frankie: Don't worry about anything. Lollobrigida is in my movie, not on my TV show.

Mrs. R: That makes it easier. You know how TV fans act when one guest is discussing global problems and the other isn't even referring to them.

Frankie: Say you'll accept. Your fee will be a big one.

Mrs. R: I'm not interested in money.

Frankie: Now look, Eleanor: I'll tell the jokes!

The Little Hoover Commission says Mayor Wagner of New York "lacks willingness, capacity or appetite to do a job." How can Bob have a good appetite with so many people swinging at him?

The best gag at the Baseball Writers show was proposal that the Yankee ball club song be "Relief is just a pitcher away." Gov. Rockefeller a close second with "Maybe I was invited to the baseball dinner because I was the number one spring holdout."

"One hundred thousand Auto Parts Stolen" —headline. (Three muffler replacements, one new front lamp and a clock that keeps time?)

Elton Britt, hillbilly and cowboy singer, is off the New Hampshire primary list. This relieves Sen. Kennedy of the necessity to show up with a guitar.

Four New Haven Railroad officials demoted after a wreck probe have now been promoted to top jobs. This would seem to indicate a confession by President Alpert that he was on the wrong track, pulled the wrong cord and had his head out the wrong side of the cab.

It is now possible to put in a phone call from a jet plane. (But will there be time to look up the number?)

Mitchell Sits Down With Dubinsky

By Victo r Riesel

A member of President Eisenhower's cabinet took a taxi down Miami Beach's main street last Tuesday morning and drove right into the middle of next fall's campaign.

Victor Riesel

Secretary of Labor James Mitchell didn't plan it that way but it turned out to be the first real coup of the campaign. It will make it most difficult for labor's political strategists to hack away at Vice President Nixon, President Eisenhower and the Republican high command in the final payoff race.

Furthermore, Mr. Mitchell is the only national Republican leader who could have done it. He had just spoken to a powerful coalition of labor chiefs up in Bar Harbor, Maine.

He headed for the airport last Tuesday morning.

On the main drag, he saw from his taxi window a strolling group of men in sports outfits. He recognized them as leaders of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

If there is another Republican who could have identified them, he can have the Riesel special service award.

THE GARMENT WORKERS organization is an old Socialist union. Out of its history and tradition sprang the men who created Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal.

But such is the scope of Jim Mitchell's acquaintance inside labor that he knew them and soon was seated in a place of honor at a luncheon at the side of their chief, David Dubinsky, who feels about the Republican party the way Harry Truman does about the man in the White House.

At the luncheon, the ebullient Dubinsky may have been carried away by the good fellowship of the moment. He said that he had known secretaries of labor, Democrats and Republicans, since Calvin Coolidge's time. But Jim Mitchell "was the most competent, most understanding and the best secretary of labor" of them all.

That would have been surprising enough. But to top that, "DD" then smashed all tradition. He never — not even hardly ever — does a radio or television broadcast. But he put the quote on television tape.

There are few more shrewd political or public relations strategists than Dave Dubinsky. He can smell out a story in the making like a city desk pro. He knew he was making news, not only for the moment, but for the rest of the year.

WITH DUBINSKY, it isn't enough to report that he might have done it because he meant what he said.

He could have said it off the record. He can handle one of those like he used to cut a coat pattern. So it can only be interpreted that he put it on the record to serve notice on the Democratic party that no one has labor — at least not the militant Garment Workers and their New York balance of power Liberal party — in the ballot box.

In fact that was the only interpretation which the Democratic party strategists — present in Miami Beach for the AFL-CIO executive council session — could have made of the whole day's activities.

Earlier, Mr. Mitchell had talked to a joint session of the high command of the powerful AFL - CIO Construction and Building Trades Dept. and Metal Trades Dept. They represent more than three million union workers.

They invited Mitchell down to speak. The secretary of labor said among other things that he was not planning to use the new Landrum-Griffin Act in a punitive fashion.

MITCHELL REVEALED that he planned to set up a small traveling band of men — 12 or 15 — to go around the country advising unions on how to comply with the law.

This new technical assistance division will be made up of men familiar with the labor movement and the new law, too. It will operate on the theory that it is better to educate for compliance than to crack down on unions.

The secretary said he would try to avert unconscious violation of the law and thus assure that union funds are properly expended and reported. He hoped to avoid any swift crackdowns.

He also promised help in getting new laws on picketing which the Building Trades Union wants.

All this won't keep labor from officially backing a Democrat —but it could keep important labor leaders sitting on the very hands with which they applauded Dwight Eisenhower's secretary of labor last Tuesday.

Dogs To Shirtsleeves

By Truman Twill

Another excuse to write about dogs has been furnished by a Sports Illustrated piece on what happens when a canine breed becomes fashionable.

The breeders who have specialized in that particular breed make a killing. A lot of other breeders who get into the act in a hurry make money, if they have a run of luck.

Hundreds of thousands of buyers who want to be in fashion acquire dogs of the newly fashionable breed. But what happens to the breed, itself, shouldn't happen to a dog.

It is ruined by ruthless exploitation of its commercial possibilities.

Everything is pushed aside to clear the way for the chance of a lifetime to make a killing. It happened to fox terriers, cocker spaniels, boxers and now is happening to poodles. It almost happened to Dobermans. It did happen to Scotch collies. And, though Sports Illustrated doesn't go that far back, it happened to Boston bulls and pugs.

How does it happen?

It's as simple—or as complex—as what happens to the offspring of human beings who forget that nothing matters in the long run but individual merit.

It's as simple as the reason people mostly go from shirtsleeves to shirtsleeves in three generations.

The qualities needed for success are scuttled to promote survival of the unfittest, and in due course of time there is nothing left but clippings in old scrapbooks and portraits of ancestors on the library walls.

The current generation is all pretense and no pluck. Its reason for existence has been lost in the shuffle for prestige and permanent entree to the best places.

Dogs that were intended to be hunters are turned into useless lap ornaments that wouldn't know how to hunt a fireplug. Breeds once noted for being level-headed turn addled and snappish; that was the special downfall of the cockers.

Sports Illustrated, pointing out these things, hammers on another point—that there is snobbery in the dog business and it has barred at least three standard breeds from official recognition. They are the farm collie, the bluetick hound and the redbone hound. Sports Illustrated deplores this.

I don't. It means the American farm collie, the bluetick hound and the redbone hound never will be ruined by prosperity. They will not be exposed to the danger now being faced by beagles, which have become too popular for their own good.

They will not be miniaturized like the lap dogs that have been ruined by too much la-de-da.

They will know how it feels to run cross-country with their noses low and their tails high. They'll have the thrill of jumping into a creek for a dog-day cool-off; of pursuing a fleeing flea to the tip of their tail; of burying a bone and waiting for it to ripen; of rolling end over end down a grassy bank; of excavating a woodchuck; of chasing a low-flying bird and investigating a myriad mysterious odors and sounds in a world that stretches from here to there, with every inch of it meaningful and wonderful.

Everybody who knows what it means to be exalted by a dog has had at least some faint stirrings of doubt about the business that has been made of exalting certain breeds by means of dog shows and similar commercial exploitations. It is something done for the benefit of people, not for the benefit of dogs. Only the most conscientious breeders can be trusted to protect their helpless charges from the over-exploitation that goes with popularity and the kind of people who follow fads.

Instead of being critical of the American Kennel Club for not recognizing the American farm collie, the bluetick and the redbone, Sports Illustrated could more logically be grateful it never happened. If it ever did, the qualities that make them wonderful might be ditched for qualities that would make them fashionable.

New Spending Orgy?

By David Lawrence

Education Aid Bill Would Mean Inflation

The Democrats in the Senate are unwittingly doing a great deal to scare American business. They have set the stage for a spending orgy by government which can gradually cut down the purchasing power of the dollar.

David Lawrence

The vote in the Senate last week to provide nearly two billion dollars in the next two years for "school aid" could start the federal government on an unprecedented course of subsidizing teachers' salaries.

What has hitherto been a local obligation now could become a federal liability every year. It starts with a few hundred million for teachers' salaries but, once a formula of this kind is imbedded in federal budgets, it means increasing sums every year thereafter.

Certainly school teachers should be better paid and, if the states don't recognize this, they will lose teachers and fail to gain new ones. But once the federal government starts an "aid" program, the states will gradually transfer to it the major responsibility.

This could even lead to federal control of the curriculum and teaching methods—as is the case in many a totalitarian government.

THE STATES are not bankrupt. If they fail to appropriate enough, it is the local citizenry who should be making a fight for better schooling. The moment the federal government steps into anything, it becomes a custom that is never repealed.

What can all this mean to business?

If dollars are to be cut down in value, unions will insist upon higher wages. Then prices start going up faster and faster. Also, interest rates have to be boosted to attract investors. It means a dislocation of the American economy.

Now, many of the 42 Democrats and nine Republicans who voted for the $1,800,000,000 measure to aid the schools realize that in the House of Representatives this bill will be pared down, if not rejected altogether.

Then there is a probability of a presidential veto if the bill should get through the two houses.

It is, however, the possibility that this kind of spending will be approved by the White House if a Democratic administration comes into power a year hence which is causing apprehensions in business circles.

It is significant that 10 Democratic senators from the South and Sen. Lausche D-Ohio, voted against the school bill along with 23 Republicans but the coalition wasn't big enough to stop the measure.

Naturally, all the would-be presidential candidates on the Democratic side announced themselvs as in favor of this inflationary bill. Vice President Nixon had a chance earlier to break a tie on a somewhat similar bill and he cast his vote against it. He had been warned that this might hurt him politically but he wisely disregarded such advice.

SKYROCKETING expenditures of the federal government are a matter of growing concern. Just a few days ago, Maurice H. Stans, director of the federal budget, gave some unpleasant facts to the public in a speech he made in Chicago.

He pointed out that the U.S. Treasury is faced with a large amount of "future obligations" growing out of the tendency to start a system of continuous spending for projects—many of them taken over from the states. He said:

"Our present national debt of 290 billion dollars is far from all we owe for the past. Here are some items it doesn't include. Our already accrued liability for military retirement is about 30 billion.

"Our unfunded present accrual for retirement benefits for civilian government employees is almost 28 billion. On top of that, future pensions, compensation and other benefits voted to veterans will cost about 300 billion.

"Now, the 290 billion of current public debt, plus more than 350 billion of future obligations for past services, plus 98 billion of 'COD's,' adds to the almost incredible total of nearly 750 billion.

"That is the federal government's mortgage on America's future—on ourselves and our children—beyond the regular annual cost of defense, welfare and commerce.

"Is it any wonder that your President pleads for a sense of proportion, for a limit on compulsive spending, for a passion for responsibility?"

WHAT MR. STANS means by his reference to commitments for the future is illustrated by the new school-aid bill. Once it starts, an annual obligation of the federal government is incurred.

These are what is known as "built-in" expenditures and Mr. Stans says:

"I see already built-in increases pushing expenditures up and up year after year. I see pressures continuing to mount for the federal government to spend more and more, to take over local government's problems and to meet demands from pressure groups for more handouts on many fronts.

If we yield to these temptations, we can soon have 90 or 100-billion-dollar budgets, higher taxes or more deficits, debasement of our money and weakening of our economy."

How many members of Congress heeded that warning?

The Democratic majority in the Senate evidently didn't and neither did the few Republicans who apparently were intimidated by political threats at the polls coming from pressure groups.

Maybe some day an informed electorate will constitute itself as the biggest pressure group of all and vote for representatives who favor a sound economy.

Court Breaks The Dam

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A subtle change is occurring in the nation—including the South—on civil rights.

It seems taken for granted now that this year an effort, probably a successful one, will be made to pass a civil rights bill in Congress.

Just a few years ago—before the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation in 1954—this would have been unthinkable.

At the most the House would have passed something, knowing well it would be strangled in the Senate by Southern filibuster or just lack of action.

This was how it had been since way back in the 19th century when the last batch of civil rights legislation was approved.

What happened to make it possible for Congress to pass in 1957 the first civil rights bill in 82 years and now seems on the verge of passing another?

If there is any single answer it is probably that the Supreme Court decision broke the dam.

In the first place, the court's action made Congress self - conscious. It did what Congress wouldn't do. It took action on civil rights.

The court had laid the groundwork for the public school decision with a whole series of opinions, going back into the 1940s, to break down racial segregation.

The protest from the South against the public school decision focused the attention of the whole country on this problem in a way it could not ignore.

The court was being defied.

The violence at Little Rock—over the admittance of Negro children to a school—shocked the country into further examination.

Bit by bit throughout the South the wall against the court's decision began to crumble. Negroes brought to the front another problem of equal importance: their difficulty in being allowed to vote.

The question of outlawing the poll tax which had been a furious rallying point for Southerners—bringing a filibuster from them four times in the 1940s—began to seem just a minor episode against the other problems.

That probably explains best why an anti-poll tax amendment to the Constitution passed the Senate last week with hardly a flurry. There was no thought of filibuster. It was even a Southerner who sponsored the amendment.

With the nation made self-conscious about Negroes' civil rights, there was no trouble passing the civil rights bill of 1957.

There was no filibuster. The Southerners apparently knew they couldn't win and it was a mild civil rights bill.

If this year the Eisenhower administration and Northern Democrats get together on another moderate civil rights bill, the Southerners once again will probably decide not to filibuster. If it's real tough, they might.

The pattern seems to be taking this shape. Year after year there will be a steady push, inside and outside Congress, to give the Negroes of the South more civil rights protection. Opposition in the South, against the pressure of national opinion, will melt slowly.

From the way it's going, this will take time.

But if it hadn't been for the court's decision in 1954, it is hard to believe there would be any more progress on civil rights now than there was in the 1940s or, for that matter, in the 1920s, when there wasn't any.

The Unofficial 'Great Debate'

According to a report in the New York Times, the "great debate" in casual conversational circles in Washington these days concerns the portion of the national wealth that is spent on public services.

Some consider it a disgraceful waste that so much of America's money is devoted to private consumption as against public use. They state the issue by saying that something must be wrong with a society that has the biggest automobile tailfins in the world but rates second-best in defense and space and has a deplorable blot of slums, polluted rivers, insufficient health care and inadequate financing of education.

They advocate higher taxes to siphon off more of the private wealth to pay for public spending in these areas.

ARRANGED AGAINST them are two schools of thought.

One, represented by President Eisenhower, sees no great discrepancy in the present ratio of public vs private spending but does see a serious threat to the national economy, based on free enterprise, in increased taxes and expanding governmental spending with its inevitable expansion of governmental controls.

The second agrees that more public spending is necessary in some areas, but believes it could be accomplished by cutting down on wasteful spending in other areas, thus bringing no change or even a slight decline in public spending with much more effective results in terms of the national welfare.

This kind of debate is natural in free societies. It is also healthy, because it helps to keep the nation's attention focused on the needs and wants of society and how they can be satisfied. It represents the very basic concern of the nation as a whole with its economic and social health, and as long as it rages the nation need not worry that its health will decline without its knowing about it.

This is the most significant answer to those who merely propose more public spending. A free society shirks its responsibility only when it ignores the problems it has or acts as if it has none.

THERE ARE FEW people in America today who are guilty of that. Concern is expressed on every hand about all the problems stated in the issue above.

The U.S. status in defense and space is the subject of the "great debate" in official and political circles these days. Many public and private organizations and individuals likewise are engaged in constant effort to solve the problems of slums, health, water resources and education.

The slow pace at which things sometimes appear to be accomplished in these fields is not so much an indication of indifference or selfish disdain as an indication of an effort to act cautiously and therefore more wisely.

AS GOVERNMENT has become bigger and taxes have risen higher, it has become increasingly clear that spending alone will not solve our major problems. If it would, there probably would not be a soul in the country who would be against it.

If spending alone could solve the farm problem, it would be nonexistent today instead of approaching a more critical stage than ever before. If spending alone could solve the problems of education, we would not be doing the soul-searching on the subject that we are. If spending alone could bring us peace, we would have reached the millenium.

Any rich man can tell you that being able to spend does not bring happiness. Spending with wisdom can.

Loopholes In The Payola Penalties

The stiff penalties proposed by the special House subcommittee investigating deceitful practices on television and radio demand close scrutiny before Congress proceeds to act on them.

They are symptoms of justified concern over flagrant violations of ethical practice in a field where the public trust is involved. But there is serious doubt they will provide a cure. There is a real danger the treatment might kill the patient.

This can be seen in some loopholes in the reasoning set forth in the subcommittee's interim report.

One concerns the "public interest." Penalties are aimed at those agencies or persons who do not conduct television or radio programs consistent with the "public interest."

BUT WHO determines the public interest? There are probably almost as many concepts of what the public interest is as there are citizens in the republic. Endless litigation has been presented to the courts of America in the last 170 years to determine which concept is correct. No final decision has ever been reached, and none ever will be.

On the other hand, if the lawmakers were to attempt to prevent abuses in the name of this broad term by limiting it to a specific definition set forth in a specific law on television and radio, they only would compound their troubles. Just as no rigid court definition is possible, so no rigid statutory definition is possible that would be fair to all.

Another loophole in the subcommittee's reasoning lies in the admission that the Federal Trade Commission and the Federal Communications Commission already have adequate authority to control the deceitful practices evidenced in the investigations. They have not, according to the report, used them aggressively enough.

WHAT, THEN, is the wisdom of passing some laws to accomplish what could be done with existing laws if they were used? If the FCC and the FTC are to blame, the solution would seem to be to staff them with people who will use the present laws. If there are valid reasons for those agencies' reluctance to take action, it would seem wiser to consider those reasons than to go off half-cocked with a whole new set of stringent laws that easily could do more harm to innocent people than to guilty ones.

That amounts only to piling edict upon edict and government bureau on government bureau without ever solving the problem.

We hope the subcommittee is sincere in billing the proposals as an "interim" report. With the investigation into payola continuing, there is time for careful thought on the whole subject of legislative action.

Are You Eligible?

Regardless of efforts to make voter registration as painless as possible, those not qualified still seem determined to stay away from the polls in droves.

A new state law which permits re-registration by mail resulted in 691 postcards being sent out here to those whose names had been removed from the voting lists. Only 74 took the time to return the cards and regain a precious privilege—that of casting a ballot.

The figures speak for themselves in a disgusting and disappointing manner.

On another page of Monday's Review was a story which pointed out that 67 candidates are seeking county and district offices in the May primary. That is reason enough to register. When 67 seek various offices which help control your life and mine it stands to reason that the wisest possible choices must be made by the electorate. If you aren't eligible to vote, the choices aren't yours.

Though the deadline for postcard registration has passed, those still not eligible may correct the situation by dropping off at the County Election Board office on W. 6th St. This applies to those desiring to register for the first time or wanting to reinstate their registration.

If you reside in East Liverpool, you have until March 23 to act in order to be allowed to go the polls May 3.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will appear as guest on Frank Sinatra's airwave show. This adds to the claim there is nothing Sinatra can't do. He personally phoned the invitation and got acceptance. Possible recording:

Frankie: Hello. This is Frankie Sinatra.

Mrs. R: That this should happen to me of all the girls! How thrilling!

Frankie: I want you on my TV show.

Mrs. R: But can I afford to pay you?

Frankie: I appreciate the flattery, but I pay you.

Mrs. R: I don't sing or dance.

Frankie: Don't be sure. On my show anything can happen.

Mrs. R: I suppose that since Harry Truman appeared with Jack Benny, my appearance with you would further clinch the Democratic Party's record for being nonconservative. I thought Truman helped violin players and vice versa. If I could only play the piano!

Frankie: You won't need to and you won't be asked to swing Indian clubs or give imitations. Your personality is sufficient. A terrific audience is certain because every Republican will tune in hoping for the worst.

Mrs. R: But suppose Dick Nixon shows up as a TV critic? He goes everywhere. And how about Gina Lollobrigida?

Frankie: Don't worry about anything. Lollobrigida is in my movie, not on my TV show.

Mrs. R: That makes it easier. You know how TV fans act when one guest is discussing global problems and the other isn't even referring to them.

Frankie: Say you'll accept. Your fee will be a big one.

Mrs. R: I'm not interested in money.

Frankie: Now look, Eleanor: I'll tell the jokes!

The Little Hoover Commission says Mayor Wagner of New York "lacks willingness, capacity or appetite to do a job." How can Bob have a good appetite with so many people swinging at him?

The best gag at the Baseball Writers show was proposal that the Yankee ball club song be "Relief is just a pitcher away." Gov. Rockefeller a close second with "Maybe I was invited to the baseball dinner because I was the number one spring holdout."

"One hundred thousand Auto Parts Stolen"—headline. (Three muffler replacements, one new front lamp and a clock that keeps time?)

Elton Britt, hillbilly and cowboy singer, is off the New Hampshire primary list. This relieves Sen. Kennedy of the necessity to show up with a guitar.

Four New Haven Railroad officials demoted after a wreck probe have now been promoted to top jobs. This would seem to indicate a confession by President Alpert that he was on the wrong track, pulled the wrong cord and had his head out the wrong side of the cab.

It is now possible to put in a phone call from a jet plane. (But will there be time to look up the number?)

If it ever did, the qualities that make them wonderful might be ditched for qualities that would make them fashionable.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — A total of 94,038 books, an increase of 9,038 over the previous year, was circulated by Carnegie Public Library during 1929.

Earl G. Jackson of Carolina Ave., Chester, insurance dealer, filed a petition as a candidate for school board.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Sam W. Carnahan of Newell was named disaster chairman of the northern Hancock County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Ted Tatgenhorst was named director of music in the Butler Township school district at Vandalia, near Dayton.

TEN YEARS AGO — Al Cronin of Lawrenceville took over the office of Mayor DeMar Miller when the Chester Boy Scouts ran the city in observance of the movement's 40th anniversary.

The high school basketball team won its 13th straight victory by swamping Youngstown East, 75-40.

New Spending Orgy?

By David Lawrence

Education Aid Bill Would Mean Inflation

The Democrats in the Senate are unwittingly doing a great deal to scare American business. They have set the stage for a spending orgy by government which can gradually cut down the purchasing power of the dollar.

David Lawrence

The vote in the Senate last week to provide nearly two billion dollars in the next two years for "school aid" could start the federal government on an unprecedented course of subsidizing teachers' salaries.

What has hitherto been a local obligation now could become a federal liability every year. It starts with a few hundred million for teachers' salaries but, once a formula of this kind is imbedded in federal budgets, it means increasing sums every year thereafter.

Certainly school teachers should be better paid and, if the states don't recognize this, they will lose teachers and fail to gain new ones. But once the federal government starts an "aid" program, the states will gradually transfer to it the major responsibility.

This could even lead to federal control of the curriculum and teaching methods—as is the case in many a totalitarian government.

THE STATES are not bankrupt. If they fail to appropriate enough, it is the local citizenry who should be making a fight for better schooling. The moment the federal government steps into anything, it becomes a custom that is never repealed.

What can all this mean to business?

If dollars are to be cut down in value, unions will insist upon higher wages. Then prices start going up faster and faster. Also, interest rates have to be boosted to attract investors. It means a dislocation of the American economy.

Now, many of the 42 Democrats and nine Republicans who voted for the $1,800,000,000 measure to aid the schools realize that in the House of Representatives this bill will be pared down, if not rejected altogether.

Then there is a probability of a presidential veto if the bill should get through the two houses.

It is, however, the possibility that this kind of spending will be approved by the White House if a Democratic administration comes into power a year hence which is causing apprehensions in business circles.

It is significant that 10 Democratic senators from the South and Sen. Lausche D-Ohio, voted against the school bill along with 23 Republicans but the coalition wasn't big enough to stop the measure.

Naturally, all the would-be presidential candidates on the Democratic side announced themselvs as in favor of this inflationary bill. Vice President Nixon had a chance earlier to break a tie on a somewhat similar bill and he cast his vote against it. He had been warned that this might hurt him politically but he wisely disregarded such advice.

SKYROCKETING expenditures of the federal government are a matter of growing concern. Just a few days ago, Maurice H. Stans, director of the federal budget, gave some unpleasant facts to the public in a speech he made in Chicago.

He pointed out that the U.S. Treasury is faced with a large amount of "future obligations" growing out of the tendency to start a system of continuous spending for projects—many of them taken over from the states. He said:

"Our present national debt of 290 billion dollars is far from all we owe for the past. Here are some items it doesn't include. Our already accrued liability for military retirement is about 30 billion.

"Our unfunded present accrual for retirement benefits for civilian government employees is almost 28 billion. On top of that, future pensions, compensation and other benefits voted to veterans will cost about 300 billion.

"Now, the 290 billion of current public debt, plus more than 350 billion of future obligations for past services, plus 98 billion of 'COD's,' adds to the almost incredible total of nearly 750 billion.

"That is the federal government's mortgage on America's future—on ourselves and our children—beyond the regular annual cost of defense, welfare and commerce.

"Is it any wonder that your President pleads for a sense of proportion, for a limit on compulsive spending, for a passion for responsibility?"

WHAT MR. STANS means by his reference to commitments for the future is illustrated by the new school-aid bill. Once it starts, an annual obligation of the federal government is incurred.

These are what is known as "built-in" expenditures and Mr. Stans says:

"I see already built-in increases pushing expenditures up and up year after year. I see pressures continuing to mount for the federal government to spend more and more, to take over local government's problems and to meet demands from pressure groups for more handouts on many fronts.

If we yield to these temptations, we can soon have 90 or 100-billion-dollar budgets, higher taxes or more deficits, debasement of our money and weakening of our economy."

How many members of Congress heeded that warning?

The Democratic majority in the Senate evidently didn't and neither did the few Republicans who apparently were intimidated by political threats at the polls coming from pressure groups.

Maybe some day an informed electorate will constitute itself as the biggest pressure group of all and vote for representatives who favor a sound economy.

Court Breaks The Dam

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

A subtle change is occurring in the nation—including the South—on civil rights.

It seems taken for granted now that this year an effort, probably a successful one, will be made to pass a civil rights bill in Congress.

Just a few years ago—before the Supreme Court outlawed public school segregation in 1954—this would have been unthinkable.

At the most the House would have passed something, knowing well it would be strangled in the Senate by Southern filibuster or just lack of action.

This was how it had been since way back in the 19th century when the last batch of civil rights legislation was approved.

What happened to make it possible for Congress to pass in 1957 the first civil rights bill in 82 years and now seems on the verge of passing another?

If there is any single answer it is probably that the Supreme Court decision broke the dam.

In the first place, the court's action made Congress self - conscious. It did what Congress wouldn't do. It took action on civil rights.

The court had laid the groundwork for the public school decision with a whole series of opinions, going back into the 1940s, to break down racial segregation.

The protest from the South against the public school decision focused the attention of the whole country on this problem in a way it could not ignore.

The court was being defied.

The violence at Little Rock—over the admittance of Negro children to a school—shocked the country into further examination.

Bit by bit throughout the South the wall against the court's decision began to crumble. Negroes brought to the front another problem of equal importance: their difficulty in being allowed to vote.

The question of outlawing the poll tax which had been a furious rallying point for Southerners—bringing a filibuster from them four times in the 1940s—began to seem just a minor episode against the other problems.

That probably explains best why an anti-poll tax amendment to the Constitution passed the Senate last week with hardly a flurry. There was no thought of filibuster. It was even a Southerner who sponsored the amendment.

With the nation made self-conscious about Negroes' civil rights, there was no trouble passing the civil rights bill of 1957.

There was no filibuster. The Southerners apparently knew they couldn't win and it was a mild civil rights bill.

If this year the Eisenhower administration and Northern Democrats get together on another moderate civil rights bill, the Southerners once again will probably decide not to filibuster. If it's real tough, they might.

The pattern seems to be taking this shape. Year after year there will be a steady push, inside and outside Congress, to give the Negroes of the South more civil rights protection. Opposition in the South, against the pressure of national opinion, will melt slowly.

From the way it's going, this will take time.

But if it hadn't been for the court's decision in 1954, it is hard to believe there would be any more progress on civil rights now than there was in the 1940s or, for that matter, in the 1920s, when there wasn't any.

Beaver Board Appropriates Funds For '60

Appropriations for Beaver Local School District for 1960 were adopted by the Board of Education Monday night.

The appropriations, with last year's in parenthesis, included: general fund — $569,250 ($472,392); bond retirement — $88,678 ($59,163), and cafeteria expenses —$80,921 ($67,685).

Increases over last year are attributed to additional aid under the state foundation program which rose from $271,000 last year to $444,000.

The appropriations provide for higher teacher and non-teaching personnel salaries and higher operating costs. Cafeteria expenses rose due to more students, higher food costs and an expanded milk program.

Pay increases of about $10 a month were authorized for non-teaching personnel such as custodians, secretaries and some bus drivers.

Administrative salaries were also increased, in line with the recent boost of teachers salaries. The salary changes included: Executive Head George VanHorne, from $8,500 to $9,100; High School Principal Lee Kirkland, from $6,720 to $7,400; Elementary School Supervisor Urban Petros, from $5800 to $6,300, plus $300 travel expenses.

Administrative salaries are based on a state foundation schedule, proportional to teachers salaries and the number of months a year employed.

In other action, the board adopted a revision of the entrance age for students starting in first grades in the district. The new policy will not go into effect until 1961, and stems from a recommendation from the County Board, which asked for the change to start this year.

In Beaver Local, students can be 6 on or before Nov. 1 to enter the first grade this fall — the same as the past year. In 1961, however, students must be 6 on or before Oct. 1 to enter, and in 1962, students must be 6 on or before Sept. 15.

The revision is designed to have a greater maturity in the first grade students for reading and learning readiness.

The board authorized continuation of a five year building insurance policy with Nationwide Insurance through Dale Mason of Lisbon.

Richard Brewer and Chester Gorby of the Rogers area were hired as bus drivers. Mrs. Gretchen Dawson of East Liverpool, high school instructor, was granted a leave of absence.

Harry Greenwood, clerk, will attend a meeting of the Ohio Association of School Business Officials at Columbus this week. VanHorne will leave Friday for a convention of the American Association of School Administrators at Atlantic City.

The next meeting will be Feb. 22 when discussion of school curriculum will be resumed with Loren Ruff, county elementary supervisor, and Mrs. Marilyn Solak, county high school supervisor, explaining the new county curriculum guides.

Newell Troop Marks Anniversary

Scout Of 50 Years Ago At Event

A program observing the 50th anniversary of scouting in America was held by Newell Troop 29 Monday night in the Aaron Building.

Harry Messenheimer of Congo Rd., who entered scouting in 1910—the year the youth organization was initiated — participated in the program, along with other area BSA officials.

Presentation of awards was a highlight of the ceremony.

George Vucas, cubmaster, of Pack 10, presented Weblos awards to Howell and Gogol. Albert Logston, a former scoutmaster of the troop, presented a second class award to Dave Gamble and first class awards to Gary Stevens and Dave Copestick.

A tenderfoot investiture ceremony was conducted by Webb and Lee for the two tenderfoot scouts. Neckerchiefs were presented by Joe Jester, institutional representative of the Lions Club which sponsors the troop. Tenderfoot pins were presented by Messenheimer.

Howell and Gogol were conducted to a circle by Rick Webb, senior patrol leader, and the two youths garbed in Indian costumes.

Bob Vucas, a Cub Scout, lit the candles for the ceremony. Webb introduced Ernest John, principal of the Jefferson School and a holder of the Silver Beaver award. The Rev. Ernest O. Steele of the Church of Christ presented the invocation.

Coffee and doughnuts were served parents by Robert E. Lee and Pete Lamp, assistant scoutmasters.

State Approves School Charters

Charters for East Liverpool High School, East Junior High School and Westgate Junior High School were approved Monday night by the State Board of Education at a meeting in Columbus.

When the East Liverpool school board made the request early in January, Supt. Ralph W. Betts explained the charters were a mere formality since the state had recognized the 6-3-3 school plan since it was inaugurated several years ago.

The state board also approved another statehouse conference on education similar to the one held in 1958. Supt. E. E. Holt recommended the Ohio School Boards Association initiate a series of conferences on education, ending in the statewide meeting.

The board also recommended the problem of discontinuing the cadet teachers' program be given further study. The Ohio Education Association, a teachers' organization, wants the program stopped Jan. 1.

The program permits teachers to begin working after two years of college training. The teachers continue their study for certificates in college summer schools. It was started in 1946 because of a teacher shortage.

2 Drivers Forfeit

NEW CUMBERLAND — William E. Tate, 38, of R. D. 2 and Clinton R. Young, 20, of Brunswick, Ohio, both forfeited $108 bonds when they failed to appear for hearings before Squire John D. Herron Monday night on charges of driving while intoxicated. Their driver's licenses were suspended for six months.

Lisbon Kiwanis To See Movie On Washington

LISBON — A movie, "Washington at Work," will be shown at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday at the Eagles Lodge diningroom. Robert Lower is program chairman.

The club's Board of Directors recently authorized a $10 donation for the local Science Fair, agreed to help in the movement to have the dump removed from within the village and to assist in cleaning up the banks of Beaver Creek. The club will handle the business district solicitation for the Cancer Fund drive.

Council To Study Truck's Purchase

Councilmen agreed in an informal conference with Mayor Bert H Goodballet and Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver last night to consider legislation at their meeting next Monday night authorizing purchase of a new half-ton truck for the incinerator department.

The legislation would authorize the Board of Control, comprised of the mayor and director, to advertise for bids and purchase a truck. Providing a new vehicle for the incinerator department would free a pickup truck used there now to be turned over to a dog warden the mayor is scheduled to appoint.

The incinerator department now is using a truck which formerly was assigned to the city dog warden. The incinerator department was given the truck when the warden was laid off about a year ago in an economy move. The mayor said he expects to appoint a warden soon.

At the conference last night, the mayor asked Council to consider funds for repairs to the City Hall roof and the plaster in two stairwells in the building when it draws up the 1960 appropriation ordinance.

Beaver Boosters Will Give Dinner

basis, plus 2 delegates and 2 alternates in the 18th Congressional District.

The problem already has been called to the attention of the secretary of state's office, which is working on a revision of the standard ballot form in order to make the job more suitable for printing shops, O'Hanlon said.

Brown's office has indicated it may cut the length of the ballot by adding a column to its width. In calling for ballot bids, Election Boards are required to follow the standardized statewide form prescribed by the secretary of state's office. It is known as the "official form of ballot."

Adding a column to the Democratic ticket might cut 10 inches from its length, O'Hanlon said. The Republican ballot will not be nearly so long, as the GOP will elect only 10 delegates-at-large from Ohio for its national convention.

The board awarded a contract to the Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus to furnish poll books for both the May and November elections at a cost of $22.45 for each of the 152 precincts.

The concern submitted the lowest of three offers. Other prices per precinct were: Johnston-Watson Co. of Dayton, $23.75, and Heer Printing Co. of Columbus, $24.05.

Ballot places were granted to 32 Republicans and 35 Democrats seeking district and county offices in the primaries who filed before the deadline last Wednesday at 4 p. m. The board acted on each candidate's petitions to determine if it met legal requirements for a ballot place.

The board also granted ballot places for 10 tax levies proposed by county subdivisions and to 157 Democrats and 131 Republicans running for places on their parties' central committees. One of the party officials, known as precinct committeemen, is elected in each precinct.

The board is scheduled to certify today to the election boards of other affected counties the names of candidates for 18th District congressman, state senator in the 20th-22nd District and state party central committeemen and committeewomen. The district candidates file here because Columbiana County is the most populous in the congressional and senatorial districts.

Hearing Awaited For Assault Case

A hearing is scheduled this afternoon at 2 in Municipal Court for Ronald Paul Davis, 20, of 205 Beechwood St., accused of assault and battery after ramming his fist through the window of a Chester man's auto Saturday night at the Bus Terminal.

Davis pleaded guilty to the charge at arraignment this morning before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. However, the court continued the case to hear testimony from the complaining witness, Garnet Ash, 551 California Ave., Chester.

Police said they heard of the case when summoned to the terminal on a report Davis was seated in the restaurant and bleeding profusely from a cut in the right forearm — an injury suffered when he allegedly shoved his hand through the window of Ash's car.

Another assault case was continued until Thursday at 9 a. m. after the defendant, Harold L. Johnston, 316 W. Church Ln., asked time to secure counsel. The charge was filed by Carol Johnston. The defendant is free on a $162 bond.

The concern submitted the lowest of three offers. Other prices per precinct were: Johnston-Watson Co. of Dayton, $23.75, and Heer Printing Co. of Columbus, $24.05.

Ballot places were granted to 32 Republicans and 35 Democrats seeking district and county offices in the primaries who filed before the deadline last Wednesday at 4 p. m. The board acted on each candidate's petitions to determine if it met legal requirements for a ballot place.

The board also granted ballot places for 10 tax levies proposed by county subdivisions and to 157 Democrats and 131 Republicans running for places on their parties' central committees. One of the party officials, known as precinct committeemen, is elected in each precinct.

The board is scheduled to certify today to the election boards of other affected counties the names of candidates for 18th District congressman, state senator in the 20th-22nd District and state party central committeemen and committeewomen. The district candidates file here because Columbiana County is the most populous in the congressional and senatorial districts.

Hearing Awaited For Assault Case

A hearing is scheduled this afternoon at 2 in Municipal Court for Ronald Paul Davis, 20, of 205 Beechwood St., accused of assault and battery after ramming his fist through the window of a Chester man's auto Saturday night at the Bus Terminal.

Davis pleaded guilty to the charge at arraignment this morning before Judge Samuel M. Chertoff. However, the court continued the case to hear testimony from the complaining witness, Garnet Ash, 551 California Ave., Chester.

Police said they heard of the case when summoned to the terminal on a report Davis was seated in the restaurant and bleeding profusely from a cut in the right forearm — an injury suffered when he allegedly shoved his hand through the window of Ash's car.

Another assault case was continued until Thursday at 9 a. m. after the defendant, Harold L. Johnston, 316 W. Church Ln., asked time to secure counsel. The charge was filed by Carol Johnston. The defendant is free on a $162 bond.

Mr., Mrs. Herbert Moore Establish Home At Chester

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert James Moore are residing in a newly-furnished home at 215 2nd St., Chester, following their marriage Jan. 24 at 2 o'clock in the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

The bride was Miss Donna Jones, daughter of Mrs. Virginia G. Jones, 256 W. 9th St., and her husband is the son of Mrs. Sarah E. Moore, 314 3rd St., Chester.

Palms, ferns and 7-branched candelabra formed the altar setting for the double-ring ceremony, with the Rev. M. Rudolph Miller, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Jessie Hall Kaufman, church organist, presented a half-hour of traditional wedding music. Mrs. Nelson Wright was the vocal soloist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Cyrus A. Shaffer, the bride wore a floor-length gown of crystal taffeta. The shirred, basque bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline of jeweled Venice lace and long, pointed sleeves. The bouffant skirt, highlighted with jewel-studded lace medallions, was styled with a bustle back ending in a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a pearl and jewel-studded crown. She observed all the traditions, including the six-pence in her shoe. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. James Staley was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Owens and Mrs. William Erlitz.

Their costumes, of various shades of winter green, were designed and made by the bride. The street-length gowns of irridescent chromespun taffeta featured bodices with boat necklines and short sleeves. Bows were placed at the back V-necklines and at the waists of the bouffant overskirts. Thye wore matching Dior bows for headpieces and shoes tinted to match their dresses. Their single-strand pearls and long gloves were gifts of the bride. They carried cascade bouquets of light pink carnations, deep pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Susan McAvoy, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McAvoy, was the flower girl. She wore a white nylon over pink taffeta dress with a white nylon braided headpiece. She carried a white basket filled with pink carnations and rosebuds and wore a gold locket, the gift of the bride.

James Staley was best man. Ushers were Larry Shaffer, cousin of the bride, and Earl Moore, brother of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a Navy dress and the bridegroom's mother wore peacock blue. White accessories and white orchid corsages complemented their attire.

MRS. HERBERT J. MOORE
Bride Of Jan. 24 Rites.

A reception for 175 followed in the social rooms under the supervision of the Amikitia Club. A three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bridal couple centered the buffet table. A white milkglass punch bowl and matching appointments highlighted the setting. A pink and green theme was used in the draped maline adorned with clusters of lily-of-the-valley. Party dolls dressed to match the bridal group were used, along with milkglass candelabra, on the bride's table. Mrs. Edward McLain presided at the guest register.

Out-of-town guests were from New Castle, Aliquippa, Weirton and Newell.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of East Liverpool High School and attended Ohio Valley Business College. She is dental assistant in the offices of Dr. John J. Laneve.

Her husband was graduated in 1952 from Chester High School and completed 4 years' service with the Air Force. He is employed at the Rem-Cru Corp. of Midland.

The rehearsal party was held the night preceding the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Chester Post 121 Plans Program At Veteran Hospital

Plans for sponsoring an entertainment program at the Veterans Hospital in Pittsburgh were discussed at a meeting of Chester American Legion Post 121 Monday night.

William Martin, commander, appointed M. J. Sweeney, Ernest John and Wayne Morrow to arrange the program, scheduled Feb. 28, at the hospital.

It was announced that Howard Knepper of Cincinnati, regional director of the Boy Scouts, will speak at the annual past commanders' banquet Feb. 20 at the post home.

Charles Morris, chairman of the student oratory contest, reported on the competition.

South Side Group Sets Events In Mardi Gras

The South Side Citizens' Association of Hookstown today announced the schedule of events for a Mardi Gras celebration Feb. 27 at the Hookstown school.

The theme will be "Big Top," according to Mrs. Harry Nelson, president.

The South Side Parent-Teacher Association will hold a public ham dinner from 5 to 7:30 p. m. at the high school cafeteria. Games, an auction and movies are planned for entertainment in the various rooms.

Floats will be judged at 7:30 and a king and queen will be crowned at 8 p. m.

A masquerade dance will be held from 9 to midnight in the all-purpose room at the elementary school. George Hamilton's orchestra will play.

The clothing fabric tweed is named for a river.

Woman At Wellsville Given Master's Degree

Mrs. Mable Lou Stine, 322 10th St., Wellsville, a former instructor at the City Hospital School of Nursing, received a master of science degree in nursing at commencement exercises last week at Western Reserve University at Cleveland.

She received her bachelor's degree in 1955 at the University of Pennsylvania. Attending the exercises in Cleveland were her husband, Kermitt R. Stine; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Braden, a sister, Miss Arlene Braden, a brother, C. A. Braden and his daughter, Patricia Sue, and a cousin, Mrs. Carl Householder, all of Wellsville, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wise of East Liverpool.

15 Schools Give $697 To Aid March Of Dimes

Fifteen East Liverpool district schools have contributed a total of $697.76 to boost the March of Dimes campaign, Richard G. Brian, southern county chairman of the drive, reported today.

The schools and their contributions are: Glenmoor, $37; Garfield, $29; Horace Mann, $40; Klondyke, $10; East Junior High, $21; Neville, $21; Pleasant Heights, $19; LaCroft, $29; Lincoln, $60; Taft, $63; McKinley, $54; Calcutta, $54; Beaver Local, $33; Westgate, $136, and St. Aloysius, $84.

The drive ended officially Jan. 31. Brian said he expects to announce an overall total soon. Coin containers in business places will be picked up by Boy Scouts after school today, he added.

The bouffant skirt, highlighted with jewel-studded lace medallions, was styled with a bustle back ending in a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a pearl and jewel-studded crown. She observed all the traditions, including the six-pence in her shoe. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. James Staley was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Owens and Mrs. William Erlitz.

Their costumes, of various shades of winter green, were designed and made by the bride. The street-length gowns of irridescent chromespun taffeta featured bodices with boat necklines and short sleeves. Bows were placed at the back V-necklines and at the waists of the bouffant overskirts. Thye wore matching Dior bows for headpieces and shoes tinted to match their dresses. Their single-strand pearls and long gloves were gifts of the bride. They carried cascade bouquets of light pink carnations, deep pink roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Susan McAvoy, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McAvoy, was the flower girl. She wore a white nylon over pink taffeta dress with a white nylon braided headpiece. She carried a white basket filled with pink carnations and rosebuds and wore a gold locket, the gift of the bride.

James Staley was best man. Ushers were Larry Shaffer, cousin of the bride, and Earl Moore, brother of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride chose a Navy dress and the bridegroom's mother wore peacock blue. White accessories and white orchid corsages complemented their attire.

MRS. HERBERT J. MOORE
Bride Of Jan. 24 Rites.

A reception for 175 followed in the social rooms under the supervision of the Amikitia Club. A three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bridal couple centered the buffet table. A white milkglass punch bowl and matching appointments highlighted the setting. A pink and green theme was used in the draped maline adorned with clusters of lily-of-the-valley. Party dolls dressed to match the bridal group were used, along with milkglass candelabra, on the bride's table. Mrs. Edward McLain presided at the guest register.

Out-of-town guests were from New Castle, Aliquippa, Weirton and Newell.

The bride is a 1955 graduate of East Liverpool High School and attended Ohio Valley Business College. She is dental assistant in the offices of Dr. John J. Laneve.

Her husband was graduated in 1952 from Chester High School and completed 4 years' service with the Air Force. He is employed at the Rem-Cru Corp. of Midland.

The rehearsal party was held the night preceding the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

Chester Post 121 Plans Program At Veteran Hospital

Plans for sponsoring an entertainment program at the Veterans Hospital in Pittsburgh were discussed at a meeting of Chester American Legion Post 121 Monday night.

William Martin, commander, appointed M. J. Sweeney, Ernest John and Wayne Morrow to arrange the program, scheduled Feb. 28, at the hospital.

It was announced that Howard Knepper of Cincinnati, regional director of the Boy Scouts, will speak at the annual past commanders' banquet Feb. 20 at the post home.

Charles Morris, chairman of the student oratory contest, reported on the competition.

South Side Group Sets Events In Mardi Gras

The South Side Citizens' Association of Hookstown today announced the schedule of events for a Mardi Gras celebration Feb. 27 at the Hookstown school.

The theme will be "Big Top," according to Mrs. Harry Nelson, president.

The South Side Parent-Teacher Association will hold a public ham dinner from 5 to 7:30 p. m. at the high school cafeteria. Games, an auction and movies are planned for entertainment in the various rooms.

Floats will be judged at 7:30 and a king and queen will be crowned at 8 p. m.

A masquerade dance will be held from 9 to midnight in the all-purpose room at the elementary school. George Hamilton's orchestra will play.

The clothing fabric tweed is named for a river.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 49 years old and feel like 100. About five years ago I became friendly with a married man—as a matter of fact he was my milkman. I was married at the time but my husband was a poor lover. Of course he knew nothing of my romance.

Seven months ago my husband passed away. I know I should stop seeing this married man but I'm so lonesome I just can't make the break. The other day he took out his billfold and when I saw the picture of his wife and four beautiful children I felt like two cents.

What is a lonesome widow to do?—ALONE.

Dear Alone: You can put that show on the road. If this affair has been going on five years you were whooping it up long before you were a lonesome widow. Remember?

Tomorrow morning mark your milk card, "NOTHING, THANK YOU." And change dairies.

Family Tenement

Dear Ann: The house we live in is part of a run-down estate which my husband inherited. We share a home with his brother and family. On the adjoining lot is his sister and her family. On the other side is an unmarried sister-in-law who lives with her mother.

The brother-in-law who shares our home is a heavy drinker—or, I should say, a drunk. He's home a great deal and fights with the children as if he were a child himself.

My sister-in-law makes frequent trips out of town and leaves her three kids with me. My kids don't get along with hers.

My mother-in-law follows me around the house constantly when I try to clean and her yammering drives me nuts. When I see her coming I actually become dizzy and nauseated.

I've begged my husband to find another place but he says we'd be crazy to move as we live very inexpensively.

I feel myself cracking up. Please help me.—SINKING FAST

-:-

Dear Sinking: Your husband has found the most expensive way of saving money known to mankind. Tell him your sanity is at stake and he MUST rent you a place away from the relative settlement. In the long run it will be infinitely cheaper than institutional care for you and a housekeeper for your children.

Young Love

Dear Ann: I am a girl who is 9 years old. I used to be in love with the boy next door. Our mothers used to take walks together and push us in our baby carriages. This is how we met.

Then we moved away from that city. I was 5 years old. He didn't write to me but I can't blame him because he was only 5 himself and couldn't write.

This year I got a Christmas card from him but it was not the kind most people get. It was a card that somebody had sent to his parents. He crossed out the sender's name and signed his own. On the bottom he wrote, "Please write."

Do you think that I should write to him even if he was too cheap to buy me a card himself?—DEBORAH.

-:-

Dear Deborah: The thought is what counts and he DID think about you. Write to him anyway.

Confidentially

TO LET DOWN: This is a tough ol' world for most people. The only thing you can count on is your fingers. Quit feeling sorry for yourself and get back to work.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Deaths and Funerals

Illness Claims Potter At 58

Services will be held Thursday for Lawrence Monroe DeLong, 58, of Lawrenceville, who died Monday afternoon at 1:30 at the Osteopathic Hospital after a 6-month illness.

Born at St. Marys, W. Va., April 13, 1901, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Orlando DeLong, and came to Chester in 1923.

He was a shiphouse employe at the Homer Laughlin China Co. Plant 4. He was a member of the Church of Christ and an honorary member of American Legion Posts 163 and 121.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Nancy Shultz DeLong at home; a daughter, Mrs. Thelma Malone of Lawrenceville; two brothers, Payron DeLong and Clarence DeLong, both of Chester; three sisters, Mrs. Belle Robinson of East Liverpool and Mrs. Sallie Wright and Mrs. Della French, both of St. Marys, and two grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Thursday morning at 10:30 at the Arner Chester Chapel by the Rev. Cecil D. Dotson. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call this evening and Wednesday afternoon and evening at the funeral home.

Former Wellsville Pastor's Funeral Set

Services will be held tonight in Greensburg, Pa., for the Rev. Harold F. Post, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Wellsville, who died suddenly Sunday morning at his home. He was 62.

Rev. Post, who had been in ill health for a year, was born in Washington, Pa., and was graduated from Western Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh in 1924.

He was pastor of the Petersburg (Ohio) Presbyterian Church before accepting the pastorate of the Wellsville church in 1927. He served five years and was active in youth activities.

Rev. Post later was pastor of the Jeannette (Pa.) Presbyterian Church for 4 years and had been pastor of the Greensburg church for the last 24 years. He was a Navy chaplain during World War II.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sarah Dietz Post; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Peoples of Toledo; a son, Dr. Jarvis Post of Johnstown; a sister, Mrs. Robert Maxwell of Pittsburgh; a brother, Dr. McClain Post of Smithton, Pa., and three grandchildren.

Services will be held at 7:30 tonight at the Greensburg church. Burial will be Wednesday in Washington.

Mrs. Sam McAvoy

Mrs. Frances M. McAvoy, wife of Sam McAvoy, manager of the Hillcrest Farms orchard, died at 12:15 p. m. Monday at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh following a long illness. She was 52.

Born April 27, 1907, in Owosso, Mich., she was the daughter of the late Edward and Grace Small Purcell and had resided in the Chester area since 1942.

Mrs. McAvoy was manager of the apple salesroom at Hillcrest Farms and a member of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church and the auxiliary of American Legion Post 121, both in Chester.

Besides her husband, Mrs. McAvoy is survived by three sons, William J. McAvoy, at home, and Donald E. McAvoy and John F. McAvoy, both of Chester; three sisters, Mrs. Marguerite King and Mrs. Agnes Cunningham, both of Owosso, and Mrs. Virginia Leatherman of Flint, Mich.; a brother, James Purcell of Irvington, N. J., and four grandchildren.

Services will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday at the church. Burial will be in Locust Hill Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Dawson Funeral Home on Wednesday. The rosary will be recited Wednesday night at 7.

Herbert Bellville

Herbert Bellville, 58, of Washington St., Newell, died this morning at 3:30 at his home after a year's illness.

A warehouseman at the Homer Laughlin China Co., he was born at Wick, W. Va., coming to this area in 1934.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Marjorie Bellville, and a son, Glenn Bellville, both at home; five sisters, Mrs. Louise Givens, Mrs. Mary Sweat, Mrs. Stella Enon and Mrs. Oscar Wally, all of Chester R. D. 1, and Mrs. Opal Walker of Newell, and a brother, Earl Bellville of Amsterdam.

The body was removed to the Arner Funeral Home where arrangements are incomplete.

Infant McGivern

The infant son of Dennis and Judith Noles McGivern, 543 Broadway, Wellsville, was dead at birth at City Hospital Monday afternoon at 12:50.

Besides his parents, survivors include the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward McGivern of Wellsville, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Noles of Salineville.

Burial was held this afternoon in Woodland Cemetery at Salineville with the Kerr Funeral Home in charge.

Steve Roman

Requiem Mass for Steve Roman, 50 5th St., Midland, will be held at 10 a. m. Thursday at the Presentation Catholic Church by Fr. Francis Paul.

Burial will be in Beaver Cemetery. Friends may call at the Schwerha Funeral Home.

Mr. Roman died early Monday at the Rochester General Hospital following a week's illness.

Mrs. Carmella Fanelli

SALINEVILLE — Mrs. Carmella Fanelli, 2 E. Main St., longtime village resident, died Monday afternoon at 3:45 at her home following a heart attack. Mrs. Fanelli, 79, had been ill 3 years.

Born Dec. 10, 1880, in Italy, she had resided in Salineville 62 years. Her husband, Joseph Fanelli, is deceased.

She was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and the Altar and Rosary Society.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Cleda Peloso of Salineville and Mrs. Margaret Xenos of Cleveland; a son, Frank Fanelli of Salineville; a sister, Mrs. Sarah Furey of Hanoverton; a step-daughter, Mrs. Carmella Cozzoli of Salineville and four grandchildren.

Services will be conducted Thursday morning at 9 at the church by Fr. Homer Oliver. Burial will be in St. Patrick's Cemetery.

Ohio Man Is Charged With Murder Of Wife

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Evelyn Smith, 30, was holding her infant son, Barney, in her arms when her husband, after a family quarrel, lunged at her with a butcher knife. The infant was slashed seriously. She put the baby on a bed, then Otis Smith, 33, attacked his wife again and killed her.

That's the reconstruction by police who charged Smith with first-degree murder Monday. The youngster, one of five Smith children, was in serious condition.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 49 years old and feel like 100. About five years ago I became friendly with a married man—as a matter of fact he was my milkman. I was married at the time but my husband was a poor lover. Of course he knew nothing of my romance.

Seven months ago my husband passed away. I know I should stop seeing this married man but I'm so lonesome I just can't make the break. The other day he took out his billfold and when I saw the picture of his wife and four beautiful children I felt like two cents.

What is a lonesome widow to do?—ALONE.

Dear Alone: You can put that show on the road. If this affair has been going on five years you were whooping it up long before you were a lonesome widow. Remember?

Tomorrow morning mark your milk card, "NOTHING, THANK YOU." And change dairies.

Family Tenement

Dear Ann: The house we live in is part of a run-down estate which my husband inherited. We share a home with his brother and family. On the adjoining lot is his sister and her family. On the other side is an unmarried sister-in-law who lives with her mother.

The brother-in-law who shares our home is a heavy drinker—or, I should say, a drunk. He's home a great deal and fights with the children as if he were a child himself.

My sister-in-law makes frequent trips out of town and leaves her three kids with me. My kids don't get along with hers.

My mother-in-law follows me around the house constantly when I try to clean and her yammering drives me nuts. When I see her coming I actually become dizzy and nauseated.

I've begged my husband to find another place but he says we'd be crazy to move as we live very inexpensively.

-:-

Dear Sinking: Your husband has found the most expensive way of saving money known to mankind. Tell him your sanity is at stake and he MUST rent you a place away from the relative settlement. In the long run it will be infinitely cheaper than institutional care for you and a housekeeper for your children.

Young Love

Dear Ann: I am a girl who is 9 years old. I used to be in love with the boy next door. Our mothers used to take walks together and push us in our baby carriages. This is how we met.

Then we moved away from that city. I was 5 years old. He didn't write to me but I can't blame him because he was only 5 himself and couldn't write.

This year I got a Christmas card from him but it was not the kind most people get. It was a card that somebody had sent to his parents. He crossed out the sender's name and signed his own. On the bottom he wrote, "Please write."

Do you think that I should write to him even if he was too cheap to buy me a card himself?—DEBORAH.

Dear Deborah: The thought is what counts and he DID think about you. Write to him anyway.

Confidentially

TO LET DOWN: This is a tough ol' world for most people. The only thing you can count on is your fingers. Quit feeling sorry for yourself and get back to work.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Out Of The Air

By MARIE TORRE

Poor Housewife Offered Only TV Reruns

They used to pity the poor working girl, but since television took over the home, they're pitying the poor housewife. Who're they? All of us day workers who can't sit by a television set in the daylight hours, though one must wonder, upon perusal of a typical 9-to-5 weekday on the TV logs, what possibly could draw anybody to the box in the living room!

Marie Torre

Television by day is a labyrinth of reruns. Just as Sunday afternoons is TV's intellectual ghetto, daytime television is a repository for repeat shows, most of them giddy comedies in fourth, fifth, sixth or seventh runs.

WITH RECENT industry reports indicating that more and more reruns are to be dumped on the daytime market, we were prompted to count the number of old refrains now being played in the daylight hours and we found that during an average eight-hour day, from 9 to 5, television offers 21 series of half-hour repeat shows.

Think of it! Ten and a half hours of good televisiion time is devoted each day to fare that numbs the intellect, not to mention other narcotics on the daytime scene, such as old movies, soap operas, game shows and a few variety programs addicted to froth.

If it can be believed that television adheres to the "give-the-people-what-they-want" principle, those who prescribe for daytime television regard the average housewife as an addle-pated wench who'd rather escape life than be mentally stirred.

BUT IS THIS so?

The record provides an answer in the negative, and this applies to the present as well as the past.

Today the only program on daytime television that rates serious consideration is a series of specials which CBS presents once every six or eight weeks or so. This is "Woman."

Inexplicably, the success of "Woman" hasn't moved network chieftains away from reruns to thoughts of theatrical substance in the afternoon hours.

"Woman" has been accorded TV awards; it has been praised by lay and professional viewers; and it has been endorsed by woman's groups pledged to civic responsibility.

-:-

SOME OF THE better memories of daytime television's past were similarly received, but now reruns are being shown in their place. The reference is to "Matinee Theater," "The Sam Levenson Show" and Arlene Francis' "Home" show, to mention a few.

Interestingly, Miss Francis says she still receives letters from women viewers who continue to mourn for the old "Home" show. On occasion, she pines for the good old "Home" days, too.

"Every now and then," she added, "a rumor turns up about reactivating 'Home,' but always it turns out to be just talk. That goes for my whole television career of late, except for good old reliable 'What's My Line?' which came into its 11th year last Sunday.

"Television seems to be an operation of spurts and impulses, and at the moment I guess I'm not on the right kilocycle."

"PERSON TO PERSON" has been given a reprieve — until next September, at least. If not for an insurance company, which just agreed to sponsor half of the program, it would have been removed after the Feb. 19 show. . . .

A lot of people must want to know about "Love, Marriage and Sex," which happens to be the title of the Dr. Joyce Brothers' recording. The disc is in its second pressing, meaning that a minimum of 10,000 records already have been sold. . . .

Martin Block, who spent his 25th anniversary as a disc jockey raising money for the Heart Fund last Wednesday on ABC radio, collected a total of $51,000. . . .

Violence on TV is responsible for most of the criticism hurled at the medium, but one of the most violent of the gangster shows, "The Untouchables," is rating higher and higher. Its last episode registered 27.8 against the opposing party's 7.5.

Egg Pricing Details Listed

Farm wholesale prices on eggs, which have received publicity because of extremely low levels, are only part of the total price of eggs, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Transportation, grading and packing will add 6 to 10 cents a dozen to the cost, depending on such factors as egg quality, distance from markets, storage and labor costs. Another 8 or 10 cents will be added for handling, displaying and retailing costs, which will make eggs cost the ultimate consumer 14 to 20 cents more a dozen than the ungraded farm product in case lots.

If the farmer does all of these functions of marketing, his price will reflect the costs just as does the retailer. Many producers will size, grade, pack and transport eggs to a market and so their prices will reflect all costs except retailing and their prices will be about 10 cents above the wholesale price, depending on the grade.

In other words, retailers can expect to pay more for a packaged, cleaned, sized and graded product than the ungraded case lot price and consumers can normally expect to pay 14 to 20 cents more than this farm price when they buy eggs in the store.

Watkins reported that all of these prices add up to an amount which still leaves eggs an attractive proposition for most buyers, regardless of where they may buy their eggs. There are few other foods on the market more economical, he said. Top quality protein food put up in protioned packages with little waste at about 30 cents a pound is mighty hard to beat, according to Watkins.

Midland Kaycees Hold Degree Rites

About 45, including 17 candidates, attended the exemplification of the first degree held by Council 2005 Midland Knights of Columbus, Sunday night in the lyceum of the Presentation Catholic Church.

Midland had 13 candidates and the others were from Beaver Falls and Rochester. Fr. Robert Garland, assistant pastor of Presentation Church, addressed the group.

Guests included John Sipple of Beaver Falls, state chairman of council activities; John Slyman, grand knight of the Fr. James Reid Council of Rochester, and Emeric Davis of Midland, district deputy.

Louis Bruno, grand knight, was in charge of plans. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Larry Cuccaro.

The next meeting will be Feb. 22.

1st Methodists To Hold Father And Son Dinner

The annual Father and Son banquet of the First Methodist Church will be held Wednesday at 6 p. m. in the church social rooms.

Honored guests will be the basketball team sponsored by the church and its coaches.

The Dixieland Band will furnish music. It is comprised of Tom Fannin, Dan Richards, Ron McAttee, Dave Pennybaker, Ricky Sayre, Pete Mullen and Mike Bloor.

Dr. C. M. Mayberry will screen pictures of the boyhood home of Abraham Lincoln, along with a commentary on his life. James Lang will present a magician's act.

The event is sponsored by the Asbury-Power Class. Robert E. Boyce is program chairman. Edward Myler is in charge of arrangements. Lloyd Cunningham, president, will preside. The WSCS will serve the dinner.

Meeting Date Altered By Lisbon School Unit

Lincoln School Parent - Teacher Association of Lisbon will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m., instead of the usual second Monday of the month, Monty Muntean, president, announced.

Lincoln PTA will visit McKinley PTA Moday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p. m. All Lincoln parents have been requested to attend the joint meeting at McKinley, Muntean said.

Lewis Kinney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet for dinner Thursday at 6:30 at the Hotel Wick. Miss Helen Ramsey will have the program on the topic "Patriotic Women of History."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lewton of Massillon, former residents of Lisbon, called on Lisbon friends Sunday.

Suspect Bound Over For Burglary Attempt

WEIRTON — Alberto L. Cartier, 29, of Weirton was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury at a hearing Monday in Municipal Court on a charge of attempted burglary.

Cartier was shot and wounded by Weirton Police Friday morning while attempting to burglarize two Main St. establishments.

He was bound over to the April term of the Grand Jury under $5,000 bond by Judge Norman Ferrari Jr. Police said he is charged with breaking and entering of the Davis Men's Store and the Kaufman Hardware and Supply Co.

School Music To Pay Tribute To World Of Entertainment

The concert band will feature selections in a musical tribute to the entertainment world of television, Broadway and Hollywood, at the mid-winter concert of the band and choir of East Junior High School tonight at 7:30 at the school auditorium.

The program will be directed by Miss Burdene K. Bowman, school choir director, and Vincent L. Maola, school band director.

The choral portion will consist of: "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" (Roger-Hammerstein), "The Teddy Bears' Picnic" (Bratton), "The Picnic Song" (Dello-Dello) and "Moonlight Bay" (Wenrich - Madden), by the seventh grade choir.

The eighth grade choir will present "Ifca's Castle" (Czechoslovakian folk song), "With a Hey and a Hi and a Ho Ho Ho" (Curtis), "Green Cathedral" (Hahn - Johnstone) and "The Little Worm" (Sachs).

The eighth grade ensemble will sing "Velvet Shoes" (Evans).

Three selections will be presented by the ninth grade choir, "Comin Thru the Rye" (Simeone), "Let Us Break Bread Together" (Kennedy-Fragna) and "Gonna Ride Up In the Chariot" (spiritual).

The accompanist will be Mrs. Dorothy Lynch.

The concert band will open with "Danse Pavane" (Cacavas), followed with "The United States Steel Suite," which includes "U.S. Steel March," "River of Steel" and "Tower of Steel" (Green).

A cornet trio, Floyd McElhaney, Floyd Galloway and Roger Vincent, will present "March of the Missilemen" (Dedrick). Excerpts will be given from "Brigadoon" (Loewe-Gordon); "Si! Trocadero Mambo" (Walters), "Theme from Peter Gunn" (Mancini-Warrington), "This Old Man," Novelty arrangement by Robert Norman and featuring fifes; "When You Wish Upon a Star" (Washington-Gordon) and "Look Forward," concert march by Olivadoti.

There will be no admission charge for the concert but donations will be accepted at the door afterwards.

Chemical Concern And Ware Firm Close Plant's Sale

Sale of the plant of the former Steubenville Pottery Co. to Barium & Chemicals, Inc., of Willoughby was concluded Monday, winding up negotiations that started late in 1959.

The chemical concern said manufacturing operations will begin "in a few months." The deal for the 37-acre riverfront tract and a building containing 165,000 square feet was ratified by the chemical concern's stockholders a few days ago. It had been approved in October by stockholders of the pottery company.

The concern manufactures more than 60 chemical compounds of barium, strontium, calcium, manganese, antimony and related chemicals. Special proprietary brand compounds are produced for the steel industry, heat-treating industry and brick and tile manufacturing.

Organized in 1938, the company is headed by Albert Pavlik, president. Albert Pavlik Jr. and Douglas Naylor are vice presidents.

The officials said the move is part of a long-planned expansion program. They declined to estimate employment at the Steubenville plant until surveys of production capacity have been completed.

The deal for the plant was made with the assistance of the Steubenville Chamber of Commerce and the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Weirton Steelworker Loses $135,000 Suit

PITTSBURGH—Regis C. Mimm, 53, of Pittsburgh has received $135,000 in damages for injuries suffered in an auto crash in nearby Wilkinsburg involving a Weirton Steel Co. employe.

The money was awarded by an Allegheny County Common Pleas Court jury Monday.

Mimm, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, claimed the crash on Aug. 28, 1957, left him partially paralyzed, blind in one eye, impaired his hearing, and caused permanent brain injury.

He charged that Harry O. Pollock Jr., 28, of Wilmerding drove through a red traffic light and rammed his car, overturning it. Pollock is a tester at Weirton Steel at Weirton.

To Address Seniors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Board of Education President Charlton Myers will deliver the commencement address at Put-In-Bay High School May 27. The audience won't be too large. The school on the Lake Erie island has only 19 students—and the graduating class consists of two girls.

Grades Bring Citation To 31

Thirty-one Columbiana County students attained the dean's list in the College of Education at Kent State University during the fall quarter.

Two East Liverpool girls, Beverly J. Allen, 323 Blakeley St., and Lillian E. Kohler, 2230 Pennsylvania Ave., topped the list with perfect 4.0 averages.

Other city students on the list are Nancy S. Cottrill, Staunton Ave., Glenmoor, Josephine L. Lomba of R. D., Brenda Marshall, 316 Ridgeway Ave., Judith N. Miller, 3231 St. Clair Ave., Ruth E. Ramsey, 1703 Globe St., Donna Tweed, 115 W. 3rd St., Jacqueline A. Urso, 709 Oakland Ave., Carol L. Vermillion of LaCroft Ave., and June Wakefield, 212 Pennsylvania Ave.

Also named from the county are: Margaret Hayman of Hanoverton; Teresa A. Pandin of Homeworth R. D. 1, Lynn E. Elliott of Rogers, Robert E. Thomas, 400 Water St., Salineville, Patricia A. Dangelo of Summitville.

Barbara E. Davis and Nancy L. Perrine of Columbiana, Darlene A. Deville and Joyce M. Prudner of Lisbon, Kathleen Akenhead, Patricia A. Dishong and Mary A. Elliott of New Waterford.

Laura A. Ammon, Eileen M. Hall, Nina Amelia, Helen M. Stokovic, Barbara J. Thomas and Susan E. Williams, all of the Salem area.

Students At Bible College End 100 Hours Of Praying

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Students at a little Bible college here completed 100 hours of praying, singing and confessing their sins Monday night.

Outside the chapel at the Central Bible Institute, Dean of Women Lottie Riekehof told a newsman: "This is doing them more good than two or three years of classes."

The institute president, the Rev. J. Robert Ashcroft, said the marathon prayer service "is a practical demonstration" of his theory of religious education.

The institute is operated by the Assemblies of God, a fundamentalist denomination which makes its world headquarters in Springfield. The 350 students are studying for the ministry.

The spontaneous prayer meeting began Thursday night after a special service by the Rev. Warren Litzman of Waxahaxhie, Tex. The evangelist, who has been conducting campus services for more than a week, remained in the chapel most of the time.

Class work has stopped at the school. There was an attempt to hold some classes Monday but, as a student said, "they weren't really classes at all."

Faculty members joined the students in the chapel, where the crowd varied from 200 to 350.

Wool Growers Given Reminder In Hancock

Hancock County wool growers were reminded today that the marketing year for purposes of the 1959 wool program will end March 31, C. C. Herron, chairman of the County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee reported.

The wool program is conducted under the National Wool Act of 1954. Payments under the 1959 program will be made this summer when payment rates are determined on the basis of the national average price received by producers for shorn wool during the 1959 marketing year.

Applications for payment under the 1958 program must be filed with the county ASC office in New Cumberland not later than April 30, Herron said.

Lisbon Man Given Credit For Saving Plane In Distress

Airman 2C Terry DeJane, son of Mrs. Bertha DeJane of E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, has been credited with saving an Air Force C-124 Globemaster and the lives of its crew.

The pilot, with one engine of his aircraft out and another failing, was forced to make an emergency landing with rain and fog making it all but impossible for him to see the runway of his home base in England.

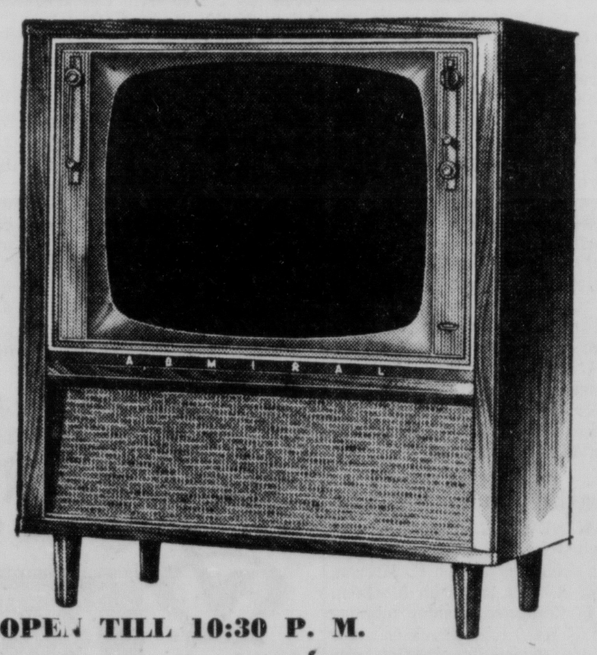

The huge aircraft landed safely after being "talked down" on a precision radar approach by Airman DeJane. A "save" such as this is the highest achievement an air traffic controller can make, the Air Force said.

Airman DeJane is due to return home in the near future.

Poor Housewife Offered Only TV Reruns

They used to pity the poor working girl, but since television took over the home, they're pitying the poor housewife. Who're they? All of us day workers who can't sit by a television set in the daylight hours, though one must wonder, upon perusal of a typical 9-to-5 weekday on the TV logs, what possibly could draw anybody to the box in the living room!

Marie Torre

Television by day is a labyrinth of reruns. Just as Sunday afternoons is TV's intellectual ghetto, daytime television is a repository for repeat shows, most of them giddy comedies in fourth, fifth, sixth or seventh runs.

WITH RECENT industry reports indicating that more and more reruns are to be dumped on the daytime market, we were prompted to count the number of old refrains now being played in the daylight hours and we found that during an average eight-hour day, from 9 to 5, television offers 21 series of half-hour repeat shows.

Think of it! Ten and a half hours of good televisiion time is devoted each day to fare that numbs the intellect, not to mention other narcotics on the daytime scene, such as old movies, soap operas, game shows and a few variety programs addicted to froth.

If it can be believed that television adheres to the "give-the-people-what-they-want" principle, those who prescribe for daytime television regard the average housewife as an addle-pated wench who'd rather escape life than be mentally stirred.

BUT IS THIS so?

The record provides an answer in the negative, and this applies to the present as well as the past.

Today the only program on daytime television that rates serious consideration is a series of specials which CBS presents once every six or eight weeks or so. This is "Woman."

Inexplicably, the success of "Woman" hasn't moved network chieftains away from reruns to thoughts of theatrical substance in the afternoon hours.

"Woman" has been accorded TV awards; it has been praised by lay and professional viewers; and it has been endorsed by woman's groups pledged to civic responsibility.

-:-

SOME OF THE better memories of daytime television's past were similarly received, but now reruns are being shown in their place. The reference is to "Matinee Theater," "The Sam Levenson Show" and Arlene Francis' "Home" show, to mention a few.

Interestingly, Miss Francis says she still receives letters from women viewers who continue to mourn for the old "Home" show. On occasion, she pines for the good old "Home" days, too.

"Every now and then," she added, "a rumor turns up about reactivating 'Home,' but always it turns out to be just talk. That goes for my whole television career of late, except for good old reliable 'What's My Line?' which came into its 11th year last Sunday.

"Television seems to be an operation of spurts and impulses, and at the moment I guess I'm not on the right kilocycle."

"PERSON TO PERSON" has been given a reprieve — until next September, at least. If not for an insurance company, which just agreed to sponsor half of the program, it would have been removed after the Feb. 19 show. . . .

A lot of people must want to know about "Love, Marriage and Sex," which happens to be the title of the Dr. Joyce Brothers' recording. The disc is in its second pressing, meaning that a minimum of 10,000 records already have been sold. . . .

Martin Block, who spent his 25th anniversary as a disc jockey raising money for the Heart Fund last Wednesday on ABC radio, collected a total of $51,000. . . .

Violence on TV is responsible for most of the criticism hurled at the medium, but one of the most violent of the gangster shows, "The Untouchables," is rating higher and higher. Its last episode registered 27.8 against the opposing party's 7.5.

Egg Pricing Details Listed

Farm wholesale prices on eggs, which have received publicity because of extremely low levels, are only part of the total price of eggs, according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Transportation, grading and packing will add 6 to 10 cents a dozen to the cost, depending on such factors as egg quality, distance from markets, storage and labor costs. Another 8 or 10 cents will be added for handling, displaying and retailing costs, which will make eggs cost the ultimate consumer 14 to 20 cents more a dozen than the ungraded farm product in case lots.

If the farmer does all of these functions of marketing, his price will reflect the costs just as does the retailer. Many producers will size, grade, pack and transport eggs to a market and so their prices will reflect all costs except retailing and their prices will be about 10 cents above the wholesale price, depending on the grade.

In other words, retailers can expect to pay more for a packaged, cleaned, sized and graded product than the ungraded case lot price and consumers can normally expect to pay 14 to 20 cents more than this farm price when they buy eggs in the store.

Watkins reported that all of these prices add up to an amount which still leaves eggs an attractive proposition for most buyers, regardless of where they may buy their eggs. There are few other foods on the market more economical, he said. Top quality protein food put up in protioned packages with little waste at about 30 cents a pound is mighty hard to beat, according to Watkins.

Midland Kaycees Hold Degree Rites

About 45, including 17 candidates, attended the exemplification of the first degree held by Council 2005 Midland Knights of Columbus, Sunday night in the lyceum of the Presentation Catholic Church.

Midland had 13 candidates and the others were from Beaver Falls and Rochester. Fr. Robert Garland, assistant pastor of Presentation Church, addressed the group.

Guests included John Sipple of Beaver Falls, state chairman of council activities; John Slyman, grand knight of the Fr. James Reid Council of Rochester, and Emeric Davis of Midland, district deputy.

Louis Bruno, grand knight, was in charge of plans. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Larry Cuccaro.

The next meeting will be Feb. 22.

1st Methodists To Hold Father And Son Dinner

The annual Father and Son banquet of the First Methodist Church will be held Wednesday at 6 p. m. in the church social rooms.

Honored guests will be the basketball team sponsored by the church and its coaches.

The Dixieland Band will furnish music. It is comprised of Tom Fannin, Dan Richards, Ron McAttee, Dave Pennybaker, Ricky Sayre, Pete Mullen and Mike Bloor.

Dr. C. M. Mayberry will screen pictures of the boyhood home of Abraham Lincoln, along with a commentary on his life. James Lang will present a magician's act.

The event is sponsored by the Asbury-Power Class. Robert E. Boyce is program chairman. Edward Myler is in charge of arrangements. Lloyd Cunningham, president, will preside. The WSCS will serve the dinner.

Meeting Date Altered By Lisbon School Unit

Lincoln School Parent - Teacher Association of Lisbon will meet Thursday at 7:30 p. m., instead of the usual second Monday of the month, Monty Muntean, president, announced.

Lincoln PTA will visit McKinley PTA Moday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p. m. All Lincoln parents have been requested to attend the joint meeting at McKinley, Muntean said.

Lewis Kinney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet for dinner Thursday at 6:30 at the Hotel Wick. Miss Helen Ramsey will have the program on the topic "Patriotic Women of History."

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lewton of Massillon, former residents of Lisbon, called on Lisbon friends Sunday.

Suspect Bound Over For Burglary Attempt

WEIRTON — Alberto L. Cartier, 29, of Weirton was bound over to the Hancock County Grand Jury at a hearing Monday in Municipal Court on a charge of attempted burglary.

Cartier was shot and wounded by Weirton Police Friday morning while attempting to burglarize two Main St. establishments.

He was bound over to the April term of the Grand Jury under $5,000 bond by Judge Norman Ferrari Jr. Police said he is charged with breaking and entering of the Davis Men's Store and the Kaufman Hardware and Supply Co.

School Music To Pay Tribute To World Of Entertainment

The concern band will feature selections in a musical tribute to the entertainment world of television, Broadway and Hollywood, at the mid-winter concert of the band and choir of East Junior High School tonight at 7:30 at the school auditorium.

The program will be directed by Miss Burdene K. Bowman, school choir director, and Vincent L. Maola, school band director.

The choral portion will consist of: "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning" (Roger-Hammerstein), "The Teddy Bears' Picnic" (Bratton), "The Picnic Song" (Dello-Dello) and "Moonlight Bay" (Wenrich - Madden), by the seventh grade choir.

The eighth grade choir will present "Ifca's Castle" (Czechoslovakian folk song), "With a Hey and a Hi and a Ho Ho Ho" (Curtis), "Green Cathedral" (Hahn - Johnstone) and "The Little Worm" (Sachs).

The eighth grade ensemble will sing "Velvet Shoes" (Evans).

Three selections will be presented by the ninth grade choir, "Comin Thru the Rye" (Simeone), "Let Us Break Bread Together" (Kennedy-Fragna) and "Gonna Ride Up In the Chariot" (spiritual).

The accompanist will be Mrs. Dorothy Lynch.

The concert band will open with "Danse Pavane" (Cacavas), followed with "The United States Steel Suite," which includes "U.S. Steel March," "River of Steel" and "Tower of Steel" (Green).

A cornet trio, Floyd McElhaney, Floyd Galloway and Roger Vincent, will present "March of the Missilemen" (Dedrick). Excerpts will be given from "Brigadoon" (Loewe-Gordon); "Si! Trocadero Mambo" (Walters), "Theme from Peter Gunn" (Mancini-Warrington), "This Old Man," Novelty arrangement by Robert Norman and featuring fifes; "When You Wish Upon a Star" (Washington-Gordon) and "Look Forward," concert march by Olivadoti.

There will be no admission charge for the concert but donations will be accepted at the door afterwards.

Chemical Concern And Ware Firm Close Plant's Sale

Sale of the plant of the former Steubenville Pottery Co. to Barium & Chemicals, Inc., of Willoughby was concluded Monday, winding up negotiations that started late in 1959.

The chemical concern said manufacturing operations will begin "in a few months." The deal for the 37-acre riverfront tract and a building containing 165,000 square feet was ratified by the chemical concern's stockholders a few days ago. It had been approved in October by stockholders of the pottery company.

The concern manufactures more than 60 chemical compounds of barium, strontium, calcium, manganese, antimony and related chemicals. Special proprietary brand compounds are produced for the steel industry, heat-treating industry and brick and tile manufacturing.

Organized in 1938, the company is headed by Albert Pavlik, president. Albert Pavlik Jr. and Douglas Naylor are vice presidents.

The officials said the move is part of a long-planned expansion program. They declined to estimate employment at the Steubenville plant until surveys of production capacity have been completed.

The deal for the plant was made with the assistance of the Steubenville Chamber of Commerce and the Upper Ohio Valley Development Council.

Weirton Steelworker Loses $135,000 Suit

PITTSBURGH—Regis C. Mimm, 53, of Pittsburgh has received $135,000 in damages for injuries suffered in an auto crash in nearby Wilkinsburg involving a Weirton Steel Co. employe.

The money was awarded by an Allegheny County Common Pleas Court jury Monday.

Mimm, a Pennsylvania Railroad brakeman, claimed the crash on Aug. 28, 1957, left him partially paralyzed, blind in one eye, impaired his hearing, and caused permanent brain injury.

He charged that Harry O. Pollock Jr., 28, of Wilmerding drove through a red traffic light and rammed his car, overturning it. Pollock is a tester at Weirton Steel at Weirton.

To Address Seniors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Board of Education President Charlton Myers will deliver the commencement address at Put-In-Bay High School May 27. The audience won't be too large. The school on the Lake Erie island has only 19 students—and the graduating class consists of two girls.

Grades Bring Citation To 31

Thirty-one Columbiana County students attained the dean's list in the College of Education at Kent State University during the fall quarter.

Two East Liverpool girls, Beverly J. Allen, 323 Blakeley St., and Lillian E. Kohler, 2230 Pennsylvania Ave., topped the list with perfect 4.0 averages.

Other city students on the list are Nancy S. Cottrill, Staunton Ave., Glenmoor, Josephine L. Lomba of R. D., Brenda Marshall, 316 Ridgeway Ave., Judith N. Miller, 3231 St. Clair Ave., Ruth E. Ramsey, 1703 Globe St., Donna Tweed, 115 W. 3rd St., Jacqueline A. Urso, 709 Oakland Ave., Carol L. Vermillion of LaCroft Ave., and June Wakefield, 212 Pennsylvania Ave.

Also named from the county are: Margaret Hayman of Hanoverton; Teresa A. Pandin of Homeworth R. D. 1, Lynn E. Elliott of Rogers, Robert E. Thomas, 400 Water St., Salineville, Patricia A. Dangelo of Summitville.

Barbara E. Davis and Nancy L. Perrine of Columbiana, Darlene A. Deville and Joyce M. Prudner of Lisbon, Kathleen Akenhead, Patricia A. Dishong and Mary A. Elliott of New Waterford.

Laura A. Ammon, Eileen M. Hall, Nina Amelia, Helen M. Stokovic, Barbara J. Thomas and Susan E. Williams, all of the Salem area.

Students At Bible College End 100 Hours Of Praying

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Students at a little Bible college here completed 100 hours of praying, singing and confessing their sins Monday night.

Outside the chapel at the Central Bible Institute, Dean of Women Lottie Riekehof told a newsman: "This is doing them more good than two or three years of classes."

The institute president, the Rev. J. Robert Ashcroft, said the marathon prayer service "is a practical demonstration" of his theory of religious education.

The institute is operated by the Assemblies of God, a fundamentalist denomination which makes its world headquarters in Springfield. The 350 students are studying for the ministry.

The spontaneous prayer meeting began Thursday night after a special service by the Rev. Warren Litzman of Waxahaxhie, Tex. The evangelist, who has been conducting campus services for more than a week, remained in the chapel most of the time.

Class work has stopped at the school. There was an attempt to hold some classes Monday but, as a student said, "they weren't really classes at all."

Faculty members joined the students in the chapel, where the crowd varied from 200 to 350.

Wool Growers Given Reminder In Hancock

Hancock County wool growers were reminded today that the marketing year for purposes of the 1959 wool program will end March 31, C. C. Herron, chairman of the County Agricultural, Stabilization and Conservation Committee reported.

The wool program is conducted under the National Wool Act of 1954. Payments under the 1959 program will be made this summer when payment rates are determined on the basis of the national average price received by producers for shorn wool during the 1959 marketing year.

Applications for payment under the 1958 program must be filed with the county ASC office in New Cumberland not later than April 30, Herron said.

Lisbon Man Given Credit For Saving Plane In Distress

Airman 2C Terry DeJane, son of Mrs. Bertha DeJane of E. Lincoln Way, Lisbon, has been credited with saving an Air Force C-124 Globemaster and the lives of its crew.

The pilot, with one engine of his aircraft out and another failing, was forced to make an emergency landing with rain and fog making it all but impossible for him to see the runway of his home base in England.

The huge aircraft landed safely after being "talked down" on a precision radar approach by Airman DeJane. A "save" such as this is the highest achievement an air traffic controller can make, the Air Force said.

Airman DeJane is due to return home in the near future.

Lisbon Street Head Named By Vote Of 4-2

LISBON — Richard Roberts, 245 Maple St., was appointed street commissioner to replace Thirl Flugan, now fire chief at the meeting of Village Council Monday evening.

Mayor Dean Stockman made the appointment and four Council members approved with two against. He will receive $4,680 per year. He was employed as an oiler at the Buckey Coal Co. and also worked at a brickyard. He will begin his duties Feb. 16, serving to Jan. 30, 1961.

Mayor Stockman gave the oath to Mrs. Blanche Neill as the new Council member to succeed W. J. Loudon, who resigned due to ill health.

Council authorized the mayor to issue warrants for arrests in all parking meter violations for the last two years in which the $1 fines have not been paid. The police committee met with Patrolman John Varner and Solicitor Joseph Barronzzi and warrants will be issued starting Monday.

Chief Flugan reported he had appointed George Porter and Frank Morlan, firemen, on the firemen's pension board. Joseph Dornan and Robert Lower were appointed from Council and another member will be appointed by the mayor to fill out the five-man board.

John Thompson was given permission to use the village streets for the annual Lions Club street fair in September or October. He produced statements of all merchants who will be involved and the majority favor the fair.

Councilman Robert Kelm reported he had contacted the Lisbon Historical Society, which said it has no funds to restore the old cannon. Tom Pike of Guilford Lake, gun collector, gave Council dates by which he could have the relic repaired and ready for show at his historic museum, if given the go ahead.

Council tabled the matter until the next meeting while the Solicitor studies a contract which gives Pike the right to show the cannon at his museum for the next 10 years if he repairs it.

Council also discussed the 3-year-old police cruiser which has cost the village $1,900 for repairs, not including insurance, tires, oil, gas or batteries. Council considered the posssibilty of renting a cruiser and will check on other police cars used by the village for a comparison of the costs.

The expense of operating the sedan used by village firemen to haul a pump to township fires and to pump out village cellars was discussed. Sidewalk repairs also came up for discussion after a report that a woman fell recently on N. Market St. just north of Park Ave. Owners will be notified to have walks fixed, otherwise the village will have them repaired and put the costs on the householders' tax duplicate.

No action was taken on several other matters, including need of brighter lights in the vicinity of Nelson and Chestnut Sts., parking near alleys and street corner and non-use of parking meters on Friday nights.

Councilmen said more people shop on Friday nights than on Saturdays, when stores are closed at 6.

Mayor Stockman reported $254.30 in fines, costs and traffic cases during January.

The next meeting is Feb. 22 at 7:30 p. m.

Man In Stabbing Case Held For Grand Jury

LISBON — Earl Allen Blythe, 47, of Salem pleaded not guilty when arraigned before County Judge Earl Spaulding at East Palestine on a charge of cutting with intent to wound or kill. He was bound over to the April Grand Jury under $500 bond. He made bond and was released.

Blythe was charged in an affidavit filed by police chief Dalton Pike of Lisbon after he is alleged to have cut Clyde Rummel, 38, of East Palestine R. D. in an argument on the Logstown Rd., Friday about 9 p. m.

Rummel is in fair condition at the Salem City Hospital where he was sent early Saturday morning by an East Palestine physician after he came to his office for treatment of a stab wound.

2 Defendants Taken To Prison At Columbus

LISBON — Roy L. Campbell, 31, of R. D. 4 and Walter R. Kline, 59, of Alliance were conveyed by sheriff's deputies to the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus today to begin terms imposed by Common Pleas Court.

Campbell was sentenced to 1-15 years for burglary of the Zeigler Tire Service near Hanoverton and Kline 1-20 years for forgery in passing a $25 check at the Sears Roebuck & Co. in Salem.

Both were sentenced by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Must Stand Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—Charles T. Crawford, 21, charged with raping a 6-year-old girl and stuffing her inside a running refrigerator when she complained, must stand trial. Common Pleas Judge Frank Gusweiler so ruled Monday after a psychiatrist said examination indicated Crawford is both legally and medically sane. The girl's stepfather found her after the attack last Aug. 29 and she recovered.

Reports, Promotion Discussed At PTA Federation's Meeting

The clarity of reports and promotion were discussed by a panel at the meeting of the City Federation of Parent-Teacher Organizations Monday night in the library of Westgate School.

Mrs. Earl Neiser, a teacher at McKinley School, distributed the reports sent to the elementary grades and said she feels the card held many unnecessary grading factors. If eliminated, the clerical work of the teacher would be cut down and she would have more time for actual teaching and pupil observation. But some type of accumulative folders are necessary to keep a record of family situations, it was said.

Paul Blair, assistant superintendant of schools, explained the "why—what and how" of report cards. He said parents should know about the progress of their children as achievement is a major goal. Although the card system still is in the experimental stage, he said he believes the dual-type card indicates the true evaluation in relation to the potential of the child and the classroom.

Supt. Ralph Betts said there is no scientific way of measuring quantity or quality and grades will always be subjective. He explained the terminology of retention, promotion and transfer. He spoke of mistaking immaturity for inability in the early grades. Supt. Betts discussed the consideration given each child through conferences between teacher and principal before any repetition of a grade is decided.

Frank Siddel, program chairman, was moderator. Other viewpoints were expressed by Atty. Donald Smith, Clyde Powell, Mrs. Richard Emmerling, Tom Dixon and Mrs. James Johnston.

Mrs. G. Richard Jones, president, was in charge of business with reports read by Mrs. Don Alexander, secretary, and Mrs. Ray Diddle, treasurer.

Supt. Betts explained the compulsory immunization and vaccination program beginning with the fall term for first grade entrants.

The group were asked to assist the East Liverpool Teachers Association with a dinner March 1 at the school, honoring the Board of Education.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Donald Baxter and Mrs. Frank Siddel.

A motion was passed to dispense with the March meeting as the group would attend the annual dinner meeting of the Child Counseling Center March 7 at St. Aloysius Parochial School Hall.

The next meeting will be April 11 at the library.

Justice's Body Found

CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — The body of Justice W. Gordon Egbert of the Supreme Court of Alberta was recovered Monday from a river near his home. Police said foul play was not suspected. Egbert, 67, was last seen alive late Sunday night by a taxi driver who dropped him off near his home.

City Man Held For Court In Wife Stealing

Clyde L. Barker, 27, of East Liverpool was held under $2,500 bond Monday at Pittsburgh on charges of violating the White Slave Act at a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Alex T. McNaughter in a case involving a 17-year-old Ohio Township mother. He will await action of the Federal Grand Jury.

Barker, of 2140 Ohio Ave., father of two, was arrested Saturday at 12:30 a. m. on Route 168 in Fairview by Constable Bernard Zlatovich of Ohio Township.

He is charged with bringing Mrs. Wanita Belle Lemasters, 17, of Ohio Township, to Columbiana County for immoral purposes, a violation of the Mann Act used mainly in prostitution cases.

Edward Joe Lemasters, the husband, returned home Friday about 8:30 p. m. and found the couple's year-old child crying and Mrs. Lemasters missing. Zlatovich said. Police were notified about 11.

Zlatovich said Barker and Lemasters were drinking in a Midland tavern and decided to take Mrs. Lemasters and the baby home. Both men returned to Midland and later separated, Zlatovich said.

Police said that Mrs. Lemasters said that Barker knocked on her door, saying that he and her husband were there. When she opened the door, he was alone and forced his way in, she said.

Police said that she has a bruise on the back of her neck and apparently was knocked unconscious. She told police that Barker was a friend of her husband, but she had never given him any encouragement.

She said Barker stopped to buy two bottles of beer for himself and two bottles of pop for herself. He told her he would kill her if she told her husband, she said. Barker was held in Beaver County Jail pending the hearing.

Driver Forfeits $10

LISBON — Miss Joyce Alice Chuck, 19, of West Point forfeited a $10 bond when she failed to appear Monday before Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of failure to yield the right-of-way. Miss Chuck was cited Saturday at 12:15 p. m. when she pulled her car from an alley near the Courthouse onto W. Washington St. and struck another car operated by Blair Lewis, 24, of Cedar St.

California Pilot, 29, Makes Forced Landing

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—A California pilot ran into engine trouble over southwest Warren County Monday and had to make a forced landing in a field, the Highway Patrol reported.

The private plane bounced once on the edge of the field, cleared a fence and came to rest on Ohio 22 with minor damage. Clarence Roland Richey, 29, of Buena Park, Calif., unhurt, said his engine carburetor iced up.

Driver Fined $25

NEW CUMBERLAND — Alfred Davis, 48, of New Cumberland R. D. 1 was fined $25 and costs Saturday by Squire John D. Herron on a charge of hazardous driving. Davis was cited Saturday morning after wrecking his car on Route 2 just north of New Cumberland, according to the Hancock County sheriff's office.

UOVDC Fund Needs Cited

The six-county Upper Ohio Valley Development Council needs additional financial support to put new impetus behind its program of bringing new industries into the area and stimulating growth and development of existing plants and businesses.

That summary was given 28 East Liverpool district men by local and regional leaders of the UOVDC Monday night at a meeting in the Ohio Power Co. Building as a prelude to a "selective" appeal for more operating funds.

THE UOVDC's accomplishments in its eight year history and its plans for the future were outlined in the two-hour meeting by Walter L. Myers Jr. of Steubenville, executive manager; Dr. Ed Weinman of Steubenville, first vice president; C. Walter Ashbaugh of East Liverpool, second vice president; James Flenniken of Weirton, treasurer, and several other officers and committee chairmen.

State and regional development associations throughout the nation have become so aggressive in their fight for new industry that the Upper Ohio Valley group must expand its program or stand on the sidelines, Myers told the group.

He outlined five ways in which the UOVDC can improve its service:

1. Up-date the report prepared by the Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus in 1955 to serve as a general handbook of all the area's resources and potentialities.

2. Go into advertising and promotion on a "selective" basis, including tours of the region by small groups of industrialists who have shown definite interest in the river valley.

3. Expand the council's limited office space and facilities.

4. Prepare more printed material to "sell" interested prospects on the valley's potential and its future.

5. Put the UOVDC in a position to acquire industrial sites, "pin them down and preserve them for growth."

—:—

"WHEN GOOD industrial sites are gone, our growth will be stifled until we begin to tear down the old to replace it with the new," Myers remarked.

Most of the men who attended the meeting represent firms that already are members of the UOVDC. The council's officers explained that the area members will be asked to contact prospective members, explaining to them the need for increased financial support in the East Liverpool area as part of an appeal for more funds from throughout the six-county region.

The UOVDC's budget has averaged approximately $16,000 a year, but it needs about $24,000 annually to do an adequate job, Flenniken told the group. About 23 firms in East Liverpool, Chester, Newell and Wellsville are members now, giving a total of approximately $2,000 annually.

"We are at the crossroads; we need more general support," Flenniken told the group. "To be able to expand to our ultimate size, we need more money from the whole area. So far, we have been operating on a shoestring."

—:—

"A STAKE IN THE UOVDC is a stake in the future," Ashbaugh commented. "If we can get this message across, I think the support can be secured. I think one things should be emphasized. In addition to seeking new industry, we are vitally interested in the growth and expansion of the industry we already have."

"A tremendous amount of time and money are being spent by state, regional and community development organizations," Myers commented. "If we can gear up to be able to supply land to industry at a reasonable cost and our communities are ready to accommodate them we will have accomplished two of our major objectives."

He commented that experience has shown that industrial development work can be accomplished more effectively by a regional group rather than by a series of community organizations concentrating on their own areas. But a regional organization such as the UOVDC must work through community groups like the Chamber of Commerce, he added.

MYERS LISTED 18 accomplishments of the UOVDC in its 8-year history, many of them concerned with persuading new industries to locate in the Ohio Valley. In the immediate East Liverpool area, he cited the UOVDC's work in locating the Koppers Co. plant at Arroyo; aid to the Ft. Pitt Bridge Works in acquiring a new site south of Chester and assistance to the Tri-State Terminal Co. in locating at Chester.

Weinman told how the UOVDC was organized to represent Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont, Brooke, Hancock and Harrison Counties. It was created after about two years of discussion and work among men who believed a regional organization could do the best job of revitalizing the valley, he said.

Ashbaugh and Winston A. Porter, chairman of the local UOVDC committee, presided. As the meeting ended, there was tentative agreement that each of the men would call on prospective members, explain the UOVDC program and seek to enroll them.

Lisbon Street Head Named By Vote Of 4-2

LISBON — Richard Roberts, 245 Maple St., was appointed street commissioner to replace Thirl Flugan, now fire chief at the meeting of Village Council Monday evening.

Mayor Dean Stockman made the appointment and four Council members approved with two against. He will receive $4,680 per year. He was employed as an oiler at the Buckey Coal Co. and also worked at a brickyard. He will begin his duties Feb. 16, serving to Jan. 30, 1961.

Mayor Stockman gave the oath to Mrs. Blanche Neill as the new Council member to succeed W. J. Loudon, who resigned due to ill health.

Council authorized the mayor to issue warrants for arrests in all parking meter violations for the last two years in which the $1 fines have not been paid. The police committee met with Patrolman John Varner and Solicitor Joseph Barronzzi and warrants will be issued starting Monday.

Chief Flugan reported he had appointed George Porter and Frank Morlan, firemen, on the firemen's pension board. Joseph Dornan and Robert Lower were appointed from Council and another member will be appointed by the mayor to fill out the five-man board.

John Thompson was given permission to use the village streets for the annual Lions Club street fair in September or October. He produced statements of all merchants who will be involved and the majority favor the fair.

Councilman Robert Kelm reported he had contacted the Lisbon Historical Society, which said it has no funds to restore the old cannon. Tom Pike of Guilford Lake, gun collector, gave Council dates by which he could have the relic repaired and ready for show at his historic museum, if given the go ahead.

Council tabled the matter until the next meeting while the Solicitor studies a contract which gives Pike the right to show the cannon at his museum for the next 10 years if he repairs it.

Council also discussed the 3-year-old police cruiser which has cost the village $1,900 for repairs, not including insurance, tires, oil, gas or batteries. Council considered the posssibilty of renting a cruiser and will check on other police cars used by the village for a comparison of the costs.

The expense of operating the sedan used by village firemen to haul a pump to township fires and to pump out village cellars was discussed. Sidewalk repairs also came up for discussion after a report that a woman fell recently on N. Market St. just north of Park Ave. Owners will be notified to have walks fixed, otherwise the village will have them repaired and put the costs on the householders' tax duplicate.

No action was taken on several other matters, including need of brighter lights in the vicinity of Nelson and Chestnut Sts., parking near alleys and street corners and non-use of parking meters on Friday nights.

Councilmen said more people shop on Friday nights than on Saturdays, when stores are closed at 6.

Mayor Stockman reported $254.30 in fines, costs and traffic cases during January.

The next meeting is Feb. 22 at 7:30 p. m.

Man In Stabbing Case Held For Grand Jury

LISBON — Earl Allen Blythe, 47, of Salem pleaded not guilty when arraigned before County Judge Earl Spaulding at East Palestine on a charge of cutting with intent to wound or kill. He was bound over to the April Grand Jury under $500 bond. He made bond and was released.

Blythe was charged in an affidavit filed by police chief Dalton Pike of Lisbon after he is alleged to have cut Clyde Rummel, 38, of East Palestine R. D. in an argument on the Logstown Rd., Friday about 9 p. m.

Rummel is in fair condition at the Salem City Hospital where he was sent early Saturday morning by an East Palestine physician after he came to his office for treatment of a stab wound.

2 Defendants Taken To Prison At Columbus

LISBON — Roy L. Campbell, 31, of R. D. 4 and Walter R. Kline, 59, of Alliance were conveyed by sheriff's deputies to the Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus today to begin terms imposed by Common Pleas Court.

Campbell was sentenced to 1-15 years for burglary of the Zeigler Tire Service near Hanoverton and Kline 1-20 years for forgery in passing a $25 check at the Sears Roebuck & Co. in Salem.

Both were sentenced by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Must Stand Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—Charles T. Crawford, 21, charged with raping a 6-year-old girl and stuffing her inside a running refrigerator when she complained, must stand trial. Common Pleas Judge Frank Gusweiler so ruled Monday after a psychiatrist said examination indicated Crawford is both legally and medically sane. The girl's stepfather found her after the attack last Aug. 29 and she recovered.

Reports, Promotion Discussed At PTA Federation's Meeting

The clarity of reports and promotion were discussed by a panel at the meeting of the City Federation of Parent-Teacher Organizations Monday night in the library of Westgate School.

Mrs. Earl Neiser, a teacher at McKinley School, distributed the reports sent to the elementary grades and said she feels the card held many unnecessary grading factors. If eliminated, the clerical work of the teacher would be cut down and she would have more time for actual teaching and pupil observation. But some type of accumulative folders are necessary to keep a record of family situations, it was said.

Paul Blair, assistant superintendant of schools, explained the "why—what and how" of report cards. He said parents should know about the progress of their children as achievement is a major goal. Although the card system still is in the experimental stage, he said he believes the dual-type card indicates the true evaluation in relation to the potential of the child and the classroom.

Supt. Ralph Betts said there is no scientific way of measuring quantity or quality and grades will always be subjective. He explained the terminology of retention, promotion and transfer. He spoke of mistaking immaturity for inability in the early grades. Supt. Betts discussed the consideration given each child through conferences between teacher and principal before any repetition of a grade is decided.

Frank Siddel, program chairman, was moderator. Other viewpoints were expressed by Atty. Donald Smith, Clyde Powell, Mrs. Richard Emmerling, Tom Dixon and Mrs. James Johnston.

Mrs. G. Richard Jones, president, was in charge of business with reports read by Mrs. Don Alexander, secretary, and Mrs. Ray Diddle, treasurer.

Supt. Betts explained the compulsory immunization and vaccination program beginning with the fall term for first grade entrants.

The group were asked to assist the East Liverpool Teachers Association with a dinner March 1 at the school, honoring the Board of Education.

Refreshments were served in the cafeteria by Mrs. Donald Baxter and Mrs. Frank Siddel.

A motion was passed to dispense with the March meeting as the group would attend the annual dinner meeting of the Child Counseling Center March 7 at St. Aloysius Parochial School Hall.

The next meeting will be April 11 at the library.

City Man Held For Court In Wife Stealing

Clyde L. Barker, 27, of East Liverpool was held under $2,500 bond Monday at Pittsburgh on charges of violating the White Slave Act at a hearing before U.S. Commissioner Alex T. McNaughter in a case involving a 17-year-old Ohio Township mother. He will await action of the Federal Grand Jury.

Barker, of 2140 Ohio Ave., father of two, was arrested Saturday at 12:30 a. m. on Route 168 in Fairview by Constable Bernard Zlatovich of Ohio Township.

Midland Visits New Brighton In Crucial Section 8 Test

Beaver Local Awaits Visit By Wellsville

Midland can just about wrap up another Section 8 title with a victory over New Brighton in the feature of a 13-game schedule tonight on the district basketball scene.

However, New Brighton, paced by its brilliant star, Cal Sheffield, has been tough all season on its home floor, where tonight's game will unfold.

Midland defeated New Brighton last month, 67-50, at Midland. Since that defeat New Brighton has won five straight league contests.

The Leopards are 8-0 in Section 8, while New Brighton has a 6-1 mark.

After tonight's game, Midland will have three more Section 8 battles left, but they are against opponents the Leopards have rolled over in earlier games.

In another headliner tonight, matching two district rivals, Wellsville travels to Beaver Local.

The Tigers are fresh from their best offensive show of the season, a 107-81 victory over Mingo Junction Saturday night.

Coach Jack McDevitt's team takes a 9-3 record to Beaver Local. The reserve game will start at 7, with varsity action set about 8:15.

Chester awaits a visit from Toronto, which has hit a winning stride of late. The Panthers, hampered by injuries and sickness, are struggling along with a 5-8 record.

South Side, currently tied with Bridgeville for the Section 15 lead, will be gunning for its ninth straight victory and ninth win in League play tonight at Avella.

South Side won, 63-50, over Avella earlier this season.

Newell, which owns a two-game winning streak, travels to Salineville for a return battle with the Indians. Salineville took the earlier contest at Newell, 45-43.

Lisbon and Fairfield-Waterford again will attempt to end long losing strings. Lisbon, with an 11-game streak against it, goes to Louisville, while Fairfield-Waterford invades McDonald.

Stanton Local eyes its 14th win of the season against Springfield at Irondale. Stanton found Springfield troublesome earlier in the season, winning 44-42.

On the Tri-County scene, Sebring travels to Leetonia, East Palestine visits league-leading Minerva and Columbiana is at Poland.

The high-flying Salem Quakers seek their 10th straight against a weak Boardman team.

New Cumberland will be at Sherrard.

Action will resume again Friday with 13 more games scheduled. It will wind up Saturday with only two contests on the card.

Salem Hangs On To Third Place In State Poll

By FRIT HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Little Bloomfield High of Washington County has only 14 boys enrolled. Ten of them are on the basketball team.

Roger Williams, the center, is averaging 30.7 points per game—one of the gaudiest marks in the state.

But to prove that basketball is a team game, Bloomfield has triumphed in only one of its 13 contests. Williams is just one of the standouts who will not be on hand March 25-26 when the scholastic stars battle for the state championship.

The big news in Class A circles this week is the emergence of Northwestern of Wayne County, 1958 state champion, as No. 1 in the Associated Press poll. The exkings, with a neat 18-0 record, climbed from third to first place this week as 46 sports writers participated in the ratings.

Van Del of Van Wert County, last week's leader, suffered its first loss—a 43-42 squeaker to Convoy-Union's 17-1 team. Salem Local of Urban, with 16-0, clung to second place.

Only change in the Class A top 10 personnel came as Fostoria St. Wendelin (15-1), eighth last week, dropped out to make room for Granville's unbeaten squad.

Three of the top 10 in Class AA suffered defeats, and two of them dropped from the elite. Lakewood's 13-game winning streak was halted by unbeaten Canton Timken, 63-56, as John Namciu scored 29 for the victors.

The win boosted Timken from fifth to fourth place, and dropped Lakewood from fourth to sixth. Springfield was victimized by Lima Senior, 62-61, and Pomeroy—in the ratings for the first time last week—was handed its first loss 54-53 by Jackson.

Both Springfield and Pomeroy were ousted, and Toledo Scott (14-1) moved into seventh and unbeaten Xenia (13-0) into ninth.

The top three, Dayton Roosevelt, Cleveland East Tech and Salem, stayed where they were.

From here and there: East Tech's defending Class AA champions end their regular season Friday against Cleveland Cathedral Lain. The Scarabas have won 14 straight after dropping the opener.

Massillon and Mansfield played an experimental game Saturday, using the professional rule which forces a team to shoot within 24 seconds after getting the ball. Massillon won 62-60 in an overtime for a 13-3 record. Tiger coach Bob Greenwood says the rule is good for the spectators, but he doesn't think high school boys are ready for it.

Bob Freed's and Bright's Real Estate shoot for their third straight victories as second round play will continue in the City Basketball League Wednesday night at the East Junior High gym.

City League Slate For Wednesday Night

6:30 — Alex's Carry-Out vs. Midland CIO

7:30 — Bright Real Estate vs. Wellsville Merchants

8:30 — Bob Freed's vs. Chester Merchants

Freed's will meet the Chester Merchants who have dropped both starts in the second round, at 8:30 while Bright's take the floor at 7:30 meeting the strong Wellsville Merchants who sport a 1-1 record.

The 6:30 opener Wednesday will find Alex's Carry-Out facing the Midland CIO.

Alex's the first round champion has been pushed around so far in the second half losing both of its starts.

Battestelli's, Neville's Gain League Finals

Battestelli's and Neville's came out on top with narrow victories Monday night at East Junior High to move into the finals of the Grade School League tournament.

Battestelli's edged Cunningham's, 23-21, while Neville's won a 19-18 squeaker from the East Whirlwinds.

Chetwynd's 9 points and Battestelli's 7 paced the Battestelli five while Kinsey netted 14 of Cunningham's 21 points.

Stevens tossed in a basket in the last five seconds to provide Neville's with the victory. He was also high for his team with 11 markers. John Owen scored 8 for the losing Whirlwind quint.

Finals in the tourney will be held Saturday at 10 a. m. at Westgate.

The eighth grade teams of Westgate and East Junior High will clash Wednesday at 4 p. m. on the Westgate floor.

Lucas Scores 26 Points In Bucks' 8th Straight

By The Associated Press

Ohio State's Buckeyes took another stride toward their first Big Ten basketball title in 10 years by smashing Wisconson 106-69 Monday night for their eighth conference victory without defeat.

Sophomore Jerry Lucas and his high-scoring teammates need only three victories in their last six games to assure at least a share of the championship.

While the Buckeyes had things their own way at Madison, Purdue defeated Michigan 79-65 at Ann Arbor to take over second place and Indiana whipped Iowa 87-74 at Bloomington to move into a third place tie with Illinois.

Illinois dropped a 78-77 decision at Michgan State and Northwestern clipped Minnesota 66-64 at Minneapolis.

Only Purdue (5-3;, Indians (4-3) and Illinois (4-3) have even remote hope of catching the talented Buckeyes.

Lucas pumped in 26 points against Wisconsin while four other Buckeyes scored in double figures with Larry Siegfried netting 22. Mel Nowell notched 18 and relief man Dick Furry 14.

The Badgers, cheered on by a home record crowd of 12,187, made a fight of it for 10 minutes. They led 18-15 and didn't surrender the lead for keeps until OSU went on top at 21-20.

From there on it was all Ohio. The Bucks led 46-33 at halftime before burning the cords with 60 points in the second half, when Lucas msehed 17.

The Buckeyes used their height advantage to control the boards and generally puzzle Wisconsin with a fine display of high-handed passing.

It was the seventh Big Ten loss in seven starts for the Badgers. In this one, they watched OSU shatter the Wisconsin fieldhouse scoring record of 99 set by Illinois in 1955.

Terry Dischinger, Purdue's sophomore scoring star, hit for 29 points and helped stage a second half rally which pushed Michigan to its seventh loss without victory. Michigan was ahead by 10 points early in the second half before Dischinger tossed in 21 points to spark the Boilermakers. John Tidwell was high for Michigan with 23.

Indiana scored its fourth straight conference victory after three initial losses and had little trouble with Iowa although 6-10½ Walt Bellamy was shackled with four fouls.

Michigan State never relinquished its 43-32 halftime lead but the Illini made a battle of it and nearly pulled the game out in the final minute. Horace Walker again was MSU's leading scorer with 29 points.

Northwestern (4-4) erased a 13-point deficit to clip Minnesota (4-5).

Cincy Retains First Spot In Cage Ratings

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati continues to show the way in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll with Oscar Robertson breaking records as he goes.

The voting of 191 sports writers and sportscasters, based on games played through Saturday, Feb. 6, left the first six positions unchanged from the previous week.

The newcomers among the top 20 were Holy Cross (16th) and Auburn (17th) while Kansas State, a loser, and idle St. Bonaventure dropped out.

The first 10 teams with points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis with first place votes in parentheses:

Robinson Gets Ring Profits

BOSTON (AP)—Old pro Sugar Ray Robinson may be the challenger now but he still gets the lion's share of the profits.

The dapper old master of the middleweights has signed for a rematch with Paul Pender, the former Brookline, Mass., fireman who lifted Robinson's limited version of the world middleweight crown here Jan. 22.

Take a look at the financial arrangements for the nationally televised match in Boston April 29:

Total TV rights—$150,000.

Robinson's (challenger's) share of TV—$105,000.

Pender's (champion's) share of TV—$26,250.

Promoter's estimate of the gate—$100,000.

Robinson's share of the gate—30 per cent.

Pender's share of the gate—30 per cent.

Which leads one to believe that either (1) it doesn't pay to be the champion, or—more likely—(2) it does pay to be Robinson.

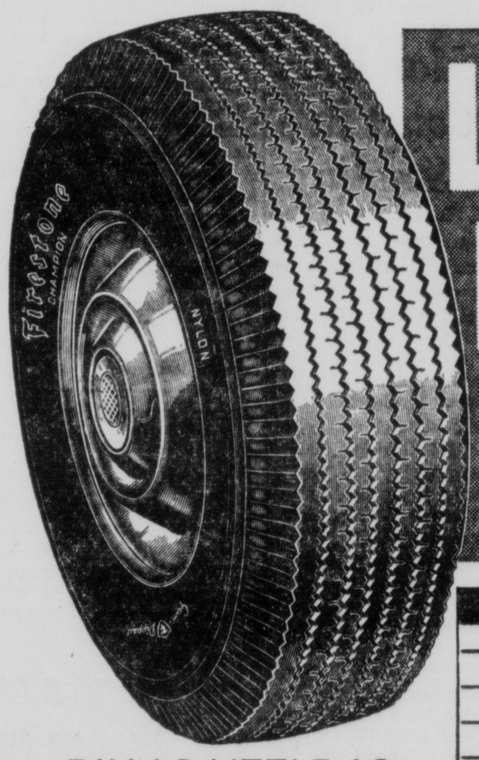

Robinson, now 39 and five-time holder of the middleweight crown, agreed to terms in New York Saturday. The Pender camp signed—without comment—Monday.

The National Boxing Assn. had stripped Robinson of his title in all the states but Massachusetts and New York before he went against the 10th-ranked Pender. Pender beat him in a 15-round split decision.

Penn's basketball captain is Joe Cook, a 6-foot-4 senior from Elizabeth, N. J.

Midland Visits New Brighton In Crucial Section 8 Test

Beaver Local Awaits Visit By Wellsville

Midland can just about wrap up another Section 8 title with a victory over New Brighton in the feature of a 13-game schedule tonight on the district basketball scene.

However, New Brighton, paced by its brilliant star, Cal Sheffield, has been tough all season on its home floor, where tonight's game will unfold.

Midland defeated New Brighton last month, 67-50, at Midland. Since that defeat New Brighton has won five straight league contests.

The Leopards are 8-0 in Section 8, while New Brighton has a 6-1 mark.

After tonight's game, Midland will have three more Section 8 battles left, but they are against opponents the Leopards have rolled over in earlier games.

In another headliner tonight, matching two district rivals, Wellsville travels to Beaver Local.

The Tigers are fresh from their best offensive show of the season, a 107-81 victory over Mingo Junction Saturday night.

Coach Jack McDevitt's team takes a 9-3 record to Beaver Local. The reserve game will start at 7, with varsity action set about 8:15.

Chester awaits a visit from Toronto, which has hit a winning stride of late. The Panthers, hampered by injuries and sickness, are struggling along with a 5-8 record.

South Side, currently tied with Bridgeville for the Section 15 lead, will be gunning for its ninth straight victory and ninth win in League play tonight at Avella.

South Side won, 63-50, over Avella earlier this season.

Newell, which owns a two-game winning streak, travels to Salineville for a return battle with the Indians. Salineville took the earlier contest at Newell, 45-43.

Lisbon and Fairfield-Waterford again will attempt to end long losing strings. Lisbon, with an 11-game streak against it, goes to Louisville, while Fairfield-Waterford invades McDonald.

Stanton Local eyes its 14th win of the season against Springfield at Irondale. Stanton found Springfield troublesome earlier in the season, winning 44-42.

On the Tri-County scene, Sebring travels to Leetonia, East Palestine visits league-leading Minerva and Columbiana is at Poland.

The high-flying Salem Quakers seek their 10th straight against a weak Boardman team.

New Cumberland will be at Sherrard.

Action will resume again Friday with 13 more games scheduled. It will wind up Saturday with only two contests on the card.

Terry Dischinger, Purdue's sophomore scoring star, hit for 29 points and helped stage a second half rally which pushed Michigan to its seventh loss without victory. Michigan was ahead by 10 points early in the second half before Dischinger tossed in 21 points to spark the Boilermakers. John Tidwell was high for Michigan with 23.

Indiana scored its fourth straight conference victory after three initial losses and had little trouble with Iowa although 6-10½ Walt Bellamy was shackled with four fouls.

Michigan State never relinquished its 43-32 halftime lead but the Illini made a battle of it and nearly pulled the game out in the final minute. Horace Walker again was MSU's leading scorer with 29 points.

Northwestern (4-4) erased a 13-point deficit to clip Minnesota (4-5).

Cincy Retains First Spot In Cage Ratings

By The Associated Press

Cincinnati continues to show the way in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll with Oscar Robertson breaking records as he goes.

The voting of 191 sports writers and sportscasters, based on games played through Saturday, Feb. 6, left the first six positions unchanged from the previous week.

The newcomers among the top 20 were Holy Cross (16th) and Auburn (17th) while Kansas State, a loser, and idle St. Bonaventure dropped out.

The first 10 teams with points on a 10-9-8 etc. basis with first place votes in parentheses:

1.	Cincinnati (88)	1,798

Robinson Gets Ring Profits

BOSTON (AP)—Old pro Sugar Ray Robinson may be the challenger now but he still gets the lion's share of the profits.

The dapper old master of the middleweights has signed for a rematch with Paul Pender, the former Brookline, Mass., fireman who lifted Robinson's limited version of the world middleweight crown here Jan. 22.

Take a look at the financial arrangements for the nationally televised match in Boston April 29:

Total TV rights—$150,000.

Robinson's (challenger's) share of TV—$105,000.

Pender's (champion's) share of TV—$26,250.

Promoter's estimate of the gate—$100,000.

Robinson's share of the gate—30 per cent.

Pender's share of the gate—30 per cent.

Which leads one to believe that either (1) it doesn't pay to be the champion, or—more likely—(2) it does pay to be Robinson.

Robinson, now 39 and five-time holder of the middleweight crown, agreed to terms in New York Saturday. The Pender camp signed—without comment—Monday.

The National Boxing Assn. had stripped Robinson of his title in all the states but Massachusetts and New York before he went against the 10th-ranked Pender. Pender beat him in a 15-round split decision.

Penn's basketball captain is Joe Cook, a 6-foot-4 senior from Elizabeth, N. J.

Robertson Nets 62 For Own All-Time High

West Scores 35 Points As WVU Wallops NYU

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's one thing about Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson — he just doesn't know when to leave the record books alone.

Take Monday night. The Big O, who already is college basketball's all-time scorer, hit a personal all-time high with 62 points against North Texas State, as the top-ranked Bearcats now 18-1, easily won, 123-74.

That raised his career total to 2,662 as he continues to improve on the old mark of 2,587, which he broke last Saturday night. Now he seems intent on seeing to it that no one is going to break his for a long time.

Robertson's tremendous performance overshadowed another fine job by West Virginia's Jerry West, who scored 35 points in leading the Mountaineers to a 98-69 victory over a fine New York University team for their 42nd straight home victory.

Bradley, still ranked second in the latest Associated Press poll, coasted to a 78-57 Missouri Valley victory over Houston, while fifth-ranked Ohio State made its Big Ten lead almost untouchable with a 106-69 triumph over Wisconsin.

Georgia Tech, No. 6 and the only other top-ranked club in action, defeated Louisiana State 78-56.

During one six-minute span Robertson scored 21 points. He hit a torrid 23 of 29 field goal attempts and 16 of 19 free throws, and pulled in 19 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the Big Ten, Michigan State defeated Illinois 78-77, Northwestern swept to a 66-64 victory over Minnesota overcoming a 13-point halftime deficit; Indiana won its fourth straight Big Ten game, 87-74 over Iowa; and Terry Dischinger got 29 points in pacing Purdue to a 79-65 win over Michigan.

Oklahoma kept a glimmer of hope for a Big Eight title with a 63-54 win over Nebraska and Colorado won its sixth straight, 48-40, over Oklahoma State in another Big Eight game. St. Louis, which meets Cincinnati Friday night, defeated Oklahoma City 73-59.

North Carolina, idle last week, hustled past Clemson in an Atlantic Coast conference game, 73-54. Virginia Tech tied West Virginia for the Southern Conference lead with an 82-66 victory over William & Mary.

Lucas Holds Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Sophomores Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue remained 1-2 in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race. Lucas has 457 points and 26.8 average to Dischinger's 446 points and 26.2 average.

Big 10 Teams Remain Split On Rose Bowl

CHICAGO (AP)—Chances of another Rose Bowl tieup involving the Big Ten appear dead following Illinois' vote against a new contract.

Illinois' decision Monday night was believed the decisive one, killing all chances of renewing the New Year's Day football series. Five schools are for renewal and five against. A majority vote is needed for approval.

Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio State have announced their stand against the postseason game. Northwestern has not decided but voted against in the past and is expected to again.

Hopes for continuing the series were revived last month when the Big Ten decided to take another vote.

This followed last spring's vote when possible renewal of the series was killed in a 5-5 deadlock.

But with the founding of the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities to replace the Pacific Coast Conference, a new invitation was extended to the Big Ten to continue playing in the Rose Bowl.

The Big Ten then took the current vote.

Michigan State, Michigan, Purdue, Indiana and Iowa favor continuing the series. However, there are indications Iowa will swing against if another vote is taken at the school.

The formal vote will come up at the Big Ten meetings March 3-5.

Midland Juniors Drop 44-34 Tilt To Beaver Falls

A rangy Beaver Falls outfit handed Midland Junior High a 44-34 defeat Monday on the Beaver Falls floor.

The loss was Midland's 11th in 15 starts this season.

Beaver Falls took a commanding 11-4 lead at the end of the first period and stayed in front the rest of the way.

Hedge scored 11 points to pace the winners while John Chuldenko tallied 17 and Gary Perkins 11 for the young Leopards.

Colavito, Lane To Begin Contract Talks This Week

CLEVELAND (AP)— Outfielder Rocky Colavito expects to invade the Cleveland Indians' front office this week to have his salary dispute out with General Manager Frank Lane.

Rocky said Monday night by telephone from his home in Temple, Pa., that he would "bring the contract he (Lane) sent me again, but I definitely won't sign it." He got the contract by mail Monday for the third time.

The 26-year-old slugger, who reportedly earned $28,000 last year, said it wasn't true as newspapers said that Lane had offered him $33,000. And, he said, "I never asked for $45,000 like Lane said."

"I honestly think he'd like to trade me," Colavito went on. "Maybe that's why he is trying to turn the fans against me." (Lane recently denied he had offered Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn.)

Last season Colavito hit 42 homers and knocked in 111 runs, but his batting average fell off 46 points to .257. Lane looks at the average, Colavito at the homers and RBI.

The general manager has let Rocky know that the outfielder's late-season slump was a big factor in the Indians losing out in the pennant race. Colavito counters that without his slugging earlier in the summer, Cleveland wouldn't have been in contention.

There are three other Cleveland players still unsigned — catcher Johnny Romano, pitcher Gary Bell and utility infielder Jim Baxes.

Fullmer-Giardello Title Bout Set For April 20

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—NBA middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer will defend his title April 20 against seventh-ranked Joey Giardello of Philadelphia. The fight will be held either in Bozeman or Missoula, Mont.

The sponsoring Intermountain Boxing Club signed Giardello to a contract Monday. He will receive a flat $25,000 plus expenses.

Marv Jenson, Fullmer's manager, says Fullmer has not signed a formal contract, but has agreed to the fight for a $100,000 guarantee plus expenses.

Nassau Breeze is the name of Nashua's first son. He belongs to the Warbern Stable.

Stengel Feels That Yankees Will Be Better

By CASEY STENGEL
Manager, New York Yankees

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Well, I've been reading this series and I see where each manager in the American League thinks his ball club is better balanced for the 1960 season than it was a year ago. Quite a few managers expect to win the pennant.

Last year I thought we had the strongest team in the spring and I was looking for a fifth straight pennant. But that wasn't to be. We got off to a bad start and never fully recovered. Our pitching was below par and so was our punch. We had a lot of injuries but that's not meant to be an alibi. We just had a bad year. . . Many of our top stars were way below par.

That shouldn't happen again this year, for this is still a young ball club and only a partial recovery would put the Yankees in a much more favorable position. I'll admit that the top contenders appear to have improved over the winter by trades. . . but so have we.

Last year's second division clubs probably will have to be reckoned with. Baltimore gave up pitching to get some outfield power. But the Orioles still have good young pitchers and should be a better club this year. Boston has done a lot of shuffling and so has Kansas City. Both these clubs should be improved as should Washington.

Now let's take a look at the Yankees. We have the best catching in the league. Yogi Berra improved his hitting last year though his power fell off slightly. But he's a valuable man. Elston Howard is certainly a great man to back up Yogi.

At first, Bill Skowron looked like he was going to have one of his best seasons when he got hurt. Our doctors say he's 100 per cent now. Bobby Richardson, our second baseman, was our only regular to hit .300. Tony Kubek improved his hitting and he is developing into a good shortstop.

Andy Carey is a good third baseman and he's back in shape. Gil McDougald is sure to hit better. We have some other young infield prospects and I feel we're strong here with real major leaguers right down the line.

The outfield is improved with the addition of Roger Maris from Kansas City. Mickey Mantle had an off year, but there's no reason why he shouldn't come back. He's still young (28). Hector Lopez gave us a lot of big hits last year and he's a good RBI man.

I purposely left pitching for last. We think we've got the makings of a good staff with fine young prospects coming up from the minors, headed by lefty Bill Short, top pitcher in the International League last year. Art Ditmar did a good job as starter and relief pitcher last year and should continue to improve. Bob Turley was way off but his arm is sound and he should come back. Whitey Ford is still a winner and if he's sound he could be our big man again. Ryne Duren will help in the bullpen if his wrist has healed. Jim Coates came fast and Bobby Shantz, John Gabler and Eli Grba all can help us.

Before I finish, I want to mention youngster like Deron Johnson, Jack Reed and Ken Hunt who could add punch and speed to the outfield.

Saban Named Boston's Head Coach In AFL

BOSTON (AP) — Lou Saban, former college and pro star, has been named head coach of the Boston entry in the American Football League.

Saban, 38, was signed Monday to a three-year contract at what Boston General Manager Ed. McKeever called "very satisfactory" terms.

Saban played for Indiana University and the Cleveland Browns of the defunct All-America Conference and held coaching posts at Western Illinois, Case Institute, the Unviersity of Washington and Northwestern.

Robertson Nets 62 For Own All-Time High

West Scores 35 Points As WVU Wallops NYU

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

There's one thing about Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson — he just doesn't know when to leave the record books alone.

Take Monday night. The Big O, who already is college basketball's all-time scorer, hit a personal all-time high with 62 points against North Texas State, as the top-ranked Bearcats now 18-1, easily won, 123-74.

That raised his career total to 2,662 as he continues to improve on the old mark of 2,587, which he broke last Saturday night. Now he seems intent on seeing to it that no one is going to break his for a long time.

Robertson's tremendous performance overshadowed another fine job by West Virginia's Jerry West, who scored 35 points in leading the Mountaineers to a 98-69 victory over a fine New York University team for their 42nd straight home victory.

Bradley, still ranked second in the latest Associated Press poll, coasted to a 78-57 Missouri Valley victory over Houston, while fifth-ranked Ohio State made its Big Ten lead almost untouchable with a 106-69 triumph over Wisconsin.

Georgia Tech, No. 6 and the only other top-ranked club in action, defeated Louisiana State 78-56.

During one six-minute span Robertson scored 21 points. He hit a torrid 23 of 29 field goal attempts and 16 of 19 free throws, and pulled in 19 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the Big Ten, Michigan State defeated Illinois 78-77, Northwestern swept to a 66-64 victory over Minnesota overcoming a 13-point halftime deficit; Indiana won its fourth straight Big Ten game, 87-74 over Iowa; and Terry Dischinger got 29 points in pacing Purdue to a 79-65 win over Michigan.

Oklahoma kept a glimmer of hope for a Big Eight title with a 63-54 win over Nebraska and Colorado won its sixth straight, 48-40, over Oklahoma State in another Big Eight game. St. Louis, which meets Cincinnati Friday night, defeated Oklahoma City 73-59.

North Carolina, idle last week, hustled past Clemson in an Atlantic Coast conference game, 73-54. Virginia Tech tied West Virginia for the Southern Conference lead with an 82-66 victory over William & Mary.

Lucas Holds Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Sophomores Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue remained 1-2 in the Big Ten all-games basketball scoring race. Lucas has 457 points and 26.8 average to Dischinger's 446 points and 26.2 average.

Big 10 Teams Remain Split On Rose Bowl

CHICAGO (AP)—Chances of another Rose Bowl tieup involving the Big Ten appear dead following Illinois' vote against a new contract.

Illinois' decision Monday night was believed the decisive one, killing all chances of renewing the New Year's Day football series. Five schools are for renewal and five against. A majority vote is needed for approval.

Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Ohio State have announced their stand against the postseason game. Northwestern has not decided but voted against in the past and is expected to again.

Hopes for continuing the series were revived last month when the Big Ten decided to take another vote.

This followed last spring's vote when possible renewal of the series was killed in a 5-5 deadlock.

But with the founding of the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities to replace the Pacific Coast Conference, a new invitation was extended to the Big Ten to continue playing in the Rose Bowl.

The Big Ten then took the current vote.

Michigan State, Michigan, Purdue, Indiana and Iowa favor continuing the series. However, there are indications Iowa will swing against if another vote is taken at the school.

The formal vote will come up at the Big Ten meetings March 3-5.

Midland Juniors Drop 44-34 Tilt To Beaver Falls

A rangy Beaver Falls outfit handed Midland Junior High a 44-34 defeat Monday on the Beaver Falls floor.

The loss was Midland's 11th in 15 starts this season.

Beaver Falls took a commanding 11-4 lead at the end of the first period and stayed in front the rest of the way.

Hedge scored 11 points to pace the winners while John Chuldenko tallied 17 and Gary Perkins 11 for the young Leopards.

Colavito, Lane To Begin Contract Talks This Week

CLEVELAND (AP)— Outfielder Rocky Colavito expects to invade the Cleveland Indians' front office this week to have his salary dispute out with General Manager Frank Lane.

Rocky said Monday night by telephone from his home in Temple, Pa., that he would "bring the contract he (Lane) sent me again, but I definitely won't sign it." He got the contract by mail Monday for the third time.

The 26-year-old slugger, who reportedly earned $28,000 last year, said it wasn't true as newspapers said that Lane had offered him $33,000. And, he said, "I never asked for $45,000 like Lane said."

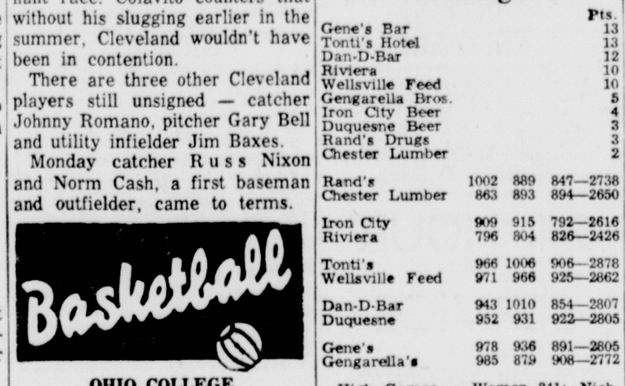

"I honestly think he'd like to trade me," Colavito went on. "Maybe that's why he is trying to turn the fans against me." (Lane recently denied he had offered Colavito to Detroit for Harvey Kuenn.)

Last season Colavito hit 42 homers and knocked in 111 runs, but his batting average fell off 46 points to .257. Lane looks at the average, Colavito at the homers and RBI.

The general manager has let Rocky know that the outfielder's late-season slump was a big factor in the Indians losing out in the pennant race. Colavito counters that without his slugging earlier in the summer, Cleveland wouldn't have been in contention.

There are three other Cleveland players still unsigned — catcher Johnny Romano, pitcher Gary Bell and utility infielder Jim Baxes.

Monday catcher Russ Nixon and Norm Cash, a first baseman and outfielder, came to terms.

Fullmer-Giardello Title Bout Set For April 20

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—NBA middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer will defend his title April 20 against seventh-ranked Joey Giardello of Philadelphia. The fight will be held either in Bozeman or Missoula, Mont.

The sponsoring Intermountain Boxing Club signed Giardello to a contract Monday. He will receive a flat $25,000 plus expenses.

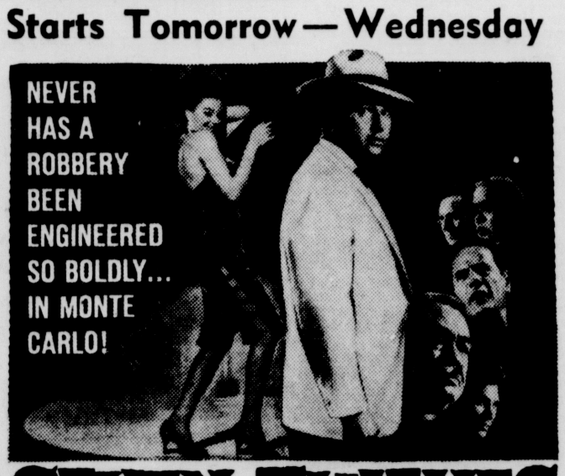

Marv Jenson, Fullmer's manager, says Fullmer has not signed a formal contract, but has agreed to the fight for a $100,000 guarantee plus expenses.

Stengel Feels That Yankees Will Be Better

By CASEY STENGEL
Manager, New York Yankees

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP)—Well, I've been reading this series and I see where each manager in the American League thinks his ball club is better balanced for the 1960 season than it was a year ago. Quite a few managers expect to win the pennant.

Last year I thought we had the strongest team in the spring and I was looking for a fifth straight pennant. But that wasn't to be. We got off to a bad start and never fully recovered. Our pitching was below par and so was our punch. We had a lot of injuries but that's not meant to be an alibi. We just had a bad year. . . Many of our top stars were way below par.

That shouldn't happen again this year, for this is still a young ball club and only a partial recovery would put the Yankees in a much more favorable position. I'll admit that the top contenders appear to have improved over the winter by trades. . . but so have we.

Last year's second division clubs probably will have to be reckoned with. Baltimore gave up pitching to get some outfield power. But the Orioles still have good young pitchers and should be a better club this year. Boston has done a lot of shuffling and so has Kansas City. Both these clubs should be improved as should Washington.

Now let's take a look at the Yankees. We have the best catching in the league. Yogi Berra improved his hitting last year though his power fell off slightly. But he's a valuable man. Elston Howard is certainly a great man to back up Yogi.

At first, Bill Skowron looked like he was going to have one of his best seasons when he got hurt. Our doctors say he's 100 per cent now. Bobby Richardson, our second baseman, was our only regular to hit .300. Tony Kubek improved his hitting and he is developing into a good shortstop.

Andy Carey is a good third baseman and he's back in shape. Gil McDougald is sure to hit better. We have some other young infield prospects and I feel we're strong here with real major leaguers right down the line.

The outfield is improved with the addition of Roger Maris from Kansas City. Mickey Mantle had an off year, but there's no reason why he shouldn't come back. He's still young (28). Hector Lopez gave us a lot of big hits last year and he's a good RBI man.

I purposely left pitching for last. We think we've got the makings of a good staff with fine young prospects coming up from the minors, headed by lefty Bill Short, top pitcher in the International League last year. Art Ditmar did a good job as starter and relief pitcher last year and should continue to improve. Bob Turley was way off but his arm is sound and he should come back. Whitey Ford is still a winner and if he's sound he could be our big man again. Ryne Duren will help in the bullpen if his wrist has healed. Jim Coates came fast and Bobby Shantz, John Gabler and Eli Grba all can help us.

Before I finish, I want to mention youngster like Deron Johnson, Jack Reed and Ken Hunt who could add punch and speed to the outfield.

Saban Named Boston's Head Coach In AFL

BOSTON (AP) — Lou Saban, former college and pro star, has been named head coach of the Boston entry in the American Football League.

Saban, 38, was signed Monday to a three-year contract at what Boston General Manager Ed. McKeever called "very satisfactory" terms.

Saban played for Indiana University and the Cleveland Browns of the defunct All-America Conference and held coaching posts at Western Illinois, Case Institute, the Unviersity of Washington and Northwestern.

Board Approves Trip

Midland Band To March In Capital

The Midland Board of Education Monday night approved the high school band trip to Washington in May, accepted five resignations, hired three persons, and heard the next step for the high school heating system improvement.

On a request of Charles P. Henderson, band director, and a motion by Edward Cilli, the board approved the Lincoln High School varsity marching band's participation in the National Safety Patrol parade May 14 in the capital.

THE ONLY COST to the board will be for substitute teachers. The parade is sponsored by the American Automobile Association of the District of Columbiana. The trip will top off the 30th anniversary of the school band.

Midland's band will be one of five from Pennsylvania in the parade and the only one from the Pittsburgh area. It has about 125 members.

Band members will stay in Washington three days. The trip will cost about $4,500 and band projects underway and donations should raise about $5,500, Henderson said, in his letter to the board.

MEALS, LODGING, tours and necessary insurance will be planned. Projects of band members include selling soap and thermometers, washing cars and a scrap drive. Donations will include those of band members, organizations, and $1,000 from the Band Boosters Club in lieu of an annual banquet.

Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary to the board and Supt. Ralph H. Jewell, will be financial secretary for the trip.

Five letters of resignations were read and approved. Nick Satlan, janitor at 4th St. School, resigned effective Jan. 27 to accept a position with the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

George Ordich resigned as assistant junior high football coach effective since last season. He will remain as teacher.

Mrs. Anna Mary Kiliany resigned as administrative clerk, effective March 2, and Mrs. Ann P. Oakes, high school commercial teacher, effective Feb. 22.

—:—

MRS. MARY Gengarella, high school English teacher, resigned to be with her husband in the armed forces. She will remain until a substitute teacher can be obtained.

Mrs. Nancy Mullen was hired as a dental clerk, effective Jan. 27, at $180 a month. Theresa Ulizio was hired as administrative clerk, effective Feb. 16, at $220 a month. Richard Musone was hired as a substitute for the rest of the year at the regular starting salary to replace Mrs. Oakes.

Applications for the janitor job will be studied since several janitors wish to move to other buildings and the vacancy may then exist at the high school rather than at 4th St.

The board deferred action until further study on the next step of the Minneapolis - Honeywell Co. to place the high school heating system in efficient operation. The proposal, costing $6,266, will include new valves for 57 radiators, diaphragms for several larger type valves, removing and replacing 28 pneumatic damper motors in 28 classrooms, new outside fresh air pneumatic damper motors on the rear of the high school, and other minor repairs.

THE PRICE does not include labor for installing the 57 valves which will be done by Ray Conjeski, maintenance supervisor, and his assistant. The company will connect the air pressure lines to the valves.

Robert Gridley, company representative, reported that in the first step, started last November and costing $2,913, air pressure has been achieved to all thermostats except those in the gymnasium wing which will be included in the second step.

If the proposal is approved, work is expected to be started in the summer and the cost will be included in the new budget for the fiscal year after July 1.

The high school heating system equipment is over 30 years old and lack of air pressure for control at thermostats has caused overheating.

A low bid of $1,027.44 for lighting fixtures for three rooms of the high school was awarded to the General Electric Supply Co. of Pittsburgh on a motion by Cilli, property committee chairman.

THE BOARD APPROVED a request of the Midland Planning Commission for use of the high school auditorium Feb. 19 for a public meeting. The Unity Chapter of the Order of DeMolay was given permission to use the old gymnasium on Saturdays if properly supervised and janitorial expenses are paid. Magnet City Elks Lodge, was given permission to use the new gymnasium Feb. 25 at the regular fee to sponsor a wrestling match.

In connection with a fire safety program, Cilli recommended that Conjeski make a list of costs of hose repairs, that an estimate of needed extinguishers be obtained from Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri and that a new hydrant be authorized in former Woodland Ave. between the school buildings.

Jewell will write Council, asking that the hydrant be included in the present system maintained by the borough. The Municipal Authority will assume the cost of about $800 for the hydrant and the borough the cost of maintenance of $37.50 a year.

ATTY. ROBERT Masters, solicitor, will draw up legislation for the right-of-way. The property committee will help in the selection of the exact location.

Miss Coffin read the recent approval of the Department of Public Instruction concerning increased tuition rates which went into effect last September. They include $39.31 a month for elementary pupils and $46.65 for secondary. They are up from the $35.64 for elementary and $44.97 for secondary for the previous year.

The Midland Education Association requested that the board consider giving $400 additional salaries to all teachers including those who have reached the top salary level. The matter was referred to the finance committee for study and consideration in next year's budget.

Jewell was authorized to send the association a reply to its letter of Jan. 11 which contained several requests, including pay day every two weeks during the summer instead of once a month, improved parking place space and for the school doctor to sign illness excuses.

JEWELL WAS granted permission to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention Thursday through Feb. 18 in Atlantic City. He asked members to keep in mind the Tri - State School Board Association dinner March 31 at the new Hilton Hotel in Pittsburgh.

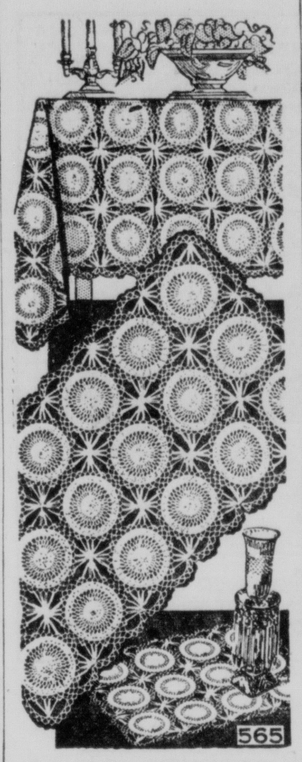

Bills totaling $10,298.54 were approved and cash receipts of $176.48 were voted to the proper account. Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, reported a balance of $18,068.14 as of Jan. 31.

Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, reported $9,458.64 in taxes, including $446.86 in penalties, were deposited during January. Interim orders of Jewell, amounting to $3,500, were approved.

He said they included many items under the National Defense Education Act and the school will be reimbursed about 50 per cent of the cost. Books in the amount of $184.08 were approved for purchase.

Absent were Frank Aloi and James Morrison, who was ill.

Midland Firemen Fill Officer Posts

Midland volunteer fire company No. 1 Monday evening elected new officers and made a $25 donation for the Lincoln High School band trip to Washington in May.

Elected were Bud Cook, president; Al Monaco, vice president; Angelo Tozana, treasurer, and Tony Verzelli, secretary.

Officers appointed by Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri included Tony Monaco, assistant chief; Ollie Hamel, captain; Daniel Orlando, Al Monaco and Dominic Zuppe, lieutenants and Bud Joseph, kitchen committee chairman.

The donation was made for the high school band's trip to Washington to participate in the National Safety Patrol parade May 14.

Next meeting will be March 14 in quarters in the Borough Building.

Addition And New Kitchen Planned For Church Camp

Plans to build a new kitchen were outlined at the meeting of the trustees of the Beaver Creek Presbyterian Camp Sunday afternoon at the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mark Allen of Toronto, chairman of the development committee, and Stanley Rose, co-chairman, presented blueprints for this addition to the recreation building, which was completed two years ago.

The kitchen will be ready for use for the coming camp season and will include sleeping accommodations. The building will be winterized for overnight or weekend retreats and conferences.

Some 17 attended from the group, which includes 10 each from the Steubenville and Mahoning Presbyteries, which operate the camp at Grimms Bridge.

The Rev. David Mellon of Brilliant, chairman, presided. The Rev. Chalmers Goshorn of East Palestine is co-chairman.

The Rev. Ralph Johnson of Salem offered prayer.

Mrs. Arthur Straitiff of New Waterford, acting secretary, read the minutes.

Marion Horger of the Grace Church read the financial report.

The resignation of Judge Raymond Buzzard as trustee was accepted. A letter of thanks will be sent to him for his years of service.

The administration committee, of which he was a member, was temporarily combined with the operations committee with Clifford Aitken of Brilliant as chairman. The Rev. M. Rudolph Miller is on this committee.

There are 6 positions to be filled for the camping season scheduled for June 6 through Aug. 21. They are nurse, waterfront director, recreation consultant, crafts director, head cook, assistant cook and cook's helper. Applications may be obtained from any member of the committee and must be sent to Aitken at Box 124, Brilliant.

The Rev. Richard Fruit of Lake Milton, chairman of the program committee, announced that all directors have been obtained; however, there is a need for adult counselors. Any high school students entering his senior year may be a junior counselor but those for the Junior-Hi camp must be graduates.

The periods are: June 6-12, senior high; June 13-19, June 27-July 3, July 11-17, July 25-31 and Aug. 8-14, junior high, and June 20-26, July 4-10, July 18-24, Aug. 1-7, and Aug. 15-21, junior camps. Brochures will be ready for mailing April 1.

The group set up camp policies, pointing out the project is to stress Christian ideals and help strengthen youth in their faith wth special emphasis on morning devotions out-of-doors, evening vespers and cabin devotions at night.

It is one of the largest Presbyterian camps in the country with an enrollment capacity of 700.

The proposed budget for 1960 was discussed and adopted. Horger, treasurer, presided for the discussion.

Mrs. Donald Baxter of Pope Ave. was appointed to the newly-created post of secretary - registrar - assistant treasurer, combining three previous positions. Grover Griggs of Berlin Center gave the closing prayer.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stanley Rose.

Other trustees attending were the Rev. Boyd Burd, Bethesda; Donald Walters, Minerva; Robert Hummer, Girard, and Miss Elizabeth Larick, Christian education director of the Poland church.

Ex-officio members attending were George Reynolds, camp caretaker, and the Rev. George Jenkins of Carrollton, general presbyter of Steubenville Presbytery. The next meeting will be March 13 also at the Trinity church.

Board Defers Meeting

LISBON — The February meeting of the Columbiana County Board of Education, scheduled for tonight, has been postponed indefinitely because of the death of Atty. Harvey E. Elliott of West Cleveland, father of Atty. Donald Elliott of Rogers, president of the board.

Salem Area Farmer Continues As Advisor

LISBON — Joseph Less of Salem R. D. 5 has been recommended for reappointment to the state commodity advisor committees of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Board of Trustees, according to Ferris Owen, president. He was picked for the fruits and vegetable committee.

Seven new men were named and 14 were reappointed in the 5 advisory commodity committees — field crops, dairy, poultry, livestock, and fruits and vegetables, most to 3-year terms.

They serve as advisors to the federation board as it deals with marketing and research policies written by farmers at annual meeting time.

Less' committee will meet in Columbus Feb. 17-18.

Board Approves Trip

Midland Band To March In Capital

The Midland Board of Education Monday night approved the high school band trip to Washington in May, accepted five resignations, hired three persons, and heard the next step for the high school heating system improvement.

On a request of Charles P. Henderson, band director, and a motion by Edward Cilli, the board approved the Lincoln High School varsity marching band's participation in the National Safety Patrol parade May 14 in the capital.

—:—

THE ONLY COST to the board will be for substitute teachers. The parade is sponsored by the American Automobile Association of the District of Columbiana. The trip will top off the 30th anniversary of the school band.

Midland's band will be one of five from Pennsylvania in the parade and the only one from the Pittsburgh area. It has about 125 members.

Band members will stay in Washington three days. The trip will cost about $4,500 and band projects underway and donations should raise about $5,500, Henderson said, in his letter to the board.

—:—

MEALS, LODGING, tours and necessary insurance will be planned. Projects of band members include selling soap and thermometers, washing cars and a scrap drive. Donations will include those of band members, organizations, and $1,000 from the Band Boosters Club in lieu of an annual banquet.

Miss Bernice Coffin, secretary to the board and Supt. Ralph H. Jewell, will be financial secretary for the trip.

Five letters of resignations were read and approved. Nick Satlan, janitor at 4th St. School, resigned effective Jan. 27 to accept a position with the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

George Ordich resigned as assistant junior high football coach effective since last season. He will remain as teacher.

Mrs. Anna Mary Kiliany resigned as administrative clerk, effective March 2, and Mrs. Ann P. Oakes, high school commercial teacher, effective Feb. 22.

—:—

MRS. MARY Gengarella, high school English teacher, resigned to be with her husband in the armed forces. She will remain until a substitute teacher can be obtained.

Mrs. Nancy Mullen was hired as a dental clerk, effective Jan. 27, at $180 a month. Theresa Ulizio was hired as administrative clerk, effective Feb. 16, at $220 a month. Richard Musone was hired as a substitute for the rest of the year at the regular starting salary to replace Mrs. Oakes.

Applications for the janitor job will be studied since several janitors wish to move to other buildings and the vacancy may then exist at the high school rather than at 4th St.

The board deferred action until further study on the next step of the Minneapolis - Honeywell Co. to place the high school heating system in efficient operation. The proposal, costing $6,266, will include new valves for 57 radiators, diaphragms for several larger type valves, removing and replacing 28 pneumatic damper motors in 28 classrooms, new outside fresh air pneumatic damper motors on the rear of the high school, and other minor repairs.

THE PRICE does not include labor for installing the 57 valves which will be done by Ray Conjeski, maintenance supervisor, and his assistant. The company will connect the air pressure lines to the valves.

Robert Gridley, company representative, reported that in the first step, started last November and costing $2,913, air pressure has been achieved to all thermostats except those in the gymnasium wing which will be included in the second step.

If the proposal is approved, work is expected to be started in the summer and the cost will be included in the new budget for the fiscal year after July 1.

The high school heating system equipment is over 30 years old and lack of air pressure for control at thermostats has caused overheating.

A low bid of $1,027.44 for lighting fixtures for three rooms of the high school was awarded to the General Electric Supply Co. of Pittsburgh on a motion by Cilli, property committee chairman.

THE BOARD APPROVED a request of the Midland Planning Commission for use of the high school auditorium Feb. 19 for a public meeting. The Unity Chapter of the Order of DeMolay was given permission to use the old gymnasium on Saturdays if properly supervised and janitorial expenses are paid. Magnet City Elks Lodge, was given permission to use the new gymnasium Feb. 25 at the regular fee to sponsor a wrestling match.

In connection with a fire safety program, Cilli recommended that Conjeski make a list of costs of hose repairs, that an estimate of needed extinguishers be obtained from Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri and that a new hydrant be authorized in former Woodland Ave. between the school buildings.

Jewell will write Council, asking that the hydrant be included in the present system maintained by the borough. The Municipal Authority will assume the cost of about $800 for the hydrant and the borough the cost of maintenance of $37.50 a year.

ATTY. ROBERT Masters, solicitor, will draw up legislation for the right-of-way. The property committee will help in the selection of the exact location.

Miss Coffin read the recent approval of the Department of Public Instruction concerning increased tuition rates which went into effect last September. They include $39.31 a month for elementary pupils and $46.65 for secondary. They are up from the $35.64 for elementary and $44.97 for secondary for the previous year.

The Midland Education Association requested that the board consider giving $400 additional salaries to all teachers including those who have reached the top salary level. The matter was referred to the finance committee for study and consideration in next year's budget.

Jewell was authorized to send the association a reply to its letter of Jan. 11 which contained several requests, including pay day every two weeks during the summer instead of once a month, improved parking place space and for the school doctor to sign illness excuses.

JEWELL WAS granted permission to attend the American Association of School Administrators convention Thursday through Feb. 18 in Atlantic City. He asked members to keep in mind the Tri - State School Board Association dinner March 31 at the new Hilton Hotel in Pittsburgh.

Bills totaling $10,298.54 were approved and cash receipts of $176.48 were voted to the proper account. Mrs. Eldamae Castelli, treasurer, reported a balance of $18,068.14 as of Jan. 31.

Rudolph Presutti, tax collector, reported $9,458.64 in taxes, including $446.86 in penalties, were deposited during January. Interim orders of Jewell, amounting to $3,500, were approved.

He said they included many items under the National Defense Education Act and the school will be reimbursed about 50 per cent of the cost. Books in the amount of $184.08 were approved for purchase.

Absent were Frank Aloi and James Morrison, who was ill.

Cost-Plus At $1,000 A Minute

The fact is that no one knows how to get rid of the farm problem; all discussion should start from there.

This problem could lick the Republican party in this year's national election, because resentment will be aimed at its presidential candidate and its nominees for the House of Representatives.

It is as though the government had continued to pay the auto industry to build cost-plus vehicles ever since World War II, with no buyers for millions of unwanted cars. This excess rolling stock now would be in warehouses, like surplus wheat, depressing the market for the 1960 output.

The United States would have autos running out of its ears, instead of 3½ billion dollars' worth of wheat that no one wants to buy costing the government $1,000 a minute. Tens of thousands of people in the Detroit area would be relying on government payments to keep their heads above water. Warehouse owners would be getting fat and sassy off this absurdly uneconomic use of their property.

EVERY POLITICIAN with votes involved —and there are more votes involved in autos than in wheat—would be currying favor by his bleeding-heart friendship for the automobile workers and their associates in the parts supplies industries.

Anyone who dared to complain that all this was costing the United States an unpretty penny and the whole thing had become nonsensical would be marched to the stocks and wet down with old crankcase oil, just as Agriculture Secretary Benson is abused whenever he suggests that cost-plus for wheat farmers should have been discontinued at the end of World War II.

Thiugh agricultural cost-plusing is not strictly a partisan issue, because many wheat-state representatives are Republican and many of these men and women believe their political survival depends on maintaining the status quo, it is being used successfully as a partisan issue by Democrats.

Hence, President Eisenhower's challenge to the Democratic party to come up with a better policy than the Benson policy, which is to wash out cost-plusing as quickly as possible and put wheat farmers back on their own responsibility.

THIS WILL NOT solve the farm problem. No one is going to solve the farm problem, because it is being caused in this country by wholesale displacement of the agricultural population. The government has tried to ease the blow by subsidizing agriculture, to the net effect of worsening the situation, instead of improving it.

When the Democratic party controlled the White House as well as Congress, it had no solution for the problem. Today it controls Congress and would like to recapture the White House. It is counting heavily on discontent among the farm population to keep it in control of Congress and to restore it to control of the White House.

President Eisenhower has asked to see its agricultural cure-all. He knows the Democrats are bluffing. The Democrats know they are bluffing. The game in 1960 is let voters in the wheat belt know the Democrats are bluffing.

A Deserving Appeal

The Upper Ohio Valley Development Council has begun a drive for additional funds in an effort to keep step with other organizations of its type which are competing for new industries in various parts of the nation.

The UOVDC has done a competent job for the six-county area it has been serving since being organized eight years ago. And by expanding, there is reason to believe that it can be of even greater value in helping the area retain its place in the industrial sun.

It can't stand still while others progress if it hopes to stay in the front ranks of the development parade. Therefore, the need for more money with which to further its program.

Competent men have aligned themselves with the council's work. The organization is in good hands and any finances invested in memberships will be used wisely.

Firms contacted should give the most serious consideration to the fund appeal of the UOVDC. It's another case where the long-range benefits could prove most fruitful. The development group should not be allowed to become stagnant because of lack of support.

The council represents Columbiana, Jefferson, Belmont and Harrison counties in Ohio and Hancock and Brooke counties in West Virginia.

Prof. O'Neill's Peephole On Politics

If the first was any indication, former Gov. C. William O'Neill's series of lectures at Bethany College will not be the run-of-the-mill type of dissertation on politics.

The one-time "wonder boy" of Ohio politics who suffered crushing defeat in 1958 after one term in the chief executive's office apparently meant it when he said he intends to instruct Bethany's student body on the "realities" of political life.

In the first of 18 weekly discussions, Mr. O'Neill made good on his pledge to "strip away the varnish" and get down to the bare wood that makes our politics and therefore our government what they are.

He testified to his sincerity by admitting that he had made some mistakes, too, which indicated that he has done some painful soul-searching during the year since he left the Statehouse. He hinted at, rather than listing in detail, what he considers his own errors to be, but that story is of recent enough vintage most people will have a pretty good idea of what he was talking about.

Beyond that, the politician-turned-professor suggested that he plans to provide a glimpse into the behind-the-scenes activity of politics which the public is seldom privileged to see. Not all politicians work in secret, of course, but enough of them do to make secrecy a problem in a democracy.

And that is what Mr. O'Neill apparently is concerned about. For it is not politics itself that is dirty, but some of the people who bring unsavory practices to the otherwise honorable profession of politics.

The fact that these people sometimes succeed, as Mr. O'Neill pointed out, is partly the fault of the apathetic voter who allows it to happen by abdicating his primary responsibility as a citizen to keep himself informed and make intelligent decisions at the polls.

For this reason, what Mr. O'Neill has to say will be important to the public if he continues to pursue the path he was following in his first lecture. For the "survival of the republic" may lie in the hands of the elected politicians, but the ultimate decision rests in the hands of the people who elect them.

The late Wendell Willkie said after his defeat in 1940 that a good deal of his platform speech-making was campaign hogwash. But seldom does a politician provide the public with a peephole on politics as it works on the inside.

If Mr. O'Neill does that, he will make a refreshing contribution to democratic understanding.

A Look Backward

February is being marked as "American History Month" in line with an idea of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Inspired by the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington, the observance is designed to recall the historical growth of our nation, its personalities and its vast social, industrial, economic and cultural changes over the years.

A closer look at local history is warranted, too. The district has played an important role in the development of America, from the days when the Ohio River was the main route to the West to the present when our towns and cities have become part of the vital industrial complex of the Ohio Valley.

"American History Month" is an appropriate time to again pay tribute to all of those who contributed in any way to the present. Our debt to the past should never be forgotten.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Will the feature of the Soviet auto to be sold in the U.S. be a rear light that will flash "NYET" when you toot your horn for it to move over? American buyers will want "NO LEFT TURN" signs in the car as well as on the roads. The "Moskvich" has no glamor but these "extras" are possible:

1. Windshield wiper in rear window instead of front, just to be arbitrary.

2. Direction light that will point in opposite direction from which the driver is about to turn. (Purely for purposes of exaspration.)

3. A record, turned on by push-button, that will cry "This is coexistence" when ramming car ahead.

4. The trunk so roomy it will hold a year's supply of vetoes for traffic signs.

We hear the car will use gas, with vodka optional. Exact styling details are lacking. But the model will, of course, have typical Russian "hardtop and "stern front."

It was to have five speeds but the top one was abandoned in order that anybody may "take the Fifth" in motion.

We haven't heard of "Moskvich" special models but assume care will be obtainable in "the Ultimatum de Luxe," the "Karl Marx Sports Car" the "Excoriator Special" and the "Volga Squabble Kar." In Russia it takes two years to get delivery. (In America it may take that long to get an order.)

The best sales argument when customer asks, "How do I know a Russian car will suit me? will be, "If the Soviet rocket can make the moon trip, you will get a bargain if the auto goes only half the distance."

Some street-corner opinions: Oscar Wiltty, Bronx: I think the Soviet car may go big with people who don't care what their neighbors say. Jarvis Steukle, Manhattan: I'm worried not only whether Khrushchev will send spare parts on time but whether he will even send spare alibis.

Poultney Swinkle, Staten Island: One thing worries me. Will the Soviet car extras include sheepskin hats, Bolshoi boots and a coexistence flag for use when knocking the Free World drivers off the road?

Students at Amherst are reported welcoming Dr. Calvin Plimpton, surgeon, as new dean in belief he won't be against "cuts."

One of the last of the old-time New England waterfront hotels, the Sheldon House, at Pine Orchard, Conn., overlooking the Thimble Islands, is no more. It had wide fame and was well known to actors and actresses on the summer "straw hat circuit." It was a delightful place and will be replaced by residential project.

The most common American surname appearing on the U. S. Social Security list is Smith, there being nearly 1,400,000 people of this name. The name of Johnson is next, with slightly more than 1,100,000.

Labor War Hits Restaurants, Hotels

By Victor Riesel

From Hollywood's posh Romanoff's to the greasiest dirty-spoon eatery in Manhattan's skyscraper basements, operators of the 21-billion dollar a year hotel and restaurant field are silently watching, fascinated, a civil war rip through labor in their industry.

Victor Riesel

From out of the West has come a Hotel and Restaurant Union leader charging that the "Chicago mobs" want to take control of the vast national business by first seizing the 480,000-member union. He is John Cooper, head of the Los Angeles Joint Executive Board of the Hotel and Restaurant Workers Union.

Cooper and his colleagues are among the few labor chiefs who have endorsed the Landrum-Griffin Act, saying it will not hurt any honest union.

John Cooper appears to be a man of considerable courage.

THE OTHER DAY IN Miami Beach, standing practically alongside the Chicago union official he was accusing, Cooper told the national union's general executive board that "Chicago racketeers are attempting to wrest control of the international union . . . We will not stand for such people as James Blakely of Chicago taking over the international unions."

Blakely, an international vice president, sat as stoically as a movie heavy, making no reply. He has been a power in the Chicago Joint Council, a unit of 11 locals.

At one moment recently there were 50 officials with police records in that group.

Blakely was subpoenaed by the McClellan committee but never testified. He reported that he had developed a heart condition. The Florida board meeting, which generally precedes the mid-winter meeting there of the AFL-CIO executive council, was the first Blakely has attended since disclosing his coronary ailment. Cooper, in his attack, pointed out that the McClellan committee went out of existence in January.

Then Cooper turned his fight into a national issue.

On the morning of Saturday, Jan. 30, he dispatched a three-page, single-spaced letter to AFL-CIO President George Meany. Cooper asked that he be permitted to appear before the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee when it meets during the council session in Bal Harbour, just a few motels and $10-steak houses north of Miami Beach.

The national AFL-CIO position now is that their own Ethical Practices Committee has been virtually put out of business by the Landrum-Griffin law.

They believe that the war on the muscle man now should come from Jim Mitchell's Labor Department, enforcement division. This has more investigatory power than any other government agency. Just look at the law.

BUT COOPER IS READY to barnstorm nationally for his day in labor's own court. He will point out that Blakely still is a vice president of one of the AFL-CIO's big 10 unions although his Chicago Local 592, hotel and apartment employes and miscellaneous restaurant workers union, has been milked of large sums.

The Senate record shows that during one restaurant strike — which ran two years — some $10,000 was paid by the union treasury for two ghost pickets. They never-existed. Yet the union paid $27 a day for their "services" for 14 months.

During the McClellan committee hearings the Sentors heard testimony from the owner of one of Chicago's finest eating places. He revealed that every restaurant owner in that city lies in fear of the underworld.

This was taken mighty seriously — since the U.S. Department of Commerce tells me that the Illinois hotel and restaurant industry is a two-and-a-half billion dollar industry. The vast part of it is in Chicago and suburbs.

Cooper and his Los Angeles colleagues want action from the AFL-CIO council soon, they say, because the national union's old crusading secretary - treasurer, 78-year-old Jack Weinberger, retires on April 1. Union national president Ed Miller, of whom the insurgents have little criticism, has been seriously ill. The union's high command meets in Cincinnati next April to fill whatever vacancies exist.

Until then it will be a sizzling restaurant industry.

A State Of Confusion

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

If you think the Washington confusion over defense is exaggerated, read this.

Last week Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, said "I support the President's budget" which asked Congress for less money than the Navy thought was needed for Polaris missile-firing submarines.

But this week Burke said he would ask for a billion-dollar boost in the budget to provide more of the submarines faster. But then he crossed thinking with Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Burke is a member of the joint chiefs but Twining opposed the admiral's idea of wanting more money for the Polaris sub.

On Monday Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, Army chief of staff and a member of the joint chiefs with Burke, said this country's ability to airlift troops and equipment to deal with any emergency is woefully inadequate.

But Twining brushed aside Lemnitzer's concern for the airlift.

Last week Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, who retired as Army chief of staff last summer, questioned this country's ability to fight a limited war. But his successor, Lemnitzer, said "There is no doubt we could do a very good job."

While President Eisenhower's budget for military spending came to 41 billion dollars—with $9,806,000,000 set aside for the Army—Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker told Congress this week the Army should have $10,320,000,000.

Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commander, said he didn't believe the 170,000-man Marine force provided for in Eisenhower's budget is enough.

Eisenhower says he probably knows more about defense needs than anyone.

Last week Gen. Thomas S. Power, boss of this country's long-range bombers, asked for money to keep his planes aloft 24 hours a day, to avoid having them smashed on the ground if the Soviets attack.

But Twining said the important thing is to be able to start such an alert if and when needed. Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., said the same thing.

Twining disagreed also with Taylor who said this country relies too much on weapons of massive rtaliaetion and not nough on weapons to fight brush-fire wars.

Eisenhower stressed how much he relies on the advice of his top military advisers — the top ones are on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. His budget called for drastically cutting back production of the 2,000-mile-an-hour long - range bomber, B70.

But Twining disagreed on this. He told Congress he didn't favor the drastic cutback.

Power told Congress he figured with 300 missiles the Soviet Union could knock us flat. Eisenhower scofffed at this idea and Gates said Power was "unrealistic."

And, oddest of all, since Power was jumped on so fast by his superiors, Twining said Power's speech had been cleared by his Pentagon superiors before he made it.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO— A total of 3,972 inspections were made by sanitary department employes during 1929.

The Rev. R. K. Caulk of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church was elected president of Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — About $1,427 was realized from the annual magazine sale at East Liverpool High School, with top honors going to junior home room 206.

Presbyterian and Methodist pastors conducted religious service for two East Liverpool Jewish congregations during Brotherhood Week.

Ministers and laymen of 40 congregations of the district estimated attendance for the second annual "Go to Church" campaign reached 12,000.

TEN YEARS AGO — Joseph Barrett of East Liverpool was certified as a basketball official following completion of a training course at Mt. Union College in Alliance.

An East End home was damaged badly by a fire started from a cigarette.

Raymond J. Parker was elected senior warden of the St. Stephen's Episcopal Church vestry.

Odd Facts

Jai-alai, a sport which originated in Spain and now is popular in Cuba, Mexico, and Florida, is conceded by many to the world's "most punishing sport." It is extremely demanding in speed and stamina.

Mary Ann Evans, who used the pen-name of George Eliot, was the most distinguished of English women novelists.

Full name of symphonic orchestra conductor Leopold Stokowski is Leopold Antoni Stanislaw Boleslawowicz Stokowski.

An Untouchable Issue

By David Lawrence

Question Is Raised About So-Called 'Strikers' Law'

It happened in Sen. Kennedy's home state of Massachusetts but it's an issue that neither he nor any other aspirant for the presidency apparently will care to touch.

David Lawrence

It has to do with something just as important as the civil rights question in the South, about which so much righteous indignation is being expressed by the various seekers after the presidential nomination.

Indeed, not a word has come from any of the so-called liberals in protest against what "The Boston Herald" described in two editorials last week—the unlawful use of physical force by labor unions on the picket line.

The second editorial by "The Boston Herald" reads in part as follows:

"We said last Friday that brute force picketing was going on in the Fore River shipyard strike and that this was one field of human conflict in which civilized society still sanctions physical violence."

THE EDITORIAL then went on to quote the police chief of Quincy as follows:

"The Quincy police tried on five occasions to break through the picket line. We were successful in breaking the picket line on our first attempt. From there on the union managed to keep a sufficient number of pickets in line so that the police were unsuccessful in the four succeeding attempts."

"The Herald" asked why the police chief didn't enforce the law and quotes his reply:

"Because there wouldn't be sufficient numbers of Quincy police and state police to maintain law and order and the streets of Quincy needlessly would be drenched with blood which would cause us to hang our heads in shame for the rest of our lives."

Then "The Herald" makes this comment:

"This is saying exactly what we were trying to say. Society has so generally condoned the use of force by pickets that the police often find it impracticable to apply the law as they would apply it against any other riotous assembly. Political sympathy and often popular sympathy are instinctively with the strikers, so by general consent the civil law is not enforced. A sort of strikers' law prevails."

With just a few slight changes in location and in the circumstances of the controversy, the above could have been said about the case of Mack Charles Parker in Mississippi, who wasn't disturbed for several weeks while held in jail for grand jury action and trial on the charge of raping a white woman.

Then came the announcement of his attorneys that they would seek the same relief as the Supreme Court had afforded in a similar case, in which, because no Negro was on the jury panel, a convicted rapist had been given stays of execution and new trials over a period of years.

Popular indignation resulted in the lynching and the local authorities stood by without punishing the guilty.

POPULAR FEELING is no justification for any lynching or any breaking down of the laws on picketing but it would advance the cause of law enforcement everywhere if the local police in certain cities in the North were also universally condemned for their laxity in enforcing the law. "The Boston Herald" states the issue clearly as follows.

"Why can't 250 supervisory personnel get into the plant to maintain costly machinery?

"Why can't estimators needed to prepare bids for shipbuilding contracts have access to essential files?

"Why can't 600 naval architects, technicians and engineers working on research, development, design and testing for all Bethlehem yards get to the central technical department?

"Why, in short, can't management have the services of all employes willing to cross any picket line they can cross without meeting physical, resistance?

"Is it not because, in this domain, society has come to approve the use of physical force?"

There were several instances recently in the nationwide steel strike when supervisory and maintenance employes either were kept out of various plants or were allowed access only by special permission of the union even though these employes were not members of the union.

It will be argued that all this is a matter for the states. So are lynchings and so is the right to fix the qualifications of voters but unless the champions of the current "civil rights" crusade are willing to find a remedy also for the violation of civil rights by union picket lines, it will appear to the public as a whole that the "civil rights" issue is nothing more than a vote-getting device for politicians.

If there were real sincerity behind it, the pending legislation would deal comprehensively, too, with the loss of civil rights due to labor-union behavior on the picket line.

Purely Personal

I am always astonished when a big - shot syndicated columnist crashes through with a boo-boo that our English composition teacher beat out of us in high school—the word "fulsome" as a substitute for "full." "Fulsome" means "offensive, disgusting; esp., offensively excessive or insincere."

Everything about Groundhog Day is ridiculous, but the occasion serves one worthwhile purpose. It gives people something to talk about at a time of the year when the chief enemy of mankind is meteorological boredom, an affliction with no official status that has driven human beings insane.

I agree with the idea that New York City has reached the point where its never-ending appeals for more federal aid should be looked at critically. It is debatable whether tax money should be poured into a city that is simply too large to provide decent living conditions and is providing a preview of what life everywhere would be like without population restraint.

The most intriguing aspect of violence in Algiers was the removal of the paving blocks to form street barricades, and I keep wondering who pays to have the blocks put back where they belong — the people who took them up or the government.

Now that I have fixed up the fanciest accommodations I ever had for taking care of lambs born in cold weather — an enclosure with infra-red lamps for drying the new arrivals while keeping them out of drafts — it's almost a sure thing the 1960 lamb crop will arrive when I am away at work and no one will be on hand to turn on the lamps.

I am inclined to brood, as I think newspaper people are, about the possibility the biggest story imaginable would happen under circumstances that would make it impossible for anyone to tell it. Like the collision of the earth with another planet, or a hydrogen explosion triggered by a bomb of the same name.

I find one of the most cheerful colors to be gray, which seems to be a contradiction in terms.

Some day I intend to design a rig for trimming shrubbery that will revolutionize this routine chore. It will be a tripod holding a chain hoist and a seat, so the pruner can hoist himself into working position over the top of the bush to be pruned.

The strongest and grimmest case of circumstantial evidence I want to run into for a long time was the dead body of a cat that had been missing from our menage for some three months, with an empty cat-food can lying nearby. The cat had found the can in the tin-can dump, jammed its head into the can to lick the sides and starved to death, or perhaps suffocated.

For the first time in years it is beginning to look as if I would get through an entire basketball season without letting my blood pressure shoot sky-high once over the annoyance of the over-officiating that I think has ruined basketball. I have not seen a basketball game this season.

This may be one of the things everybody else knows, but I have just found out why we call that pesky disease "influenza." The name was coined by Italians in the 17th century and means "influence of the stars," which was what they thought caused the disease.

Gems Of Thought

THOUGHT AND ACTION

Thought is the seed of action; but action is as much its second form as thought is its first.

—Ralph Waldo Emerson

Nurture your mind with great thoughts; to believe in the heroic makes heroes.

—Benjamin Disraeli

Be temperate in thought, word, and deed.

—Mary Baker Eddy

Motives and purposes are in the brain and heart of man. Consequences are in the world of fact.

—William Graham Sumner

I have never heard anything about the resolutions of the apostles, but a great deal about their acts.

—Horace Mann

The greatest events of an age are its best thoughts. It is the nature of thought to find its way into action.
